CRITICALLY HURT

Survivor Tells of Heart-

Pinned Fiancee; All Were in Skating Group.

SALEM, Ill., March 24.—(AP)—
A tire blowout hurled a private bus against a concrete bridge abutment and turned it into a blazing wreck in which 18 persons, including a 4-year-old girl, were killed today.

Only five persons survived one of the worst disasters in the history of motor bus transportation, and two of them were so seriously injured they may die.

The bus, loaded with a professional roller-skating troupe, enroute from St. Louis to Cincinnati, Ohio, was going down a slight grade when its right front tire blew out about 50 feet from the bridge on United States Highway No. 50, two miles west of here.

The heavy machine careened crazily, dug into the soft shoulder of the highway and rammed into the bridge abutment with terrific force.

Hurled on its side, the bus burst into flames when its gasoline tank was smashed.

Appears to Explode.
The survivors said the bus appeared to explode and then there was fire all over and all were caught in it," reported Dr. H. L. Logan, of the Salem Community hospital, where the injured were taken.

"I can still hear my pals' screams of terror," Don Flannery, of Kansas City, a professional roller-skater, said.
"They were trapped in a regular mass of fire. The boys as well as the girls were hysterical and all fought like mad to get out."

Flannery managed to crawl out of a window of the bus but he suffered first-degree burns when he attempted to rescue Miss Ruth Hill, of Kansas City, his fiancée.

Fails To Save Fiancee.
At the hospital, attendants quoted him as saying:
"She called to me twice. I finally found her. I tried to pull her out, but she was pinned and I couldn't move her."

The attendants reported he wept as he asked, "I did the best I could for her, didn't I?"

Dick Thomas, of Chicago, the driver, his bride, Mrs. Emily Thomas, also of Chicago; John L. (Schoolboy) Creekmore, Miami, Fla., and Ted Millen, Portland, Ore., also escaped from the flaming bus.

Dr. Logan said Mrs. Thomas and Mullen had slight chances to live.

Flames 40 Feet High.
The flames mounted 40 feet in the air. The bus smoldered for more than an hour after the accident.

Thirteen bodies taken from its hot, twisted wreckage were sent to the Mc-Mackin Funeral Home at Salem. Five others were taken to the Lister-Berry mortuary at near-by Patoka, Ill.

Omar McKelvin, mayor of Salem and owner of the undertaking establishment, said the bodies were "burnt beyond recognition."

Smoldering Ruins of Bus in Which Eighteen Perished

The smoldering ruins of the private bus which crashed into a concrete bridge abutment near Salem, Ill., yesterday are shown as a rescuer poked through the still searing-hot metal for bodies. Eighteen were recovered, some burned so badly that identification will be possible only through study of the dental work. This is one of the worst highway tragedies in the history of the United States.

Italian Resentment Over Spanish Charges May Lead to Renewed Aid.

By the Associated Press.
Renewed charges against Italy has continued aid to Spanish insurgents yesterday clouded the path of Europe's 27-nation neutrality committee which made ready to try a patrol of Spanish waters after more than six months of political maneuvering.

The committee last night completed the last detail of its patrol scheme, designed to keep foreign men and arms from Spain, and told Administrator-Admiral M. H. Van Dulme to set the date for beginning his task.

Sixteen key administrators were appointed to act as border and sea supervisors.

Fear New Assistance.
But the old charges against Italy were raised again, and some feared that Italian resentment might lead Premier Mussolini to renew aid to the insurgents—despite the committee ban on foreign volunteers which became effective February 20.

The latest allegations came from France and Russia. Despite Italian assurance that Italy has kept within the volunteer ban since February 20 and that only medical units have gone to Spain since that date, Russian Amand immediate action must be taken to straighten these matters out," the superintendent's order said.

BLUSTERING GALES SWEEP 11 STATES

Alabama Tornado Kills
2; Wind Wrecks Houses in Kentucky; Many Hurt

By the Associated Press.
A blustering gale swept snow, hail, rain, sleet and dust across 11 states yesterday.

A tornado killed two persons in Alabama while a blizzard borne on winds that attained a velocity of 50 miles an hour spread damage through the Midwest.

Near Pine Bluff, Ark., several frame tenant houses were unroofed and light service in near-by towns disrupted as a windstorm swept the Tennessee community. Several negroes were slightly injured.

Panama City, Fla., felt another windstorm, which demolished one house, moved several others from their foundations and destroyed a number of garages. No injuries were reported.

30 Reported Injured.
Many persons were injured and several homes destroyed in Kentucky. A tornado swept the outskirts of Winchester, Ky., hurting at least 30 persons, five seriously, and demolishing 12 to 15 homes. Several other buildings were destroyed and about a score of others damaged at Victory, Ky.

No persons were hurt there.

Four days after the astronomical advent of spring, heavy snow balleted traffic, snapped communication lines and isolated communities behind drifts that ranged up to six feet in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Wire facilities were disrupted over-virtually all of South Dakota in what telephone officials termed the worst storm in more than a decade. One firm reported 1,300 poles down. Six-foot drifts took form at Watertown, Huron, Aberdeen, Pierre and Mitchell were cut off. A 10-inch fall blocked road at Rapid City. Fifty-mile-an-hour gusts eased off to better 30 and 40 in the Sioux Falls area.

A record snowfall of 14 3/4 inches was recorded at Oakes, N. D. Highways near Bismarck were blocked.

Travel was paralyzed and telephone lines were toppled in parts of Minnesota.

PRESIDENT LAUDS

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March
24.—(AP)—White House officials announced tonight President Roosevelt had called Governor Frank Murphy, of Michigan, and congratulated him on news that the Chrysler sit-down strikers were to evacuate eight plants in Detroit.

Immediately prior to the announcement, the chief executive told by telephone with Secretary Perkins in Washington.

P. Chrysler, chairman of the corporation's board, and Lewis and other representatives of each side.

Governor Murphy said the labor leader agreed to have the strikers evacuate "probably before morning" and that instructions to that effect were being sent to union officials.

The agreement provided that the conference in the Governor's office

ROOSEVELT, AIDES TO WEIGH STRIKES

Conferences With Congressional Leaders Is Planned at Washington.

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., March 24.
(AP)—President Roosevelt let it be known through a secretary today that he planned to confer on the sit-down strike situation this week and with congressional leaders in Washington.

Temporary White House officials would not elaborate on the announcement, especially when questioned if the possibility of federal action under existing powers. One recent caller on the President in Washington, Harper Sibley, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, quoted Lee, as furnished by the Postoffice Department with demands for explanations of why the new stamp shows
Lee in the uniform of an ordinary lieutenant colonel, instead of in a general's.

The Postoffice Department said
nobody must have made a mistake
at the Bureau of Engraving. "Mistake, indeed," retorted Engraving Director Alvin W. Hall. "We made that stamp from a photograph of General
Lee, as furnished by the Postoffice
Department."

The new stamp, done in Confederate
gray and selling for four cents, shows
General Lee in a uniform with two stars on his collar. The Smithsonian Institution said that this pair of stars
denotes a Confederate lieutenant colonel—and that there should have been three stars to signify that Lee was a general.

This mistake, if mistake it was, is particularly deplorable, because the Lee stamp was issued as a sort of
he-pardon gesture to southerners,
who had been enraged a month before by another postage stamp, a three-

Woman's Club Auditorium Packed for Garden School

Mrs. Crown Will Lecture on Annuals This Morning at Closing Session of Constitution's Spring Classes; Color Film and Style Show Features Today.

By MARY HARRIS ROWSEY.

If proof were needed of the far-reaching appeal and success of The Constitution's spring garden school, it was provided yesterday by the hundreds of garden-minded persons attending the second-day session despite the inclement weather. Rain was no hazard and the auditorium of the Atlanta Woman's Club was so packed a number of enthusiasts found standing room only.

A large portion of the audience consisted of men, one from as far away as Cleveland, Ohio. Large delegations of women from West Point, Covington and Lithonia were present and one announced she was from Connecticut. A large package of seeds was presented the visitor from Covington, however, as the person having come the farthest distance especially to attend the school.

Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, the school's capable director, was introduced by Mrs. Green Dodd Warren.

General chairman of the Atlanta Flower Show to be held May 12-13 and a past president of the Piedmont Garden Club.

"The real test of these schools," stated Mrs. Warren, "is the appeal they have for amateurs as well as the experienced gardener." Attesting this was the presence of the entire membership of the Azalea Junior Garden Club, the members ranging from 8 to 12 years old, all displaying as much interest in the lecture as their elders.

"Mrs. Crown needs no introduction," said Mrs. Warren, "she is so well known to all of us, and all of us will always be grateful for the marvelous work she does through these schools for the garden enthusiasts of our community."

Today's session will be featured by Mrs. Crown's talk on annuals and the past play in the perennial border, continuing Wednesday's lecture, which dealt with "Designing the Per-

SENATE PASSES STATE FUND BILL

$20,000,000 Appropriations Measure Hiked $54,- 800 Over House Total.

The Georgia senate last night steered the house $20,000,000 appropriations bill to passage through a maze of amendments with an increase of $54,800 over the house bill's total by a vote of 30 to 10.

Immediately after passage of the bill Governor E. D. Rivers entered the senate chamber amid applause.

He took a seat on the president's stand.

Chairman W. H. Key, of the house appropriations committee, made a short speech. He apologized for the delay of the house in getting the appropriations bill to the senate so late in the night. He said it acted as rapidly as possible under the circumstances as the tax bills to raise the revenue were passed.

Passage of the appropriations bill cleared the senate calendar of all major bills. New Deal financial measures with the exception of three tax bills sent over by the house last night which Rivers estimated would raise a total of one million dollars a year. They provide for taxes on stock transfers, commodity futures, contract and automobile finance companies.

Senate secretaries said the bill would be dispatched to the house during the night where it was possible for a vote of concurrence to be taken.

Shortly after the senate adopted the appropriations measure the financial committee reported favorably the stock transfer and commodities futures contract taxes but killed by an adverse report the tax on automobile finance corporations.

Chairman Ennis, of the finance committee, estimated the two taxes reported favorably would raise a "minimum of $500,000 together."

Items added by the senate to the house appropriation bill would raise the house figure $54,800 a year to a total of $20,054,800.

Forrest Ewing Held By Police in Detroit

Forrest Ewing, notorious escapee from Georgia county chain gang, was ture were not disclosed.

Ewing, termed by police here the state's public enemy No. 1, escaped from the Spalding county chain gang October 11, 1936. The message from

Lee Stamp Peace Offering to Dixie Demotes Hero to Lieutenant Colonel

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(UP)
Postmaster General James A. Farley found himself in the hottest philatelic hot water of his career tonight—with a postage stamp the experts claimed insulted General Robert E. Lee.

Stamp collectors, southerners in particular, besieged the Postoffice Department with demands for explanations of why the new stamp shows
Lee in the uniform of an ordinary lieutenant colonel, instead of in a general's.

The Postoffice Department said
nobody must have made a mistake
at the Bureau of Engraving. "Mistake, indeed," retorted Engraving Director Alvin W. Hall. "We made that stamp from a photograph of General
Department."

The new stamp, done in Confederate
gray and selling for four cents, shows
General Lee in a uniform with two stars on his collar. The Smithsonian Institution said that this pair of stars
denotes a Confederate lieutenant col-
three stars to signify that Lee was
a general.

This mistake, if mistake it was, is particularly deplorable, because the Lee stamp was issued as a sort of
he-pardon gesture to southerners,
who had been enraged a month before

William T. Sherman, the northern general who conducted the celebrated march through Georgia.

Every time a shipment of these Sherman stamps arrived at a southern postoffice, it made the customers mad, so serious was the faux pas considered, in fact, that the legislatures of Georgia and South Carolina both received resolutions condemning the Postoffice Department for insulting the south.

The Postoffice Department barricaded itself in the marble headquarters here and said it guessed the southerners would be appeased when the Lee stamp was issued. That's where they made a serious mistake.

The lack of that extra star on the collar of the general, an omission so slight that it can hardly be noticed without the aid of a magnifying glass, brought protests by mail and in person to headquarters—and the stamp was issued only yesterday!

When stamp collectors find these two stars, without any sign even of the third star which ought to surround three of them, no telling what will happen.

The department passed out word it did not intend to recall the Lee issue.
That means the stamps will be worth four cents, all right, but no more, mistake or not.

HOUSE AND SENATE AGREE TO REPORT FROM CONFEREES

Measure Provides for Vote by People Upon Issue on June 8; Passage Leaves Way Clear for Final Day's Work.

RIVERS WILL SIGN
MEASURE FOR VOTE

Georgia's prohibition repeal proposal last night was being rushed to Governor Rivers for his signature following acceptance by both houses of a conference committee report ironing out differences between the house and senate over the details of the measure.

Governor Rivers has announced he will sign the bill which provides for a referendum on legalization of liquor, the referendum to be held on June 8 when the state votes on a number of constitutional amendments which are being submitted by the current session of the general assembly.

With the repeal bill out of the way the house and senate waded into stacks of bills remaining on their calendars, leaders giving new assurances the calendars would be cleared by midnight tonight, the hour of sine die adjournment of the 60-day biennial session.

The house is working feverishly on a number of important senate bills while the senate is taking up the remaining house measures on its calendar. After agreeing to the conference committee report on the liquor bill the senate took up the $40,000,000 biennial appropriations act, reading it section by section.

Decide To Be Clear.
Speaker Roy Harris said he felt certain all Rivers' measures would be acted on by the house before midnight tonight and Senate President John B. Spivey gave the same assurance on behalf of his body.

Two important tax measures were with conference committees. They were the chain store tax and the bus and truck tax bill. Conferees said they felt certain of agreement.

The house adopted the conference committee report on the repeal bill without debate but there was considerable discussion in the senate over the report. It was adopted, however, by a vote of 27 to 20.

Salient features of the conference report were:

First, a tax on whisky at 80 cents a gallon, as provided in the original house approved bill.

No liquor store can be less than 100 yards from a church or school.
The senate had voted to keep the stores 200 yards distant.

Advertising Ban Lifted.
Permitting unlimited advertising of liquor and the liquor stores. The move-to ban advertising had been voted down in the house but had been approved by the senate. The conferees eliminated the ban.

Conferees on the part of the senate were Senators Atkinson, of Savannah, Pope, of Cairo, and Lindsay, of Atlanta. Representing the house were Representatives Grayson, of Chatter-box, Carmichael, of Cobb county, and Brewster, of Evans county.

Other highlights of yesterday's session included:

Passage of the senate of a house bill increasing state income taxes, but reducing levies on incomes in high income brackets.

Decision of the house to drop contempt charges against Representative

Solon Wins Sit-Down In Missouri Assembly

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 24.—(AP)—Promised fulfillment of his dreams, Dr. J. A. Gray abandoned the tonight his 32-hour break-and-butter sit-down on a hard wooden bench in Missouri's capitol and eagerly gulped steak and onions.

Dr. J. G. Christy, Democratic speaker of the house, promised the 54-year-old Republican legislator-physician he would be given a list of legislative employers for which he struck yesterday morning.

Dr. Christy made this personal appeal to his colleague:
"I don't want you to spend another night on that hard bench. I'll promise that you'll be given the list tomorrow morning."

In a resolution submitted to the house yesterday, Dr. Gray charged that more than the constitutional limit of 150 persons were being employed by the legislature. He demanded the list to check.

This morning, Governor Lloyd C.
Stark had sent Gray a letter authorizing him to obtain the list.

SEWER CONTROVERSY OF CITY AND COUNTY STILL NOT SETTLED

Deadlock Unbroken as Fulton Commissioners Frown on Two Suggested Plans.

Alternative plans suggested by the city yesterday to solve the year-old city-county sewer controversy, last night were termed "entirely out of proportion" by the Fulton commissioners.

These proposals, which call on the county to share a minimum maintenance cost of approximately $71,000 yearly, will probably be discussed at a meeting of the county commission sometime today.

The city committee refused the county's offer to maintain all sewers outside the city limits and share costs of maintenance of disposal plants on a pro-rata basis.

Plans Suggested.
Two alternative plans were suggested by the city. First, the county will accept a flat share of 14 per cent of the $805,000 yearly cost of maintaining the system. This is based on figures showing that 14 per cent of the sewage handled originates outside the city limits, and would cost the county approximately $84,000 per year.

This plan was submitted to a joint city-county conference recently and was flatly refused by the commissioners. Thereupon they ordered Commissioner George F. Longino to negotiate a plan that would make the county's share approximately $25,000 per month. It was this plan that was refused yesterday by the city.

Second Plan.
The second plan offered by the city yesterday provides the county pay one-half the cost of repairs on sewers used jointly by city and county; the county would pay the full cost of repairs on sewers used by county residents alone; all engineering construction and inspection of sewers would be under the direction of the city and the county should pay one-half the costs; the cost of operating and maintaining each disposal plant would be divided equally between the city and county, and all costs of transportation for engineers and supervisors would be jointly shared.

The plan further provides the city would furnish labor and materials and would receive $7.50 from the property owner for the installation of each six-inch connection. This proposal, if accepted, will cost the county an estimated $76,000 annually.

The proposals were submitted by City Attorney Jack Savage, City Construction Engineer Clark Donaldson and William A. Hansell, city engineer, in charge of sewers.

Simple Return of Money.
"It should be borne in mind that in the event Fulton county paid the maximum sum suggested of $84,819.28," the report reads, "that less than $13,000 of this sum would be paid by residents of Fulton county who reside beyond the limits of the city. The remaining $71,000 would simply be a return to the city treasury of money which its taxpayers pay into the treasury of Fulton county, since 85 per cent of all taxes paid into Fulton county are paid by Atlanta citizens."

County commissioners said last night they had not yet received copies of the city committee's report to the sewer committee of council and were not prepared to comment officially on the action taken. It was intimated the county was not prepared to exceed the previous offer of contributions up to approximately $25,000.

The commissioners have announced they will withdraw from the project if the city does not meet them on a fair basis.

T. B. BAIRD WILL HEAD NEW WELFARE BOARD

tion; Robert Strickland, president of the Trust Company of Georgia, and Walter C. Hendrix, lawyer and former county commissioner, will comprise the new five-man relief board, it was said.

Meeting Today.
Fulton county commissioners have scheduled a meeting for today to formally submit this list of board members to the Governor and Lamar Murdaugh, state welfare department director, for confirmation.

Bridges' agreement to consent to Alderman Robert Carpenter's withdrawal of his notice of reconsideration in the aldermanic board, which action had held up release of the city's money

Camera-Shy Lindy Snapped at Bombay

Under the sun helmet is Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, difficult to capture with the camera these days, pictured by an alert Indian cameraman, as he refueled his plane at the Bombay airport recently during his visit to India. He and Mrs. Lindbergh left for Iran yesterday.

An exclusive shot of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who, with Mrs. Lindbergh, has been flying about India, pictured refueling his Miles Mohawk plane at the Bombay airport recently. His visit to India has created a sensation, but the colonel has had little to say to newspapermen and has been dodging the cameramen.

for emergency relief and almost caused a serious riot at relief headquarters Monday, allows Mayor Hartsfield to approve the appropriation at once without waiting for the regular meeting of city council April 5. Bridges said he would sign to release the money today.

The new five-man welfare board will have jurisdiction in the administration of social security benefits in Fulton county as well as of relief to unemployed who do not come under these classifications. Formal announcement of the board's personnel will be made within a short time, it was said.

In the meantime, affairs at the Fulton department of public welfare at 160 Pryor street, S. E., remained critical, pending receipt of the city money.

Cash on hand at the department had dwindled to a very small amount, Director Frank Miller asserted, but the same drastically curtailed relief was being given to the most extreme cases.

Chairman Baird yesterday asked landlords to be as lenient as possible with relief tenants and not to evict them for a few days at least. Release of the city money will relieve the situation somewhat, since rents for unemployed will be paid for March from that sum.

Mayor Hartsfield said yesterday he hopes to be able to release the city appropriation within the next day or so, because hundreds of those on the relief rolls are suffering extremely.

Bridges was the only alderman last night who had not signed formal consent for Carpenter to withdraw his notice of reconsideration, but declared he will sign. Unanimous consent for withdrawal is necessary before the paper can go to Hartsfield for approval.

SHIP FLASHES SOS.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 24.—(AP) Globe Wireless reported its Manila station intercepted an SOS today from the steamship Chong, asking near-by ships to rush assistance. Globe reported the Chong, about 600 miles northeast of Manila, lost its rudder in a heavy sea.

ALUMNI WILL MEET.

SAVANNAH, Ga., March 24.—(AP) A luncheon of University of Georgia alumni from all over the state will be held in Savannah April 16, during the annual convention of the Georgia Education Association and affiliated bodies, it was learned here today.

LEWIS TO EVACUATE CHRYSLER STRIKERS

Atlanta time) tomorrow if the plants have been vacated by then.

Center on Bargaining.
The Governor said collective bargaining will be the principal topic before the conferees at their next meeting.

It was the corporation's refusal to grant the U. A. W. A. sole bargaining rights that prompted the union to call the strike March 8. Since then 6,000 sit-downs have held the Detroit plants, leaving 60,000 Chrysler employees idle.

"Mr. Lewis has agreed with the suggestion that the plants should be evacuated before the conference continues," the Governor announced to newspapermen. "That probably will take place before morning."

The Governor said he had a promise that the company would make no effort to resume operations and would remove no dies or tools from the plants during the negotiations.

"There is no reason," he said, "why the men should not be withdrawn."

Officials Gain Access.
Under the arrangement reached at today's conference, company officials and office employees will have free access to all Chrysler plants.

Lewis said representatives of his Committee for Industrial Organization and of the affiliated U. A. W. would return at once to Detroit to urge the strikers to evacuate. He said he had no reason to believe they would refuse to comply.

Lewis and Chrysler will remain in Lansing overnight to participate in the resumption of negotiations.

Strikers to Vote.
As in previous sit-downs called by the U. A. W. A., the union planned to submit the question of evacuating the plants to the strikers in them. Both Lewis and Martin indicated the union leaders would insist that the men vacate so that the conference could proceed.

Chrysler, before coming to Lansing, said the strikers would have to leave the factories before the labor dispute would be settled. He apparently said firm on this point and the C. I. O. U. A. W. A. leaders agreed to comply.

Accompanying Martin on the trip to Detroit to talk with the strikers were Richard T. Frankenstein, organizational director of the union; Wyndham Mortimer and Ed Hall, vice-presidents, and other union officials.

Hours before the agreement was announced rumors were current that a settlement had been reached or was near.

Announces Agreement.

About the time the conference here recessed for luncheon, Representative Rabaut, Democrat, Michigan, addressing the house of representatives in Washington, was cheered with the "announced" that the strike had been settled and that formal announcement would be made later.

Immediate denials came from Governor Murphy and others here.

State policemen guarded inner and outer doors of the Governor's suite in the state capitol as a crowd jammed the corridors outside. No word of the progress of the session came from the conference room.

Sit-down strikes are in progress at the Detroit plant of the Hudson Motor Car Company, and the Lansing Truck Manufacturing plant of the Reo Motor Car Company, affecting more than 12,000 were earners. Negotiations in the Reo strike are in progress here.

As the Chrysler conference was underway in the executive chambers a state senate judiciary committee released for action three bills aimed at sit-down strikes.

Two by a Philist, Mich., Democrat who has any person occupying industrial property illegally or preventing the use by owners of such property, and any employer or employee refusing to negotiate in good faith of a felony. Another by a Stanton Republican would make it a felony for employers or strikers to negotiate while plants are occupied illegally.

Chrysler and Lewis came to Lansing today at Murphy's invitation to seek a "prompt, satisfactory" solution to the strikes by which the U. A. W. A. is attempting to enforce its demand for exclusive bargaining rights for 67,000 Chrysler employees.

Warn of Consequences.
Murphy warned failure to adjust differences quickly might bring "extreme and costly measures with possible unfortunate consequences."

A projected conference of national congressional leaders with President Roosevelt this week end evidenced increasing national attention to the sit-down strike situation. Senate Majority Leader Robinson, of Arkansas, said conditions "are approaching a crisis." The President has been in touch with the situation from Warm Springs, Ga., but is scheduled to return to Washington this week end.

Separated 74 Years, Sisters Hold Reunion

HURTSBORO, Ala., March 24. (AP)—Two sisters are having a reunion here today after not having seen each other in 74 years.

Mrs. Sarah Fletcher Streetman, 75, who resides here, is entertaining Mrs. Fanny Saffold, of East Point. The two sisters were orphaned at an early age and were separated. This is their first meeting since.

Movie Madman Threatens Chinese Star

ANNA MAY WONG.

Disfigurement Is Threatened Star To Obtain Funds To Produce Movie

$20,000 Is Demanded of Anna May Wong; Like Amount Ordered Paid by David O. Selznick With Warning of Harm to Mayer, of M.-G.-M.

HOLLYWOOD, March 24.—(AP)—Maniacal extortion threats against the family of David O. Selznick, film producer, and Anna May Wong, Chinese actress, were disclosed by district attorney's investigators today.

A note received by Miss Wong yesterday threatened to disfigure her for life and cripple her father unless she advanced $20,000 for financing a motion picture, Captain Clyde Plummer said.

Another letter, intended for Mrs. David O. Selznick, asked for $20,000 in unmarked bills on pain of bodily harm to her young son and to her father, who was not mentioned by name, the Los Angeles Times said.

Believed to have been selected as a third victim of the extortion plot, Plummer said, was Dr. E. J. Foote, chiropractor, and Spanish-American war veteran.

Dr. Foote, who turned over to Plummer a threatening note which he said he also had received, was held as a material witness. The message commanded him to receive the money as intermediary and hold it for further instructions if he wished to survive.

Plummer said the projected movie mentioned by the extortionist apparently was to be on a Biblical subject and suggested Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson for a role.

This inclusion of Mrs. McPherson's name led investigators to theorize the writer was the same person who recently mailed threatening notes to her at Angeles Temple, resulting in a police guard at her sermons.

Mrs. Selznick's letter was addressed to the home of Joseph Selznick, a distant relative of her husband, who opened it at the request of the producer's secretary and read it over the telephone.

Among the instructions for contacting the writer, Selznick said, was the warning: "If you attempt a trap or call police, I have the most cruel means beyond your imagination of disposing of anyone sent to catch me."

To Anna May Wong, the would-be extortionist wrote: "Unless you come down to my room immediately with $20,000, you will be disfigured and your father crippled and others close to you will be injured. First call my number and ask for me, Dr. Foote. (Not the chiropractor.)"

"You may think a doctor writing such a letter is crazy or under the influence of narcotics, but I have narcotics under full control and I have the courage to sign my name."

"You do not need to lose the $20,000. It is a mere guarantee of cooperation to the fullest extent on your part."

"I am going to induce Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to have us in the same pictures, when this carried out, the money will be returned. Aimee Semple McPherson and Dr. McCoy will be in the picture."

PARIS, SOVIET CHARGE SPANISH AID BY DUCE

bassador Ivan Maisky told the London neutrality committee meeting: "On the instructions of my government I have to call the attention of the committee to the ever-increasing military intervention into Spanish affairs on the part of the Italian government."

Refer to Subcommittee.
He insisted 60,000 Italians went to Spain about mid-February and that many of them were regular soldiers. The charges were referred back to a subcommittee.

In Paris, Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos summoned the British and German ambassadors and avowed his government had "irrefutable" proof of "regular Italian troops" in Spain.

France, he said, had been "patient," but the "wholesale Italian invasion in Spain, endangering French communications with north African possessions."

CO-ED SLAYING TRIAL IS SCHEDULED APRIL 12

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., March 24.—(AP)—Judge Lemuel F. Smith, of the Albemarle circuit court, fixed April 12 today for the opening of the trial of Dr. R. G. Miller, Charlottesville dentist, who is under indictment on charges of murder in connection with the chloroform death of 18-year-old Cleo Sprouse.

Judge Smith announced the date after a joint conference of defense and prosecution attorneys here.

Dr. Miller, arrested the day after the high school girl's body was found on the edge of the University of Virginia campus, remains a prisoner in the Henrico county jail at Richmond. Commonwealth's Attorney Fife has charged that Dr. Miller "deliberately" administered chloroform to the girl "with intent to cause her death" while engaged in an attempt "to produce an abortion or miscarriage" on the evening of March 1.

DOCK WORKERS PLAN ORGANIZATION DRIVE

NORFOLK, Va., March 24.—(AP)—George Miller, negro, vice president of the International Longshoremen's Association, said today efforts would be made to organize all dock workers from Maine to Florida.

Miller made the statement on his return here from a conference of his organization in Canada. He said the conference indorsed a plan to bring into organized labor all men who handle the freight on ships and on piers, including longshoremen employed at terminals where only coastwise tonnage is handled, at small boat lines and wherever freight of any kind is loaded or unloaded from ships, freight cars or trucks.

KILLS SELF IN AUTO.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 24. (AP)—The body of James Villander, 33, who lost his job as caretaker recently, was found in his automobile near the bay today and Peace Justice Pole said it was a case of suicide. Pole said the doors and windows of the sedan were closed, the motor running, and a hose connected from the exhaust pipe to the interior near where Villander was seated.

'Witnesses' Seek U. S. Court Rule To Remove Ban

Jehovah Witnesses yesterday sought the protection of the federal courts for the distribution of their pamphlets and for their other activities in the city of LaGrange. They suffered a temporary rebuff in their petition for a temporary injunction, but were granted a rule nisi to be heard April 9 on the constitutionality of LaGrange ordinance under which they have been tried and convicted.

The action is brought for future events and does not affect the sentences imposed last year on 183 members of the sect under the LaGrange ordinance banning distribution of the pamphlets as a nuisance.

Harry Strozio, of Macon, appeared as attorney for the Witnesses, and sought the temporary injunction to permit activities of the sect in LaGrange pending a hearing on the constitutionality of the ordinance.

Judge E. Marvin Underwood, who heard the petition, told Strozio he would not determine what people were going to do and what the city was doing to do in an issue of this kind, and that he could only grant the rule nisi.

TEACHER DENIES CASHING WARRANT

Witness in School Board Ouster Suit Says No Payment Due.

SAVANNAH, Tenn., March 24.—(AP)—A Saltville school teacher testified today in an ouster suit against the Hardin county board of education that she never received or benefited from an $80 school warrant issued in her name last May.

The teacher, Miss Alma McBride, said she knew nothing of the warrant and knew of no services she had performed that would have entitled her to the money.

The suit, filed by District Attorney General David P. Murray, charges the board made purchases without competitive bids, exceeded the limit of expenditures and violated other rights. At the same time, another ouster suit was under way at Bolivar, Tenn., against the Harlan county school board.

A report of State Auditors W. H. Sensing and W. M. Harrells, completed March 9, 1937, charged the board had "hopelessly overdrawn funds of the general school accounts."

Nineveh and Tomb of Jonah Seen By Mrs. Ashby on Eastern Tour

Atlantan Takes Convey for Bagdad When Snows Block Roads to Persia; Describes Sites of Ancient Palaces.

Mrs. Rose Marie Ashby, world traveler and psychology lecturer who left Atlanta several weeks ago on a tour of the near east, writes her sixth article on her experiences while traveling.

MOSUL, Iraq, Feb. 1.—(By Mail) On my arrival in the Rest House in Mosul I received a telegram from Bagdad saying the roads in Persia were completely blocked by recent snow and no cars would be able to get through for several days. I was advised to take a convey for my planned trip to Bagdad which I, naturally, did. We started out for Nineveh, "The Glory of the Kingdoms," and I do look without emotion on the desolate mounds that cover the glories of ancient Nineveh.

I climbed up and walked over these ancient mounds. I was shown the sites of the vast palaces of Sennacherib and Ashur-bani-pal which have been traced and excavated by archaeologists.

By carriage we went to a lesser mound. At the top is Nebie Yuma, a large Mohammedan mosque, kept up by Turks. Excavators have never been allowed here because the mosque covers the tomb of the Prophet Jonah, revered by Moslems everywhere.

After a close inspection of the mosque, I finished the day by going to the Leaning Minaret of Mosul. It rises with the Leaning Tower of Pisa for fame. The story is that the Minaret bowed to Mohammed as he went to heaven and has never regained its correct position.

Mosul is a quiet, agricultural area with rich oil districts near by. The city is the original home of manila and this fabric took its name from the city. All kinds of weaving are done

BATTLE OF STATISTICS LOOMS IN MILL DRIVE

C. I. O. Intends To Prove How Much Should and Can Be Paid Workers.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(F)—Behind the Committee for Industrial Organization's campaign to "stabilize" the giant textile industry will be a mass of statistics designed to show employers how much they can and should pay their workers.

The statistical strategy came to light today after announcement that Solomon Barkin, former economics instructor and NRA executive, had been appointed research director of the textile workers' organizing committee, a C. I. O. affiliate.

Barkin, a big, sandy-haired bachelor, explained his task would be to assemble facts and figures showing in comprehensive detail the economic, financial and industrial aspects of the textile industry in all of its ramifications.

Assessing the campaign to improve the lot of the nation's $1,250,000 textile workers would be based on an "exchange of facts instead of an exchange of sheer force," he said.

"We hope to be in a position really to avoid industrial warfare."

"The major purpose of a labor union is not to strike but to win recognition of its proper rights."

When his staff is organized and functioning, Barkin said he hoped to be able to provide the committee's organizers and negotiators with more detailed information about economic conditions in a given territory than the employers themselves had.

ALABAMA HOTELS GET RUM DISCOUNT

Clubs, Restaurants, Inns Can Buy From State for 'on Premises' Use.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 24.—(F)—The Alabama alcoholic beverage control board announced tonight a discount of 10 per cent will be allowed approved hotels, clubs and restaurants purchasing liquors or wines from state stores for resale.

Approved hotels, clubs and restaurants in the state's 24 wet counties, under the recently enacted beverage control act, will be permitted to resell beverage purchased from state stores for "on premises" consumption.

They may not sell for a lower price than state stores, but otherwise no limitation is fixed on their resale prices, the board said.

PRINCIPAL CONVICTED IN DISCIPLINE 'ASSAULT'

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio, March 24.—(F)—C. Sherman Dale, principal of the Portsmouth High school, awaited sentence tonight following his conviction on a charge of assault and battery against William Williams, 17-year-old high school senior. Williams said Dale and Richard Farmer, bandmaster, disciplined him roughly for smoking in front of the school. Charges against Farmer were dismissed and Municipal Judge H. L. Small deferred sentencing Dale until Saturday.

RAZOR DRAWS CROWD.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(UP)—Police were called today to disperse a crowd that collected in front of the city hall around the automobile of Acting Mayor William F. Brannan. It turned out Brannan was inside the car, shaving with an electric razor.

CLARK HOWELL SCHOOL DEDICATION PLANNED

Governor Rivers and Mayor Hartsfield To Speak at Exercises Tomorrow.

Governor Rivers and Mayor Hartsfield will lead tributes to the late Clark Howell, editor and president of The Constitution, at exercises at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning formally dedicating the Tenth Street school as the Clark Howell school.

Appreciations of Mr. Howell, on behalf of the state, will be spoken by Governor Rivers, while the mayor will speak on behalf of the city. Major Clark Howell, president and publisher of The Constitution, will respond to the appreciations.

Appreciations will also be spoken by Dr. Willis A. Sutton, superintendent of schools, on behalf of the school administration; Mrs. T. E. Busbin, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, for that organization, and Mrs. Ellis Dunlap Newport, first principal of the school.

Ed S. Cook, president of the board of education, will formally dedicate the school, with the response to be made by Mrs. R. B. Whitworth, principal of the school.

Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, chairman of the buildings and grounds committee, and D. P. McClatchey Jr., fifth ward member of the board of education, will preside.

The Rev. William V. Gardner, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will pronounce the invocation, and Mr. McClatchey will introduce the speakers. Music by the students of the school and Mary Muldrew Brown will feature the dedication ceremonies.

KIDNAP SUSPECTS HELD ON $5,000 BOND EACH

ABINGDON, Va., March 24.—(P)—Chester Fester and William Blankenship, of War, W. Va., charged in federal warrants with kidnaping William Caudill, War taxi driver, were bound over to the next session of federal district court here.

United States Commissioner Crabtree fixed their bond at $5,000 each. The warrants also charged larceny of Caudill's automobile.

FLAMES DOOM SCHOOL.

LEICESTER, Mass., March 24.—(P)—Leicester High school was apparently doomed, an annex burning and the Samuel E. Winslow mansion and other homes threatened in a two-alarm fire here tonight.

Congress To Boost Pay of Diplomats

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(P)—Congress, taking pity on minor diplomats struggling to make both ends meet in foreign capitals, where the cost of living is high, appeared ready today to boost the envoys' allowances.

After hearing that some diplomatic wives find it difficult to fill their market baskets and that the plight of low-salaried clerks abroad is truly "pitiable," the house has tentatively approved the increases.

Diplomats stationed in about one-half of the country's 245 foreign posts would receive between $200 and $300 more in "post allowances." Small increases in salary—described by a house subcommittee as necessary to relieve a pitiable condition—also would go to diplomatic and consular clerks receiving less than $1,080 a year.

Huge Girder for New Hemphill Avenue Underpass

A steel girder weighing 60,000 pounds, 30 tons, is shown above being lowered into position in the construction of the new Hemphill Avenue underpass being built by the Southern Railway Company at a cost of $140,000. Two cranes were needed to lift the girder, one a 75-ton crane and one a 26-ton crane. Two hours were required to place each girder. The underpass will be completed by June 15.

Fagin Appellation Given Defendant In Fulton Court

Fagin, Dickens super-professor in the arts of crime, stepped from "Olivier Twist" yesterday to appear in modern form in Fulton superior court.

That was the description given B. Dyer, charged with three jewelry burglaries, by Assistant Solicitor Quincy Arnold in his address to the criminal court jury.

Testimony had revealed Dyer operated much in the same manner as the fiction character Fagin. He employed a 17-year-old, underaged youth, to do the "dirty" work while the "professor" remained outside to watch.

Floy Sanford, the youth who was jointly indicted with Dyer, said he was persuaded to join the game for "easy money" by Dyer.

Method Used.

According to Sanford, Dyer would approach a house where it was apparent the members of the household were away, ring the bell to ascertain his deduction was correct, open the front door with a wire and send the youth in to ransack the house.

"He told me I should go in while he stood lookout, because if the people came home and caught me they might let me go while they might shoot him," Floy told the court.

Crimes Charged.

Dyer was charged with the $7,100 diamond robbery of Mrs. Louise S. Poor, of Florida, who was stopping at the home of Mrs. G. B. Denman; the theft of a $500 diamond at the home of H. L. Conrad, of 798 Confederate avenue, and the theft of properties

Sanford told the jury each of these houses was ransacked for valuables. The jury found Dyer guilty on each count and recommended he be sentenced to serve from two to three years on each. He will be sentenced this morning by Judge Paul S. Etheridge Sr. Sanford has not yet faced trial.

KILLED IN TRUCK UPSET.

GREER, S. C., March 24.—(P)—Earl Roy Alford, 19, of Lake City, Fla., member of a CCC camp here, was killed today when the truck in which he was riding with eight other enrollees skidded and overturned near Felham.

MARINE GROUP SLATE APPROVED IN SENATE

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(P)—The senate commerce committee approved today the nomination of Chairman Joseph P. Kennedy and four members of the new maritime commission.

Action followed an earlier vote in the senate to make Kennedy eligible despite his acknowledged ownership of stock in a private shipbuilding concern.

The other nominees are Thomas M. Woodward, Edward C. Moran Jr. and Rear Admirals Henry A. Wiley and Emory S. Land, both retired.

QUICK AGREEMENT SEEN ON RAIL PENSION PLAN

Two Bills To Be Offered Carrying Out Labor, Carrier Pact.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(P)—Chairman Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of the senate finance committee, predicted tonight that there would be a quick and satisfactory agreement on new railway pension legislation. He made his forecast after a conference with railroad executives, labor spokesmen and congressional leaders. The proposed legislation would include two bills, putting into effect a recent agreement between the carriers and the 21 railway brotherhoods. They would cut the tax burden about 40 per cent below that imposed by the present railroad retirement law. The carriers, in return, would drop pending litigation challenging the constitutionality of the act. Several conferees expressed confidence that the terms of the recent pact would be written into law "without material change."

WHY PAVE STREETS WITH CONCRETE?

here's why —

- 1 Every street demands a gritty, non-skid surface for the protection of motorists and pedestrians.
- 2 At night you need a pavement with high visibility.
- 3 Safety also calls for a pavement that is free from chuck holes, ruts and bumps . . . and stays that way with minimum maintenance.
- 4 You want a pavement that drains quickly . . . that is easily cleaned and stays clean . . . no depressions to catch dirt.
- 5 You want a pavement that makes the whole neighborhood look modern, prosperous, attractive.

Concrete . . . and only concrete . . . completely meets all of these specifications.

THE ACE FOR GIRLS

The Ranger "Ace" model is exactly like the boys' model except that it has a ladies' drop bar frame construction instead of top bar, and this eliminates the tool tank. The saddle is soft and roomy, made of genuine grain leather over thick sponge rubber. The rubber pedals are dainty, ladies' size. Tires are double size balloons on chrome-plated drop center steel rims. Complete equipment is included—Silveray bullet design Electric Lamp, Delta Electric Horn, Rear Carrier, Parking Stand, Red Danger Signal, tools, etc.

GERMAN SHOCK TROOPS STEM LOYALIST ROUT OF ITALIAN BRIGADES

Nazis Replace Romans Along Guadalajara Front;
Franco Angered.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, March 24.—(UP)—German shock troops, rushed to the Madrid front to replace Italian units whose headlong retreat angered the Rebel generalissimo Franco, were reported tonight to have stemmed a Loyalist drive on Almadrones.

The Germans, according to frontier reports, have replaced the Italians on practically the entire sweep of the Guadalajara front from Cogolludo to Masagodo, 54 miles northeast of the capital along the Aragon highway.

Nazi Planes En Route.
The Loyalist government at Valencia announced that its foreign minister, Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, had been informed that a number of airplanes from Germany flew high over Switzerland, apparently en route across the Alps to a Rebel airbase in Spain.

French border police and agents of the international neutrality committee said they had no news of such a flight.

Both Rebels and Loyalists carried the war into the air today and more than 100 persons, mostly militiamen, were killed and wounded when a fleet of 40 insurgent planes swept over the town of Guadalajara, 37 miles from Madrid on the Aragon road, and dumped 200 bombs.

57-Mile Retreat.
A Loyalist communique said, as a result of the whirlwind government victories of the last two weeks, the Rebels have been driven back 57 miles from the capital. The Rebels insisted, however, that they were only 53 miles away.

General Franco's quick removal of fleeing Italian troops and their replacement by fresh Moors apparently stemmed the Loyalist advance which rapidly became the greatest of the war, sweeping 20 miles in one week.

French Credited.
Two French battalions of the international brigade reportedly played an important part in crushing the Italian offensive with the aid of new French automatic rifles, which can be fired from the shoulder or light tripods and made of new alloy, cool much faster than the old guns.

The government announced that German troops belonging to the Reneschism Bavaria barracks had landed at Seville, to join an attack on Madrid in the Posoblanco (southern) sector.

SLAYER OF DETECTIVE SENTENCED TO HANG

QUEBEC, March 24.—(Canadian Press).—Honorable Bernard, 28-year-old slayer of a provincial police detective, was sentenced today to hang on June 4.

A jury convicted him of the murder of Detective Leopold Chateaufort, shot down two months ago in an apartment house while trying to arrest Bernard and his companion, Arthur Fontaine, who had escaped from jail. Fontaine was killed in an exchange of gunfire.

Cyrille Emond, who supplied a revolver used in the jail break, was sentenced to life imprisonment. Wilfrid Darveau, in whose apartment the fugitives were trapped in the police raid January 25, was sentenced to 20 years in prison. Four other persons are awaiting trial on charges of complicity in the jail break.

Bashful Lioness Retains Mystery Of Sex of Cubs at Grant Park Zoo

By THE LION EDITOR.

The great uncertainty still existed in full force yesterday out at the Grant Park zoo.

Uncle Matt Leonard still could not be sure about Queen Martha's cubs, but he hopes that the school children in Atlanta and Fulton county will be ready to name the cubs when he finds out definitely which are boys and which are girls.

The Lion Editor, who is undoubtedly about twice as impatient to learn the sex of the cubs than anybody else, was told yesterday the great mystery will be solved once and for all within a few days.

In the meantime no closing date for the lion namers' contest has been set, and won't be until several days after the question of sex is settled.

Letters from children containing sets of four names for boys and four for girls still pour into the Lion Editor, and rest assured they will be considered when the judges decide the contest and cleverest names for Queen Martha's children. Councilman Cecil Hester, Parks Manager George L. Simons and Joe Bregg, the mayor's secretary, who are the judges of the Lion Namers' contest, will pick the best names from those submitted.

The contest, which offers prizes totaling $17,500, is for children entered in Atlanta and Fulton schools. Write your lists and a short essay on the reasons for your selections and send them to the Lion Editor as soon as Uncle Matt knows positively the number of boy and girl cubs in the litter.

ual leaders and would embrace other subjects as well as the labor situation.

That Mr. Roosevelt is concerned about the potentialities of the Detroit emergency has not been denied here.

The President will leave here Friday afternoon and arrive in Washington Saturday morning.

Except to work on his daily mail, the President put in the 18th day of his vacation here resting at his Pine Mountain cottage.

Visits Cancelled.
Because of the rain he cancelled plans to inspect the near-by Pine Mountain Valley Rural Reclamation project and a Civilian Conservation Corps camp at Chisley, Ga.

Tonight he sat down in Georgia Hall, Warm Springs Foundation administration building, and enjoyed a buffet supper with the young infante paralysis patients. This took the place of the annual Thanksgiving Day festival which he missed last fall.

The President today nominated J. Leroy Adair, of Quincy, Ill., to be federal judge for the southern district of Illinois. He will take the place vacated by Judge J. Earl Major, who was recently promoted to the circuit court of appeals for the seventh circuit.

AUTHOR OF VOIDED LAW DEFENDS HIGH COURT

Representative Wilcox Declares Bench Is Not 'Anti-Anything.'

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(AP)—Representative J. Mark Wilcox, West Palm Beach, Fla., Democrat, author of the invalidated municipal bankruptcy act, defended supreme court justices tonight against the criticism that they were "anti-labor or anti-agriculture or anti-New Deal or anti-anything else."

In a broadcast address, the Florida Democrat denounced President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan as an attempt to change the constitution by judicial interpretation. The only proper approach, he said, is by constitutional amendment.

"The court is neither for nor against any group or class," he said. "It is just what you would expect any court to be—a group of honest and intelligent men trying to discharge their weighty responsibilities in a fair and impartial manner."

Wilcox said he was disappointed with a number of the court's decisions. "I recognize the fact, however, that the court, like all human beings and human institutions, is subject to error and that in the natural course of events it is bound to make mistakes. But to charge the court with being anti-labor or anti-agriculture or anti-New Deal or anti-anything else is to deal too carelessly with the facts."

COURT CHANGE METHOD DEFENDED BY FARLEY

He Contends Opposition Democrats Are Making Grave Mistake.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 24.—(AP)—James A. Farley vigorously advocated the Roosevelt court change plan in a legislative address today in an address, thrice punctuated by applause, in which he said opposition Democrats who opposed the method were "making a grave error."

"I am not aspersing the motives or the sincerity of any members of our party in congress in opposing the President's plan," said the former general and national Democratic chairman, "but where it is merely a matter of method to arrive at a result, that all of those gentlemen have pronounced desirable in the past, I think they are making a grave error and are lending aid and comfort to the enemy."

Farley was introduced by Governor James V. Allred.

"President Roosevelt was told by 27,000,000 people," Farley said, "to fulfill his program; to finish a job only half done. They did not, they could not tell him how he is to do this. And he, after canvassing every process, found that in order to carry out the program, it was necessary to get over the barrier of an inflexible, reactionary point of view entertained by five of the nine eminent jurists on the high court."

The November election, he said, ratified the acts of the administration.

Referring to the invalidated AAA, Farley said: "I do not think that the cotton raiser or the cattleman, who under its provisions and the activities of the government's loaning agencies got a breathing space that enabled him to get on his feet again, feels at all ashamed of the means and methods that saved him."

REHEARING ASKED ON JOB TAX LAW

Alabama Supreme Court Takes Six Pleas Under Adversity.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., March 24.—(AP)—The state supreme court, which last week upheld constitutionality of Alabama's unemployment compensation act, received applications for rehearing of six cases today.

The applications were filed by Bealard W. Wheeler, of Conway, Greenville, and five other appellants, and taken under advisement.

The supreme court upheld validity of the act under state and federal constitutions as it is applied to both employers and employees.

Under routine court procedure an application for rehearing must be asked before an appeal is taken to the United States supreme court.

Meanwhile, in Montgomery circuit court, Judge Walter B. Jones ordered that funds paid in trust by some 250 firms contesting the unemployment compensation act be turned over immediately to the state unemployment compensation commission.

Roosevelt Third Term Approved By Americans, Fortune Survey Says

Citizens Believe Republican Party Will Revive Under New Leadership; All Classes Believe Depression Over, Magazine States.

President Roosevelt should be re-elected to a third term if his second is successful; the Republican party will revive under a liberal leadership and all classes believe the depression is over.

These are opinions expressed by a majority of American citizens participating in the quarterly survey of Fortune magazine, the eighth installment of which is released today.

Answering the question: "If there should be agitation for President Roosevelt to run for a third term, which would be your attitude?" A majority replied in favor of the present administration, favoring a third term 53 per cent, and opposing it 47 per cent.

Breakdown of Replies.
Breaking down the replies, it was found 74 per cent were opposed to a third term because they disapproved of Roosevelt; 10.2 per cent disapproved of both Roosevelt and the third term; 26 per cent approved of Roosevelt but felt no one should hold the office three terms; 22.3 per cent were out and out in favor of the plan; 26.1 per cent favored the third term if the second is successful and 8 per cent frankly admitted they didn't know how they stood on the issue.

"It is to be noted from these returns that the 40 per cent of the public that voted against Mr. Roosevelt in November seem to have retreated from flat-footed disapproval," Fortune comments. "Now there are only 17.6 per cent who openly reaffirm their dislike; the rest apparently hide their opposition behind the principle that third terms are wrong."

In the public mind Mr. Roosevelt himself is the issue in all matters that concern him; principles are secondary or even fictional. For example, returns on the question of a third term show that the strongest opposition to the idea comes from groups among which Roosevelt's popularity is the least. The older people, shown in past surveys to be less pro-Roosevelt, than their juniors, are also opposed to a third term for him by a small margin."

Prosperous Oppose.
Opposition to Roosevelt and the third term came chiefly from the prosperous and the upper middle classes, the conservative towns with populations between 2,500 and 25,000, and the northeast, the Fortune survey reveals.

Approximately 41 per cent of the people who think the Republican party will revive under liberal leadership expected themselves as favoring the third term for Roosevelt. Those who think the G. O. P. will be succeeded by another party or that it is permanently dead are overwhelmingly in favor of the third term, the survey shows.

In an effort to find out what the public thinks will become of the Republican party, Fortune editors mailed out the following questions: "Will the Republican party die, revive or turn liberal?"

Here is the way it was answered: 21.7 per cent said it would revive in something like its old form; 40 per cent said it will revive under new and more liberal leaders; 6.6 felt it would be succeeded by another party; 8.9 per cent ruled it permanently dead. Twenty-two per cent "didn't know."

Fortune comments thusly: "Of all classes of occupations it is the salaried executives who have the least belief in the revival of the Republican party in its old form and the strongest faith that it will be liberalized. Wage earners of all classes, and the unemployed, have the least confidence in this theory which accounts for the fact that there are so many people who expect the party to survive but who nevertheless favor a Roosevelt third term. And students, who have the most recently been exposed to orthodox courses in history and political science, are the most inclined to think that the G. O. P. will stick to its traditions."

Contagious Optimism.
But Fortune terms the most encouraging of all is the belief that a contagious optimism that the depression is over is sweeping all classes. "With steadily rising business indexes on every hand during the past year, there is no news in discovering that the depression is routed," it comments.

"The general public has not been swept off its feet by the upward economic trend. It is simply aware that recovery is in midstream. There are less than half as many thoroughgoing pessimists as there were nine months ago. . . . The most cheerful section is the west coast, where 83.9 per cent believe the depression is over or on the run, in spite of the seamen's strike. The prosperous are still the most optimistic, but in the last three months sentiment among the poor improved faster than in the other class."

Fifty-one per cent of the people in the United States think the depression is getting over and 26 per cent will go so far as to say it is definitely over. These are figures from the survey to be released April 1.

The survey reveals that of the 19.8 per cent of the people who think the depression is still in full force, 30 per cent of these declare their outright disapproval of Mr. Roosevelt.

could be appointed, would mark "the first step in a trend" toward dictatorship such as European nations have seen.

Taber, praising the Roosevelt administration for having done "more for agriculture" than any other in 25 years, nevertheless opposed supreme court political and after all it is no solution of the farmers' problems.

Dodds was the morning witness before the senate judiciary committee as opponents of President Roosevelt's bill continued their attack.

Taber, in the afternoon session, made four requests of the committee: 1. Rejection of the notion of the bill which gives the President the authority to add to the size of the supreme court "on the mere basis of the age of its members."

2. Submission of a constitutional amendment "if there is to be any redistribution of power as between the federal government and the various states."

3. Enactment of the "sound" portions of the bill seeking to increase efficiency in the inferior courts.

4. Submission of the question involving the supreme court and the inferior courts into separate bills "so that each may stand or fall on its own merits."

Dodds referred to the plan as a "scheme" to control the opinions of the court.

MACHINE GUN BANDITS RANSACK ENTIRE TOWN
FARMERSVILLE, Texas, March 24.—(AP)—A band of robbers with a submachine gun forced the night watchman into a vault early today and then ransacked the town. The population is about 2,500.

Saves were blown in four places. Miss Willie Cook and Mrs. Lewis Miller, sleeping on the second floor of a building on the public square, were awakened when a safe was blown in a pharmacy across the street. Downstairs they were met by a man with a submachine gun, who forced them into the vault with the night watchman.

It is believed that shore-tusk mastodons vanished from Central Asia and North America because the latest continental digging and improvements have upset the balance of natural vegetation, thereby letting ragweed spread.

Upset Haralson Now Quiet Again: Armadillo Eats

There is peace and quiet in Haralson county once again.

Captors of the armadillo, a stream-lined habitant of the Texas range, found near Waco, Ga., recently, have learned what to feed the friendly little armor-plated animal.

The Tallapoosa chief of police, who had served in Mexico in the army, finally solved the "what to feed it" problem. A Bremen newspaperman, with the help of a South American geography, supplied some racial history.

And now Ballenger is quite an authority on the armadillo, the feeding problem is settled, and the only worry to the inhabitants is "how did it get here?"

When he captured it he didn't know what it was. At Bowdon a former Texan told him what the animal was.

The Tallapoosa chief of police, who had served in Mexico in the army, finally solved the "what to feed it" problem. A Bremen newspaperman, with the help of a South American geography, supplied some racial history.

FATHER DANGELZER FUNERAL RITES HELD

Final rites for the Rev. Joseph Dangelzer, prominent priest and former member of the Marietta College faculty, were held at 9 o'clock yesterday morning at the Sacred Heart church, with the Rev. James Reilly officiating.

Father Dangelzer, who died Tuesday at the age of 59, became associated with Marietta College in 1907. He served parishes in Louisiana and West Virginia, besides his work at the college. He was a native of Strassburg, Germany.

Burial was in West View cemetery, under direction of Sam R. Greenberg.

AIRMEN SEARCH WATER FOR MISSING SAILBOAT

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 24. (P)—Two coast guard airmen, piloting amphibian planes from the St. Petersburg coast guard air station, sought unsuccessfully today to locate an 18-foot sailboat, missing from Clearwater since Tuesday night with two young men and two women aboard.

Fear was expressed that the craft had been blown to sea by prevailing high winds. Those missing board the craft include Lester Clark, 20, and Cleon Mosely, 20, both of Clearwater, and Miss Irene Paris, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Miss Madona Mae Forwick, Celina, Ohio.

A HARD TASK WELL DONE

The enactment by the legislature of the bills authorizing changes in tax rates and service charges by the Atlanta municipal government opens the way for the solution of the acute financial problem with which the city is now faced.

When the Hartsfield administration took charge of the city's affairs it was faced by a financial crisis threatening not only the city's credit, but actual collapse of the municipal government. Courage and ability were necessary to meet this crisis, and the adoption of an emergency program and its progress to the point where the pressing problems of the city can now be safely and soundly solved, give evidence of the ability and determination of the Hartsfield administration.

Faced with the necessity of saving the city's credit, establishing the municipal government on a sound financial basis and improving the public service, Mayor Hartsfield sought the advice of councilmanic leaders and enlisted the best intelligence of civic leaders. The fine co-operation of President Harrington and the members of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce played an important part in the working out of the program for the solution of the city's financial crisis. The mayor wisely realized that the task with which he was faced could not be accomplished except through teamwork, combining the energy and knowledge of city officials and informed citizens.

That co-operation resulted in a plan, the approval of which by the legislature, following its endorsement by the members of the Fulton and DeKalb county delegations, opens the path to a soundly balanced budget and to financial assurance.

While the program will incur a moderate increase in the cost of government, this will be only for a comparatively brief period. Unquestionably the taxpayers have realized the seriousness of the crisis faced by the city and as a result there is general approval of the reasonable increase in taxes that will be put into effect.

Fortunately, the program of rehabilitation of the city's finances is launched with the certainty of good management under the direction of the same leaders who skillfully evolved the plan which has extricated the city from its financial predicament.

The city may well take comfort in the fine achievement of its new municipal administration. Certainly no man could have worked more diligently and single-heartedly at a task than has Mayor Hartsfield in his efforts to solve the problems which confronted him when he assumed office. That his efforts have been met with such outstanding success entitles him to the commendation of the people of the city as a whole.

Without an unreasonable increase in the cost of government, the city can now go about paying its debts and putting into effect the improvements which have been so vitally needed. Not in years has the local government been on a more sound, efficient and economic basis, and for this full credit must be given to Mayor Hartsfield and his advisers in council and among the department heads of the municipal government.

FOR TRAFFIC SAFETY

New impetus to the never ending war against the toll of death upon the streets of Georgia cities and the highways of the state is given through the movement launched by the American Legion posts and Boy Scout troops of the fifth congressional district.

Opening their active campaign with a special "week" for safety, from April 5 to 10, the combined forces of these two vigorous organizations plan to make it a continuous effort and one that will spread over the state in a short time.

The move is a hopeful step toward ultimate victory against the harvest of recklessness that now ravages the traffic lanes of our state. If every Legionnaire and every Scout enlists sincerely in the cause of safe driving, an army of untold possibilities will be enlisted.

As in all other attempts to reform an evil, the greatest power of all is in education—education in observance of the traffic laws, in the handling of an automobile, in safe speeds to use, and, above all, education against the criminality of sitting behind a steering wheel when the human faculties are dulled by fatigue, alcohol or other causes.

For this reason it is in the plan to make the efforts of the Legion and the Boy Scouts continuous that the greatest promise lies. Education, perforce, is a long-drawn and patience-trying remedy. It is not spectacular, it is not dramatic, but it is, after all, the only hope.

The special safety week planned is excellent, as a means of focusing new attention upon the evil to be overcome. But it will be in the later efforts, in the steady, patient drive, that results will be achieved. No finer groups for such a cause than the Legion and the Scouts could be found. They carry with them, as they step into the front line in this battle of peace, the well wishes and the promise of full co-operation of every citizen of Georgia.

FOREIGN POLICY PITFALLS

There are many cross currents in American foreign policy at present. Fixed policies are sometimes difficult because new problems are constantly arising.

Some of these difficulties are pointed out by Dr. Charles A. Beard in the March issue of Events. He says:

With the probability of an embargo in sight, what European nation will want to loosen up trade restrictions and become even more dependent on the United States for raw materials and manufactures? Policies of trade in time of peace are not separable from the prospects of trade in time of war. It appears reasonable to conclude, therefore, that many gains which the State Department might make in reciprocal trade arrangements will be held down by the "neutrality" legislation. At all events here is a friction that words cannot overcome.

There are many impatient people who want to make the world immediately "safe for democracy." And yet the majority of American people now seem determined that the country shall stay out of European brawls.

Pacifists in America are crying out against the expenditure of nearly a billion dollars a year for our army and navy. But with the world expending eleven billions a year on armaments, what is America to do? If we stand idly by and remain unprepared, how can we defend ourselves against nations which are determined upon aggression? What assurance do we have in the future that our territories—even our freedom and independence—will not be taken away?

It is, indeed, a chaotic world in which we live. There is comfort in the statement of President Roosevelt, "I hate war."

An Ohioan has devised a bell worn on the adam's apple to wake up dozing drivers. If the dozing persists, it tolls, we understand.

A court in Boston gave a woman 3,118 years to pay off a loan. We thought the war debtors would like to know about this new venue.

Talk of unionizing baseball is in the air. Of course, under any rule against the speed-up, a base stealer would jog to second.

Laborites in parliament oppose a pension for the ex-King, which seems ungracious. After all, didn't he visit the destitute miners and say ts-k-ts-k?

A script writer says there are only half a dozen good gags a week to divide among a dozen radio comedies. It is things like this that lead to clowns with breaking hearts.

"Men's clothes," says a spokesman for the trade, rather cryptically, "reflect the new philosophy of leisure." Would this be the shine on the sit-down strikers' serge?

A radio crooner, operated on in the southwest, is pulling through after several transfusions. What do they use—vanilla?

World's Window

BY PIERRE VAN PAISSEN.

War Not Imminent.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mrs. Anne O'Hare McCormick, one of the best informed of American roving correspondents, returned home the other day with the message that war is by no means imminent in Europe. She told an audience in Town Hall, New York, that she had had long conversations with leading statesmen and she gained the definite impression that every one of them was thinking of peace and every one of them quite sure that there will be no major conflict in the next two years.

That is encouraging news. There is, however, one drawback to it. It is a big one. The fact that no major conflict is envisaged does not exclude the possibility of minor conflicts. Anyone but a superficially familiar with the actual military status of the different European states and with the armament campaign now being carried out by Germany, France and Russia, would be likely to think that the world is in a position to wage war on a large scale at the present moment.

Germany is not ready, nor is England and as for Mussolini, in spite of the numbers of men available for mobilization in Italy and the splendid X-ray brand-new outfit of the Duce's disposal, one cannot very well see where he could raise the funds for a war just after lighting a campaign against the Italian resources to the breaking point.

There is no reason to doubt the peaceful intentions of the statesmen, but on the whole, I think it is a case with some of them of making a virtue of necessity. Every state is unquestionably preparing for war—and not for peace. It is a generally accepted fact that there must come a readjustment of the world's markets. Can this come about without war?

Only look at Spain, which still is termed a minor conflict although almost a million men are engaged in the fighting. There a struggle is waged for the control of the invaluable mineral deposits. Two blocs of powers are using Spain as a battleground for the securing of spheres of interest. The ideologies of the two contending parties in the civil strife are merely necessary considerations. The main thing is: Who shall control the tin, zinc, copper, asphalt and asbestos mines of Spain and north Africa? The "leftist" government is the ally of the anti-Fascist bloc or General Franco, which means the Fascist bloc.

It is a struggle for military raw materials, and therefore a prelude to a struggle of greater proportions. The very fact that every state is taking sides in the Spanish conflict shows that fundamentally the peaceful inclination of the statesmen, of which Mrs. McCormick speaks is but superficial. They are even now fighting indirectly. Of course, they are all very much concerned to confine the actual warfare to Spain—principally because, as was said above, few are ready to make the great plunge that would mean the destruction of western civilization.

The most hopeful message Mrs. McCormick brought home is that there is evidence of Germany's intention to campaign slowing up and, as she says, that there is a feeling that the German army will not follow the government in any of the plans that might lead to a great war. One would like to learn something more on this particular subject, for, if true, it is of capital importance.

At any rate, it seems that there is to be another breathing spell. Time might bring changes. Time might even see the tension which was terrific but a few months ago. The friends of peace are still permitted to hope that the calamity of war might be avoided. In this spirit Mrs. Roosevelt has decided to launch a stirring campaign for peace and disarmament. Admiral Byrd is going to support her.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

Nutrition authorities estimate that infant, growing child or adult requires 100 calories of food consumed. The 100 calories of food consumed would mean the vitamin A ration for a six-month-old infant would be perhaps 750 units; for a six-year-old child 1,400 units, for a young adult 3,000 units daily.

A quart of milk contains over 2,000 units of vitamin A. An ounce of asparagus contains 6,000 units of vitamin A. An ounce of tomato, canned, or of tomato juice raw or canned, contains 170 units. An ounce of cream cheese contains 1,400 units, an ounce of American cheese 700 units. An ounce of butter contains 1,400 units. An ounce of liver contains 2,800 units. One ounce of carrots contains 940 units. One ounce of prunes 300 units. Evaporated milk, condensed milk both contain more than twice as much vitamin A as fresh milk. Dried milk contains more than twice as much as evaporated or condensed milk. 500 units per ounce. Banana, sweet potato, string beans, cantaloupe, kidney, dates, lettuce, spinach, raw or canned, green, canned or dried peas, egg yolk, tomatoes, lettuce, brussels sprouts, green leafy relishes, such as onion tops, celery tops, radish tops, green beans, turnip greens, water cress, dandelion greens, parsley, nasturtium, alfalfa, are all good sources of vitamin A.

Unless the diet is severely restricted it does not seem likely that any one in this country should suffer from vitamin A deficiency.

Night-blindness, the most delicate index of vitamin A deficiency, is rare in this country according to a survey made by Drs. Hess, Lewis and Barenberg. They also studied the alleged value of vitamin A for preventing respiratory infections and found there is no clinical basis for regarding vitamin A as anti-infective.

Having sifted all the evidence I could get my hands on these past few years I am now of the opinion that vitamin A doesn't matter and need never worry any one, unless his diet is severely restricted for any reason, and in that case his physician should do all the worrying about adequate vitamin rations to supplement the diet. I believe the vitamins most people are likely to need are G and D and, in the north and east where fresh fruit and fresh vegetables are less available or too expensive in winter, vitamin C.

That the great majority of people in this country get insufficient quantities of vitamin B is as certain, to my mind, as it is that the majority of people use white bread as a staple or fundamental part of their diet. My conviction about the universal deficiency of vitamin B is based on the fact that no natural foods of man supply enough of this vitamin to meet the requirements of the infant, growing child or young adult. True, sunlight on the naked skin produces vitamin D in the body—but how many infants, growing children or adults get any sunlight on naked skin to speak of? (Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution.)

By PAUL MALLON.

DEFICIENCY

WASHINGTON, March 24.—A matter of greatest importance to an individual or a government is income. Life depends very much on the size of the old weekly pay check. That decides nearly everything.

Imagine, therefore, the current embarrassment of Mr. Morgenthau, keeper of the federal purse. His income for the first quarter-year is seriously below what he expected. How much is a matter of debate. Estimates ranging from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000 are being published. When the books are added about three weeks hence, the amount is very likely to hit $130,000,000 at least. This is the best inside guess to be made by the best experts now.

Spoofers are inclined to chide Mr. Morgenthau about this, especially because he has been so proud of the exactness of his estimates in the past. If that were all involved, the problem would not be very serious. He has more ways of raising money than Ponzi. However, the trouble seems to be deeper.

For some reason or other, the taxes levied are just not raising the money expected.

EXAUDITION Officials will tell you it is too early to draw deductions. The final figures are not available. It will be months before the collectors will be able to tell who did not pay as much taxes as expected, and why.

But it is not too early for officials to be developing the broad suspicion that, for one thing, their soak-the-rich tax bill is not soaking the rich. Evidence strongly hints that the corporation surplus tax bill, passed last year, is a Swiss product which may have nearly as much holes as cheese. Certainly something seems to be very badly wrong with the way the rich are exuding, and it probably is the administrative enforcement provisions.

SYMPTOMS In the first place, Mr. Morgenthau's estimators seem to have made excellent guesses. The business improvement in 1936 was just about what they calculated. Economically, they seem to have had justification to expect the amount of revenue they set forth in their budget. The trouble, therefore, can be traced, not to business, or economics, but to revenue causes.

Beyond that lies a field of speculation, but some very interesting tangible evidence is available in the published revenue receipts by states. These show that income tax receipts between March 1 and 20 were just about double those of last year in all the states, except the wealthiest.

That is, Alabama taxpayers paid $2,200,000 instead of $1,000,000; last year Arizona $870,000 instead of $450,000; Arkansas $1,200,000 instead of $600,000; but Massachusetts paid only $21,000,000 as against $14,000,000 in 1936; Michigan $38,000,000 instead of $25,000,000, and so on. New York, the wealthiest state, paid exactly 52 per cent more than last year, while Wyoming increased over 100 per cent.

This evidence is not conclusive, of course, but there can be no question that the states in which the largest income surtax bracket citizens reside showed less than the average revenue increase.

HOLES To put it another way. The largest increases in revenue now are coming from states where there are not many taxpayers wealthy enough to hire lawyers to tell them how to avoid the new tax reform law.

For some time, it has been evident that methods of getting around the law were being daily discovered. Some attorneys are understood to have worked out methods of stock distribution of dividends whereby neither the payer nor the payee is considered liable for the tax. Treasury authorities seem not to be excited by these and other known and unknown methods, but they will make somebody pay eventually.

Small corporations, in which holdings are centered in one family, are flat to have dissolved and created partnerships, thus avoiding the flat corporations tax. In such cases as this, the device is unquestionably legal, and certainly no Democrat, and perhaps few Republicans, will be made to pay.

UNBALANCING The development has again raised the question whether there will be a tax bill this session. If the final official figures disclose that the loopholes must be faced and closed (if they can be), a corrective measure will have to be passed before congress quits. It cannot be delayed until congress returns next January.

Many authorities do not see how the treasury can get away from it, despite the antipathy of congress to consider a tax bill of any character. The congressmen probably can be made to see that it is better to consider a tax bill this year than next, when they will be up for re-election.

Also, there is the question of further deficit financing and increase of the debt. Some experts believe that the revenue goose, sitting on the social security and unemployment trust funds, will lay a few extra golden eggs and obviate the difficulty. However, any plans for retirement of the $1,500,000,000 of open market debt will have to be dropped. The prospect of balancing the budget next year is not as good as when it was first advanced, and it was not very good then.

Likewise, the congressmen who are dreaming extensive housing, CCC and other plans, will now be able to occupy themselves with a phase of their plans which have been overlooked so far, namely—where the money for them is coming from.

What Is A "Silhouette"?
A "Silhouette" letter writer among all the population of Putnam, Ga., writes to ask, "What is a Silhouette, besides a scissors picture of your Adam's apple, chin and Roman nose?"

Without looking at the dictionary, a "Silhouette," as meant in the title of this column, is an outline of a human interest story. A clear-cut picture of an incident, a story or a condition existent in modern, everyday life.

At any rate, that was the thought in mind when selecting the title for the column. Maybe we've got away from the first intent, now and then, but it's too late to change it now.

Again, About Legs.

Again quoting the Putnam correspondent—she writes such choice epistles it is impossible to refrain from quoting her—she brings up once more the subject of leg length. "I am 5'6" tall, and my legs are 3'6" long. I am a bit of a leg expert. As to legs," she writes, "especially the luscious limbs of ladies, you never took down your flag on 'em matter.' (Note: Certainly not. I meant what I wrote and, despite handicaps of on-creeping age, am still much interested in the subject.)

"Why don't you send us about something we can help?" she asks. "We can't do a thing about our legs. Get after us about our manners. We have awful ones, our smoking one especially. Went on a long bus journey lately, felt like a smoked herring at the end of it. Mostly due to the ladies, bless them. We need educating a lot. We can't even read signs."

We Want To Add To Our Lists.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Personal Graft

WASHINGTON, March 24.—There is a weakness in the administration of the federal income tax which provides an opportunity for graft on the part of the reviewing agents, and for harassment of the taxpayer for political or personal motives.

The reviewing agents are given discretion in many cases to approve him, or to entirely disallow deductions and raise the tax, a power which obviously creates a temptation for a dishonest agent to strike a private compromise with the subject. It may be that the government is fortunate enough to have only honest men in this service, and I claim no evidence to the contrary, but the opportunity is there nevertheless in a field of problems known as the twilight zone.

The best protection, and the only sure way of preventing graft, is to provide definite checks, and these do not exist in the type of cases referred to here. There is espionage to back up the reviewing agent, and he may worry the dishonest agents, if any, but crooks take chances in any zone of operations.

If the agent is strictly honest as to personal largess, he still has a power to mulct the victim on behalf of the government, merely because of some personal dislike for him. This puts the citizen at a disadvantage, for he must please the agent's favor and abide by his whim when the law should strictly define his rights and permit him to stand on them.

If he offends the agent, who is only human, whether by the cut of his hair, or by the way he wears his pipe, he runs the risk of an adverse decision and a loss of money which might not occur if he could only compromise with the government representative.

Agents Delve In

I would like to see the agents are all above such conduct, but my experience of human nature and men who are given optional powers in the public service is not reassuring.

In addition to all this, the agents have a right to delve deep into the private accounts and affairs of the citizen, in matters so intimate as to be none of the government's business. Conceivably this could lead to blackmail, and at the very best it sets up a personal inquisition certainly no less searching than the questionnaire to which organized labor takes such violent exception in large industrial plants.

If the hardy freeman of the republic thinks his privacy is invaded by some of the questions which are put to him, he may not be typical, but he can consider it his right and duty to demand a full explanation though the item may have no bearing on the computation of the tax.

The case of the man who, after years of respectable married life, was called on to produce proof of the marriage may not be typical, but it is an exception it shows the powers which an agent may take to himself if he believes the victim stands in need of a little personal discipline. Such proof is not generally required, but that very fact suggests that the demand was intended as harassment in this case.

Taxpayer's Reluctance

I believe the taxpayers in these inquiries are inclined to fear that the agent may have final powers, and must be prepared at any sacrifice of self-respect. The truth is, however, that the agents themselves are rather confused by their own work and conduct, and may be called to strict account for abuse of their position if the taxpayer is sure of his own ground and wise in the use of the truth.

The taxpayer naturally does not like to take an appeal from the reviewer's decision if the amount involved is small, as it often is. He may decide to skip it and pay off to avoid expense and trouble. But if he has reason to believe that the agent has tossed him around for spite or for any other reason, he may not be so easily satisfied. He may then consider it his right and duty to demand a full explanation though the item may have no bearing on the computation of the tax.

However, that is small assurance. Because under the existing system the discretionary powers of the reviewer combined with the taxpayer's reluctance to carry things further constitutes the germ of an American G. I. (Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution.)

Good Morning.

By LOUIE D. NEWTON.

BASEBALL. Earl Mann promises us another good ball team in Atlanta, and that's something to be truly thankful for, but I do wish he would hurry up and let us see the boys cawing around on Ponce de Leon park. A man can't get just so much spring weather without baseball; just so much, and then he begins to ache. I have dreamed two or three times of the Cracker about Leonard pitching a no-hit game, and about Hooks reaching out there for that fast whip from Buster. And here I am picking up the paper to see Jim Gavin waiting for that ball to fall in his mitt. I thought I could see the sweat on Jim's face—good shot, Corbett.

By the way, what's the matter with you down there in Columbus and Savannah and Macon and Augusta? I keep looking at your sports pages to see when you are going to be coming around the mountain on the important business of baseball. I do find as much local baseball news as a neighbor would like to read in your fine cities.

I tell you a team I want to see play, and that's this one-arm team that dear old Bill White is training down here at Douglas. I know some of those boys, beginning with Bill himself. I hope Earl will arrange for them to play here in Atlanta.

And don't forget April 16, when the Cracker play their first home game on their way to the 1937 pennant!

Indian Treaties.

In 1621 a treaty was signed between Massachusetts and Plymouth colonists. It was faithfully observed for 55 years. It was so extraordinary for whites to keep their promises to American Indians, the record of the event is preserved.

Jamestown colonists hadn't kept their word to Powhatan tribesmen, so 347 of them were killed in the first and biggest massacre committed by Indians.

Twenty years ago Raoul Piret, of the French budget committee, said that France expected to borrow $451,772,000 from the United States before June. Premier David Lloyd George had a conference with United States Ambassador Page in London, and the British newspaper hinted that the object of the meeting was to shift the financial burden of the war to the United States when this country entered it.

If They Aren't Old Enough To Handle a Gun,

They Aren't Old Enough To Go Hunting

By ROBERT QUILEN.

We Americans are the best-hearted people in the world, but our idealism often lacks the balance wheel of common sense. We get rid of the tares by plowing up the wheat and liberate the poor caged bird to be eaten by the cat.

Now we are righteously indignant about child labor, as we should be, and a proposed amendment to the constitution would authorize congress to control or forbid labor by children under 18. The amendment doesn't forbid child labor, it merely gives congressmen power to determine at what age and when, how and if children under 18 shall work.

That is humane and decent; but when and if the amendment is adopted, congress will need the wisdom of the serpent to avoid doing more harm than good.

A child's character and mental attitude are formed early. And before it can walk it should learn that obedience to the rules makes life pleasant, while disobedience not only fails to win anything, but promptly, unfailingly and inexorably brings a penalty.

One of the most important rules is that everything must be paid for and all rewards earned. And failure to learn it dooms the child to go through life feeling abused, discontented and rebellious, hoping vainly to get something for nothing and envying the "lucky" who work harder or to more purpose.

The discipline of industry and the habit of earning must be developed early—not in a factory or anywhere else as a hired hand, but helping with the chores or doing something "gainful" after school. The child may resent it, as he resents all discipline but he will be grateful for it in the years to come. Life is hard on the fellow who doesn't know how to do anything the world will pay for.

At what age, then, should the law permit a youth to begin work for hire?

At 18, after he has finished high school? Long before that he is buying cigarettes and gasoline, taking his girl out in a car and perhaps drinking a little.

Sons of the rich do these things, and poor boys, seeing and envying them, demand the same privileges. If Dad won't furnish the money and the boy isn't allowed to earn it, he will try getting it another way.

A child does not possess the rights and privileges of a citizen. If he is too young to earn money, he is too young to spend it as adults do. If he is too young to work, surely he is too young to be at large in a lethal car.

Whether the minimum age for workers is 18, 15 or 12, this much is certain: One who isn't qualified for a citizen's duties isn't qualified for a citizen's rights. One without the other means a privileged class, and the privileged can make life a weary waste to others.

TAKES ISSUE WITH HARVARD PROFESSORS

Editor Constitution: A triumvirate of the Harvard Law School in a recently published encyclical appearing in today's Constitution ruled against the Roosevelt judicial reform bill, chiefly upon the ground that it will destroy "our system of checks and balances."

It is submitted, however, that the legislative and executive departments of our government have no check upon the supreme court short of the proposed legislation. Among the three departments of our government, the supreme court alone is supreme. Through the years there has been a concentration of power in the judiciary, perhaps not a driving power but rather one of negation. The President may veto a bill passed by congress and the congress may pass it over his veto, but when the supreme court holds that a law is unconstitutional, that is final. There is no appeal except to the people.

Congress may submit an amendment to the state legislatures, but that is not a check by the legislative and executive branches upon the supreme court. An amendment is the expression of the sovereign power of the people, a power which resides only in the people and may be exercised over any or all of the departments of government. Of our three departments of government, the supreme court alone is without a direct check by either of the other departments. Furthermore, its present personnel is admittedly out of balance, both with itself and with a progressive liberal constitution. When the Harvard savants declare that our government "was designed consciously and carefully to guard against a concentration of power in any one branch of the government," they forget that one of our present ills is an overconcentration of power in the supreme court, which at the present time is dominated by a group of "no" men.

Since the word of the supreme court is final, our government cannot be more progressive than that court is liberal in its interpretation of the constitution. With an ultra-conservative court holding to a strict construction of the constitution, all progressive legislation is doomed to destruction. It matters not that 27,000,000 voters wish certain social and economic reform measures passed. It matters not that their chosen representatives enact the desired laws. It is all a futile victory when an unsympathetic, unchecked, anachronous supreme court can and does declare these laws void because they do not conform to its strict construction of the constitution.

This brings us to the immediate and fundamental issue in the present controversy. Do we wish a liberal or conservative court to interpret our constitution? This is an old issue. The strict constructionists have shown their heads at every great turn in our national life. But a liberal construction of the constitution has in every battle from the purchase of the Louisiana Territory on down proved to be the better policy. If the ultra-conservatives, the strict constructionists, had won those early battles, they would undoubtedly have defeated the constitution itself. The constitution was prepared by progressive spirits who wished to foster a national consciousness. It should not stand as a rigid obstruction to that same nationalism. It is the President's plan to keep new blood flowing into the personnel of the court so that the constitution will not stand as a "no" sign to the teeming millions who still have hope.

Graduating Habit Is Catching in Hendrix Family Here

Undaunted Six in Atlanta Family Face Plethora of Graduations

By YOLANDE GWIN.
If there is a "sweet girl graduate" in your family this coming June just multiply it by three and add a son and you will have the answer to the problem which Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Hendrix, of 747 Virginia avenue, have solved, so far, very satisfactorily.

Three daughters and a son, all blond, will be graduated from their respective schools at the forthcoming commencement exercises. Margaretta will graduate from the Georgia State College for Women; Doris from Girls' High; Joyce from Bass Junior High and Norris Jr. from Samuel Inman Grammar school. So far the "school days" in the Hendrix home have run along like clockwork, but as the all auspicious graduation day looms, the only thing worrying the family is the possibility of a conflicting date for the Bass Junior High and Samuel Inman schools commencement. G. S. C. W.'s graduation day is June 14 and Girls' High will be June 3.

Plans at present call for a joint attendance of the entire family for each of the dates.

The three graduating sisters will all wear fluffy white graduation dresses and there will be no new dress for "big sister" which may be in vogue by the younger girls. Mr. and Mrs. Hendrix have promised that. Each will have her very own, while little brother will wear dark coat and white trousers. Margaretta and Joyce can wear each other's clothes, but Joyce is smaller and requires her own models and she admits that it is quite a thrill to know that when her older sister gets a new dress that some day she will not fall heir to it. It's all right to borrow sister's clothes but inheriting them is an entirely different story.

Margaretta is a graduate of Girls' High school and since entering G. S. C. W. she has taken a secretarial course in which she will graduate, and her present plans call for her taking up this work. Her favorite sports are tennis and swimming and she says her favorite movie star is Robert Taylor, while Madeline Carroll is her choice among the actresses.

Doris is Musical.
Doris is the musical member of the family and is bass viol player in Atlanta's only all-musical group. When she graduates from Girls' High school she is going to follow in her sister's footsteps and enter G. S. C. W. And like her older sister she likes tennis, but there is a diversity of opinion as to her movie favorites. She likes Fred MacMurray and Grace Moore and never misses one of their pictures.

Joyce is the youngest of the trio and agrees with Doris that Fred MacMurray is the "top" but that 14-year-old Deanna Durbin is her favorite rather than Grace Moore. She insists that she and her sisters are "three smart girls" (the movie Deanna Durbin starred in), however, there is, fortunately, no such situation in her family as confronted the three smart girls in the movie. Next year she will enter Girls' High school like her sisters before her have done, but so far has made no plans for college days. It is generally accepted at the Hendrix home, however, that she, too, will go to G. S. C. W.

Norris Jr. is the lone man in the Hendrix graduating quartet and when he finishes at Samuel Inman Grammar school he is going to enter Bass Junior High. His favorite sports are swimming and boxing but he declares that he has made no plans for his "career life."

"Smart Girls."
"I count the buttons on my suits," he said, "you know like rich men, poor men, beggar men, thief, doctor, lawyer, merchant chief and maybe some times when I do that I'll be in the deciding mood and right then and there I'll know what I want to be. I'm like sister, I like Deanna Durbin in the movies. She certainly can sing, can't she? I call my sisters three smart girls. I think they are, don't you? They have lots of dates, but they don't neglect their lessons. Mama and papa and I will be on the front row when they graduate, and believe me, they had all better be there when I graduate, too. I'm already excited. Oh, and I forgot to tell you, I like James Dunn. He's my favorite actor. And my sisters didn't tell you that they don't knit, and they don't play bridge. That shows they are three smart girls, don't you think?"

REPORTERS' MEASURE IS KILLED BY HOUSE

A bill granting newspapermen immunity from questioning in court on information taken by them in confidence was killed by the house of representatives late yesterday.

Coming from the senate to the house, the bill would have created a "privileged" all information obtained by newspapermen in their line of work.

The vote on the bill was 72 for, 48 against, but a constitutional majority of 103 votes is necessary to pass any measure in the 205-member body. Representative Bennett, of Ware county, the only one who spoke on the bill, gave notice he would move reconsideration at tomorrow's session.

The measure was introduced in the senate by Jack Williams, of Waycross, editor and publisher.

ARKANSAS GOVERNOR VETOES NEW GAS BILL

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 24. (AP)—Asserting that approval would violate the 1934 refunding act and imperil the new bond refinancing program, Governor Bailey vetoed today a bill providing the state take over the bonded indebtedness of seven bridge improvement districts and reducing the gasoline tax.

The former measure would have authorized the state to take over indebtedness up to $200,000 per bridge district. It would have increased the state's debt approximately $900,000. The gasoline tax bill called for a reduction of one-fourth of a cent per gallon in the levy and for an additional quarter cent to be added to the county turnback fund for construction and maintenance of farm-to-market roads.

DENTAL SCHOOL PLAN APPROVED BY HOUSE

A senate resolution urging the University System board of regents to establish a dental school at the Georgia Medical College in Augusta was passed by the house yesterday. The resolution urged establishment of the school as soon as funds are available.

ADDED TEXTILE ACCORD WITH JAPAN EXPECTED

Murchison Names American Section of Joint Committee.

WASHINGTON, March 24. (AP)—A spokesman for the Cotton Textile Institute said tonight negotiations between American and Japanese cotton textile manufacturers to limit importations of cotton goods not included in an agreement now in effect probably would be undertaken in the near future.

The present agreement, limiting imports of piece goods to 255,000,000 yards, includes acceptance by Japanese manufacturers of the principle of quota limitation "as regards table cloths, bed spreads, handkerchiefs, cotton gloves, underwear and other specialty items manufactured from cotton cloth, and yarns or thread."

Manufacturers' representatives said they believed this section of the agreement will pave the way for voluntary quotas on other cotton textile products.

The American section of a United States-Japanese cotton textile industries joint committee was named today by Claudius T. Murchison, president of the institute.

Besides Murchison as chairman, other members are Fessenden G. Blanchard, G. Edward Burton, L. W. Chamberlin, all of New York, and Paul Steintorff, United States trade commissioner at Tokyo.

The first meeting of the American section, comprising three Americans and two Japanese, will be held April 1 in New York.

RETURN TO BASIC PAY BY CITY TO BE ASKED UNDER NEW TAX PLAN

Fight for Restoration of Cuts Looms as Council Maps Revenue Details.

A fight for immediate restoration of basic salaries to non-school city employees was in prospect yesterday as Mayor Hartsfield and city officials began the task of working out details of proposed revenue increasing measures which must be acted upon by council in accordance with the provisions of the city finance bill which became law Tuesday.

It was known that several councilmen plan to ask for restoration of workers' salary cuts at the first meeting of council in April.

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday said he hoped all salary cuts can be restored by the beginning of 1938, but because it is not yet known what revenue the proposed increases will bring exactly, it is impossible to effect the full restoration at once.

Efforts to restore reductions in salaries of school department employees will be made in the board of education, it was said.

The schools receive 30 per cent of all the city revenue, with the exception of the fund earmarked for the retirement of the city's $1,700,000 deficit over a period of five years.

Where the city non-school workers have received 5 and 10 per cent cuts below and above $100 per month, school employees' cuts range from 2 to 28 per cent at present, 2 per cent of the cuts having already been restored. Partial restoration of salaries of school employees has been made at the end of each year, amounting to approximately 5 per cent.

Provisions of Bill.

The finance bill passed by the general assembly and approved by the governor gives the city the right to raise the city ad valorem tax rate two mills for a limited period of time, make changes in the water rates and sanitary fees, and readjust prices of business licenses up to a limit of $1,000 per year. Estimates of the revenue the proposed changes will bring are run from $1,200,000 a year to $1,400,000.

A special meeting of city council to act upon recommendations for various rate changes may be called before the next regular meeting on April 5, since the city stands to lose the revenue for April increases in water and sanitary rates unless the changes are voted before that month.

Hartsfield yesterday held conferences with City Comptroller R. Graham West, Assistant City Attorney Bond Almand, H. J. Cates, head of the sanitary department, and W. Zode Smith, head of the water department, discussing the rate schedules.

Smith, it was said, has worked out four proposed rate schedules, which would bring in increased revenues varying from $220,000 to $340,000 annually. The five-year limitation placed on the water rate change by the legislature probably will necessitate a slightly larger increase in the change in rates, since a conservative estimate of the money necessary to repair, modernize and make the waterworks safe is about $1,250,000.

Because of the tremendously detailed work of planning a new sanitary rate scale, council may be asked to put in a blanket lineal foot increase on charges, but only temporarily.

The sanitary department plans adjustment of sanitary fees according to the cost of service to types of property, and this means mainly a year of work, it was said. Charges against certain types of apartment houses will be lowered considerably while costs to certain businesses which create a great deal of garbage will be increased.

The proposed lineal foot increase even temporarily would assess only improved property and would be higher in the downtown area in the inner fire limits than in the residential sections.

Approximate estimate of the cost of this service from the sanitary department is more than $850,000 per year, while the fees charged bring in about half that amount. The department plans to adjust charges to meet costs.

Revision Consideration.

Revision of business license charges probably will be taken up at the tax committee meeting scheduled next week. It appeared certain that beer and wine licenses will be hiked but it was predicted the increases will not be large.

Certain type businesses will have their licenses jumped from the old $200 limit to the new $1,000 limit. These include businesses which do a large volume of trading but pay small ad valorem taxes. Total expected to be raised from this source will not exceed $500,000 a year, it was said.

Due to increased work in preparing the new city ad valorem rate changes, and inclusion of other tax charges, it was said tax bills will be late being sent out this year.

Hartsfield said yesterday that because of the necessity of reducing the deficit, providing for relief and repair of the waterworks department, the city will have little extra money in the general treasury this year.

"We must still economize," he declared. "However, I earnestly desire to restore the salaries of workers and will do so as rapidly as possible. But they must be restored gradually as we work ourselves out of this financial situation."

Several council members said yesterday they will move to restore salaries after money has been set up for reduction of the deficit and for relief.

ALDERMEN'S POWER IS REDUCED BY BILL

Passage of Measure Takes Right To Block With Tie Vote.

Power of the Atlanta aldermanic board to block an action of council through a tie vote was abolished in a general city omnibus bill passed by the general assembly yesterday.

The bill will go to the desk of Governor Rivers and is expected to be signed within a few days.

The provision affecting the aldermanic board grew out of the controversy raised by Alderman Robert Carpenter and Alderman G. Dan Rogers in their fight against the release of city money to the Fulton Department of Public Welfare.

It provides that in case of tie votes in the senate by State Senator G. Everett Millican, it will be a non-concurring vote in a council action, the paper shall be referred back to the general council for consideration of that body as a whole.

Second "Omnibus Bill."

The omnibus bill passed yesterday was introduced in the senate by State Senator G. Everett Millican. It was not the omnibus bill affecting city revenues, which has already been enacted into law by Governor Rivers' signature.

Other provisions in this bill alter the city charter to make the mayor an ex-officio member of all council committees; to organize the present city recorder one year in order to bring their elections at the same time of the general city election, and provide for council election of the secretary engineer of the city planning commission for a three-year term instead of a one-year term.

Another clause which would have created the membership of the library commission to two members, one a woman, from each of the six wards, was killed by the house of representatives while the bill was in conference committee.

Mayor Hartsfield was named ex-officio member of all city council committees by the bill as it was taken off at the beginning of the year. The legislative action makes the provision an amendment to the city charter and not liable to council action in the future.

Stops 3-Man Bloc.

In the future, actions of council, which is a 12-man body, can not be nullified by the adverse vote of three aldermen on papers which require the separate action of the councilmanic board and the aldermanic board.

The bill also provides that when notice of reconsideration is served by an alderman after a vote on a paper has been taken in the aldermanic board, the paper can be taken up again at the next meeting of council.

Alderman Carpenter has on several occasions held up release of the city's relief appropriations for two or three weeks through this notice of reconsideration, which delays action of the paper until the next regular meeting. Under the new provision, if an alderman serves notice of reconsideration, the paper could conceivably be acted upon the next day at a special meeting called by the mayor.

Release of Atlanta's relief appropriation of $12,500 was favored at the last session of council both by the council and by a majority of the aldermen. Carpenter's notice of reconsideration, which he has since withdrawn, automatically held up the paper for three weeks under the old provision.

City officials said the changes in the procedure of the aldermanic board would allow the will of the majority of aldermen and councilmen to prevail without undue delay.

McMackin reported the number of bodies had been "miscounted" in the excitement accompanying the crash, leading to the erroneous announcement by Gerald Galbreath, an employee, that 14 dead had been brought to Salem.

"Compilation in St. Louis of a list of passengers, which carried the names of both 'Jerry Wallers' and 'Jerry Hickson or Nickson,' supported the incorrect death toll until late tonight, when a reckoned showed both were the same person.

The body of the child was so badly burned determination of its sex was difficult, an employee at the mortuary reported. At St. Louis, Leo Seltzer, promoter who organized the troupe, said the child was the daughter of Mrs. Emma Caldwell, of Chicago, a dietician for the skaters.

John Frankbourn, the first man to arrive at the scene, said there was a "deadly quack, except for the crackling of the flames" when he reached the burning bus.

"I found one man dead, lying just off the edge of the highway slab," Frankbourn said. "His clothing was all burned off. Ten feet away I found the body of a small child. Both of its legs and arms were burned off."

"Then I went across the road and found a man alive. I learned later he was Ted Mullen. He was lying on his stomach and his clothes were on fire. He said, 'For God's sake, do something for me.'"

"I began cutting off the burning clothing. Then he said, 'Did anybody get out?' I told him I had seen four persons walking up the road. Their clothes had been burned off. Then Mullen said, 'And the rest were in there? My God, burning alive!'"

Probable Dead.

None of the dead has been identified. The passengers list as given by Seltzer, listed the following as also having been on the bus:

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers believe nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and wastes out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 quarts a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or painful passages with stinging and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, numbness, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, backaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

CHINESE SOLDIERS FIRE ON HUNGER-MAD MOB, KILL MANY FARMERS

Rice Rioting Spreads With Desperate Orientals Storming Offices.

HANKOW, China, March 24.—(AP) The story of soldiers firing upon 500 hunger-mad farmers attacking rice junks (boats) at Yangchow, south-west of Chungking in Szechwan province, reached here tonight from agents of the Bank of China.

A large number of the farmers were killed.

In nearly every section of the province there have been riots, the agents reported.

Starving men and women, their families turned up by seven months of drought, have raided rice shops, kidnapped children to sell them for food and eaten the leaves of trees.

The Yangchow mob, after being turned back by the deadly fire of the soldiers, later attacked and demolished a magistrate's office.

Another mob stormed the magistrate's office at Peisha, also southwest of Chungking, and shouted demands for rice.

Officials lured the mob outside the city walls with promises of relief and then barred the gates.

The bank's agents said an army of peasant women invaded Suining, north-west of Chungking, carrying incense, presumably to worship the god of rain.

Instead, they chopped down the provincial flag, the magistrate declaring the banner was arousing the wrath of the gods because the Chinese word meaning flag (chikan) also means drought.

Elsewhere in the drought area, hungry throngs looted rice shops, driving police from one town when they attempted to make arrests.

Low water in the Yangtze river continued to block ship traffic through gorges, holding back considerable rice from Wanshan.

Fulton's Beer, Wine Curfew Rule Upheld by Superior Court Ruling

Fulton county will continue "dry" on Sundays and between midnight and 6 o'clock in the morning under a superior court ruling delivered yesterday.

Judge E. D. Thomas, following a brief hearing, ruled that beverage dealers who were contesting the county's right to enforce curfew laws on beer and wine, had no ground for action, sustained the county's general demurrer and dismissed the suits.

The suits actually tried was one brought by Paul Wilson, a beer dealer and justice of the peace, who sought an injunction to prevent county police from enforcing the regulations passed by the county commission, contending the board did not have authority to pass such a rule.

North Side pharmacists and restaurateurs seeking a similar injunction contended Sunday sales of beer and wine when people were not allowed to drink beer with their lunches, but withdrew their suit, following the court ruling on the Wilson petition. Clint W. Hager represented them.

Judge Thomas held there were no property rights involved in the action and that permits for sale of wine and beer are merely a privilege which the county may grant, withhold or modify as it sees fit.

Recently Judge John D. Humphries refused an injunction petition sought by a West Side beer dealer who sought to block enforcement of the city's ordinance against sales after midnight and on Sunday.

The county restrictions were passed following the city's action. Later DeKalb county adopted similar regulations.

All petitioners contended they had secured state licenses and county permits and there had been no complaints of disorderliness against them, hence the restrictions could not be enforced under general police powers.

Allen and Miner argued Wilson had been granted a permit to sell beer and expected to enjoy the privilege it afforded but under the county regulations his property rights were damaged. They alleged business had suffered and the regulation discriminated against the businessmen of the county, as other counties allowed the sale of beer without restriction.

At recent county commission meetings large delegations of beer dealers have appeared to request the commission to revoke the "curfew" laws.

charged the paper people "are coming in and fooling our people out of their money." He said he understood pulp mills at Savannah "are working under control methods and are not ruining their country."

Pulp Plants Defended.
Senator Williams, of Waycross, defended the pulp interests. He said the farmers originally set their price for timber and the pulp interests doubled the rate when the farmers contended it was worth more.

Sensor Shedd, of Jessup, said "we have hundreds of thousands of acres of timber in southern Georgia that is worthless until the pulp people come in."

Sensor Flint contended it was wrong to "tax the people of Georgia to support private industry."

Dr. Charles Herty, of Savannah, came in for praise and criticism as the senate considered the pulp and paper item.

"With all respect to Dr. Herty," said Senator Whitehead, of Carlton, who sought to strike the provision, "I think his discoveries will not be a benefit, but a detriment to Georgia."

He said the development of the paper industry, which Dr. Herty has pioneered in Georgia, would "injure the turpentine industry."

Answering Whitehead, Senator David S. Atkinson, of Savannah, said "Dr. Herty is the greatest man Georgia has produced."

"It was Dr. Herty who discovered the method of cupping trees when the turpentine industry was gone and it saved it," Atkinson said. "The turpentine industry, because of his experiments, is greater today than it has ever been."

If anything is deserving in Georgia it is this $10,000 that will help him carry on his work."

The forestry appropriation was the only one to draw more than a passing discussion during items totaling more than $20,000,000 yearly in the general fund.

Key Explains Bill.
Senator James J. Flint, 26th district, chairman of the appropriations committee, received unanimous consent for Representative W. H. Key, Jasper, to make any necessary explanations of the bill, with particular reference to items raised over appropriations for the past year.

Senator Flint himself explained that the bill came to the senate three days ago and that his committee had not had sufficient time in which to study it and complete it before the end of the session tonight.

Mr. Key's remarks included explanation of an item relating to the department of audits, which, he said, was nearly double that of last year. This came about, the house committee chairman said, because of an enormous amount of additional work entailed in handling the new schoolbook and other laws involving considerable

"I don't want to spend any money investigating Talmadge," Senator Harrison said. "He's a dead issue in Georgia. Let him sleep."

Amendments to the bill which do not affect the total amount appropriated included:

By Senator Lindsay, 34th district: Amending the section relating to the Department of Agriculture, which carried an appropriation of 97 per cent of all fees, etc., collection for operation of the department, re-allocating 20 per cent of the total to the state veterinarian for use in control of communicable diseases in cattle and other animals.

By Johnson, 42d: Adding the words "and in the construction of cemeteries over the state" to an item appropriating $100,000 for operating costs of the Governor's office, supervisor of purchases, keeper of buildings and grounds, maintenance of public buildings and grounds, the Confederate cemetery at Marietta and insurance on public property not otherwise provided for.

By Purnell, 46th: Correcting typographical errors as to dates for which appropriation for the state entomologist was to be effective.

Ennis, 20th: To include $30,000 for construction and equipment of a cold storage plant at the state hospital in the regular appropriation for state institutions controlled by the department of public welfare.

Chason, 8th: To include all types of tobacco in an item calling for appropriation in the original house bill for experimental purposes in treatment and cultivation of shade tobacco, under the schedule for the board of regents.

The "grandfather" section, under which should funds not be available to pay the full amount of all appropriations, those of all departments, except the state and legislative and payments on principal and interest on the public debt, would be pro-rated according to available funds, was adopted with little opposition.

An amendment by Senator Jeff Pope, 7th, providing that this appropriation bill would apply for the years 1937-38 and 1938-39 and all succeeding years until amended or repealed, was incorporated in the bill as a new section.

REMOVAL OF BUOYS AT HARBOR HALTED

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 24.—(AP)—H. L. Beck, superintendent of lighthouses at Charleston, S. C., instructed Captain O. N. Vich, of the vessel Palmetto, today to replace all buoys in the harbor here.

Citizens appealed yesterday to Representative Joe Hendricks, when they learned the lighthouse service planned to remove the buoys. They said the channel into the harbor here would be almost impassable should the markings be taken away.

They are charged with stealing an automobile in Nashville on March 20 and transporting it to Atlanta. Before leaving Nashville they are charged with taking another set of license plates and switching tags. On the way down they needed gas and found one quart of oil and 19 gallons of gas. Hungry when they arrived here, they found the heater in the car worth $2 at a loan company on Decatur street and sold it for that sum. They were arrested by city detectives and surrendered to FBI agents, who preferred the charges. The two admitted the charges at the hearing before Judge Griffith.

SOCIALISTS WILL MEET TO CONSIDER POLICY
CHICAGO, March 24.—(AP)—Roy E. Burt, executive secretary, announced today Socialist party members of the United States would meet in special session here Friday to formulate a course of action as a result of "the upsurge of the labor movement."

Burt said the convention would also consider the party's relationship to the international situation and "aggravated conditions of the farmers caused by New Deal policies."

Tennessee Boys' Unorthodox Trip To Florida Fails

Two youths, depressed by family difficulties at home in Nashville, Tenn., and with a desire to see Florida before the tourist season is over, yesterday found their journey abruptly ended here because their method of transportation was very irregular.

They were arraigned before United States Commissioner E. S. Griffith on charges of violating the national motor vehicle theft act and held in $2,000 bond. They are O. D. Mason and Augustus M. Chitwood.

By RUBY M. AYRES

WHAT WAS GONE BEFORE: Heather Anson, now 24, has reared three brothers and three sisters, the youngest of whom, Bobbie, nearly 17, cost their mother her life. Heather started her sacrifice when Bobbie was a year old, telling Bruce Logan, who was leaving England for South Africa, that she could not marry and desert her "children" and Caesar, as they affectionately called their pompous but efficient father. He has insufficient means to maintain a family, the home his father gave him as a wedding present, and writes on a "book" which is never completed. Paul, married to a wealthy woman, is alienated from his family. Betty has just married the well-to-do Stephen Miller and left on her honeymoon. Heather's sister, Vilette, with a second-rate theatrical company in South Africa (formerly in her stage name), writes that she is coming home, and has met the man, who is returning on the same ship. Heather goes to meet the boat, but the man drives Vilette up from Southampton. On Heather's return, Vilette introduces him—she is Bruce Logan! Before going on to London he makes opportunities to be alone with Heather but she resolutely refuses to talk. He finds her in the garden the next day and asks why she has changed. Although admitting to herself she loves Bruce, she asks if he doesn't know Vilette loves him. Her sister's little interest in him is all that matters.

Now go on with the story.

INSTALLMENT XII.

Betty came through the drawing room looking a little self-conscious and paused for a moment in the open doorway for full effect. "The return of spring!" . . . she said gaily. "Complete with husband, luggage and all accessories."

She came forward, hugged Heather, and looked at Bruce, who had risen to his feet. "I know who you are!" she said after the slightest hesitation. "You're Bruce Logan. Isn't that clever of me? I remember sitting on your knee when I was a kid—what a memory I've got." She went to him with outstretched hand, then suddenly changing her mind, lifted her face and kissed him.

"I always used to—years ago," she apologized laughingly. "And it's still quite safe, because I'm married—Stephen—come and be introduced."

Everybody shook hands with Stephen, who, laughing and delighted, scarcely took his eyes off his wife. "Have you come to stay?" Riffie inquired with her usual frankness. "Because if you have, there's only the little room over the kitchen, because Bruce has the other one and—"

"Oh no, we're not staying," Betty assured her. "Just dropping in to say how I've done—going on to town presently." She sank down into a chair. "Well, it's nice to see you all. Where's Caesar?"

"Working on the great novel which is to set the Thames on fire in nineteen hundred and—nothing's pips," Bobbie said disrespectfully.

"I'll see about tea," Heather broke in, almost back into the house. And then Caesar, disturbed by the hubbub, arrived on the scene and they had tea in a battery of questioning and cross-questioning, and laughter and argument, till at last Betty said they must go.

She looked at Vilette. "Come to lunch one day—all of you," she added but the invitation had been for Vilette.

"Because she is the smartest and prettiest," Heather thought swiftly, and then felt ashamed. What was the matter with her that lately she seemed so readily to see the faults in her beloved family? Why was it that their sharp words and tactless ways of putting her on the shelf hurt so much more keenly now than ever before?

Heather went out to the drive, and everyone kissed every one else again before Stephen's big car moved away. She went back to the house with Vilette and Bruce.

Well, that's that," Vilette said a little contentedly. "You'll be clever if you marry me all off so well and comfortably, Heather."

But after on in the evening she went to Heather's room. "I want to speak to you," she said so quietly that Heather looked up in alarm. "Is it true," she continued, "that you and Bruce used to be engaged?"

The hot color flew to Heather's face, but her eyes did not falter. "No, it is not true," she answered.

Vilette made a gesture of impatience. "Well—that you were sweethearts then—," Betty told me. She said that if mother hadn't died, you would have married him and gone with him to South Africa 16 years ago. Is that true?"

Heather stood up, her eyes still on her sister's face, she saw its deep emotion and jealousy, and that her lips trembled in spite of the effort she made to control them, and she thought in despair, "It's no use lying—what-ever I say, she won't believe me."

Vilette took a quick step forward, her hands clenched. "Is it true?" she asked again, and Heather answered quietly, "Yes—it is, quite true—I didn't tell you because it's all so long ago—because it's all quite forgotten."

There was a moment's silence, then the young girl broke out shrilly, "I don't believe you—don't believe it's forgotten; you're not the sort to forget—I believe you're still in love with him, and that's why . . . that's why you're trying to keep him away from me!"

"Vilette's breath came in little gasps. Heather was deathly pale, and her lips were parted helplessly like a child's as if in an effort to form words which refused to come."

Then she moved back a step and shut the door which Vilette had left half open, and standing with her back to it she said very quietly, "You'll be sorry if you say things like that—while you're angry. If you'll try to keep calm, Vilette, I will tell you anything you wish to know, but please don't accuse me of—"

"Of being a humbug," Vilette broke in violently. "Well, I do accuse you of it. I don't know why I've been such a fool as not to guess what has been going on and why Bruce has changed to upset me in the least." She swung around suddenly, her hands clenched into trembling fists. "But I warn you! Leave Bruce alone—and me too! He belongs to me, and I'll keep him—in spite of the fact that you tell Effie and Bobbie to spy on me, and to see I am not left with him! Do you think I don't know? He knows even though he's so decent and tries to be kind to you—and—attentive—so that you shan't feel hurt because he doesn't care for you any more."

Heather's hands fell from her face and she groped behind her for the door handle. "Please go," she said faintly.

Vilette laughed. "Oh, yet, I'll go now that I've said what I wanted to say." But her voice was a little less confident. "As long as we understand each other, everything will be all right. I shall marry Bruce no matter how much you try to separate us, and—and if you interfere any more it will be the worse for you." And with that she was gone.

In some cities of southern Europe, religious processions take place during the last three days of Holy Week. The custom dates back several hundred years, to the period in history known as the Middle Ages.

Hooded Figures in Spanish Easter Week Procession.

In Italy, the cities of Rome and Florence are noted for these processions, and they also have been held in Palermo, Sicily, and Seville, Spain. This year in war-torn Spain we might expect the old customs to be forgotten, but here is a news dispatch recently cabled across the Atlantic:

"It is announced from Seville that the Holy Week processions and Easter festivities will be held as usual this year. A great influx of visitors is expected."

People in Seville (mostly men, but some women as well) have had the custom of dressing in long robes and marching through the city streets on the night of Holy Thursday. The marchers are laymen, but belong to brotherhoods. Their robes are black, with a description of what has taken place in past years:

"Not until after midnight do members of the orders meet in their churches. Their robes are black, white or purple. They wear head-coverings which stretch up as cones, about two feet above the head, and which come down to cover the face except for narrow slits in the cloth through which the eyes can be seen."

On the night of Good Friday, other processions of the same kind are held in Seville. People who do not take part go in crowds to the Plaza and other public places, to watch the marchers go by.

Far older than the processions of Spain is the custom of lighting Easter fires in several countries of Europe. This custom goes back to times before the coming of the Christian faith, and was at first performed as a sign of joy over the beginning of spring. A rodless known as Eostre, or Easter, was honored as the ruler of spring. Christian bishops and priests tried to stamp out the Easter fire custom, but at length it was permitted. The fires usually are lighted on high hills or on mountains. Sometimes the lighting is done by rubbing wood against wood, and in other cases the fire is started with sparks made by striking flint against iron, steel or pyrite.

BANKERS WILL OPEN REGIONAL CONCLAVE HERE THIS MORNING

Two-Day Session Will Feature Discussions of Better Operations.

The opening session of the annual two-day regional conference of the American Bankers' Association will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Biltmore hotel.

An address by Tom K. Smith, of St. Louis, president of the organization, will feature the morning session. Mr. Smith will speak on "Why Bankers Should Counsel Together."

J. S. Kennedy, chairman of the Atlanta committee, will preside and welcome the delegates.

Three daily sessions are planned, with a dinner to be held Friday night. George Fort Miller, editor and publisher of The Chattanooga News, will deliver the feature address at the dinner.

Tonight's meeting will be conducted by members of the Atlanta chapter of the American Institute of Banking. A demonstration on the "Radio in Public Relations" will feature the meeting.

The American Bankers' Association includes in its organization all classes of banks, and approximately 12,000 of the nation's 16,000 banking houses are members of the association.

In January, 1936, the association instituted a series of regional conferences on banking services designed to foster better bank operations and public relations.

The association was organized in 1875 when 17 bankers from various parts of the United States met in New York and issued a call for a general banking convention, held in that year.

Mrs. Crown Lectures From Garden-Like Stage at Constitution School

Large crowds yesterday attended the second day's session of the garden school sponsored by The Constitution. Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, nationally-known horticulturist and director of the school, is shown at the center. To the right is a garden kitchen, furnished by Sears, which enables cooking to be done in the garden. The background of shrubbery was from the Hogansville Nurseries at Hogansville, Ga.

AUDITORIUM PACKED FOR GARDEN SCHOOL

ennial Border." No garden is complete without annuals, which furnish some of our loveliest and most striking blooms.

To Repeat Color Film.

The colored film showing the various stages in developing flowers on the great seed farms of California again will be shown this morning at 9:30 o'clock for the benefit of those unable to attend yesterday's class.

Sears will present another of their colorful fashion parades, this one to be devoted to sports wear and cotton clothes, which play so important a part in every Atlanta woman's wardrobe.

That indispensable article of the schoolroom, the blackboard, was used by Mrs. Crown to illustrate her talk on perennial borders to yesterday's pupils. She adeptly drew borders and paths and showed where various flowers should be placed for the most artistic effect.

First Make Layout.

"First," she said, "you must make a layout of your garden, with two long borders separated by a path down the middle. These may be 25, 50 or 100 feet, depending on the length of your garden. If you wish to make your garden seem small, compact and close to you, a number of various border perennials may be used for the edging on either side of the path. Variety in the edging rows makes the garden appear smaller. However, to make your garden seem longer, the edging should be all one color and all one type of flower, for continuation of the same thing gives the illusion of greater length."

Mrs. Crown suggested candytuft as the ideal plant for the continuous edging, for it increases and spreads and when the flowers die may be cut back to four inches. The green leaves provide a lovely edging and the cuttings from the plants may be rooted and used in next year's garden.

"Rhythm," said Mrs. Crown, "is essential to the perennial border, just as it is to music. And just as melody is a repetition of the same values, rather than placed in one movement, so it is in the artistic border. For instead of putting your showiest blooms all in one big clump, you place them in small clusters throughout the border for accent."

Daffodils Behind.

Daffodils, according to Mrs. Crown, should never edge the border, but should be placed behind the candytuft. When the blossoms begin to die, the latter part of March, the straggling foliage becomes unsightly but must not be cut off if you want them to bloom well next year. If they are placed inside the edging, the foliage may be pushed down and held in place with large "hairpins" made of discarded wire coat hangers. Michaelmas daisies or peonies are excellent plants to place behind the daffodils, for the daisies may be stalked so they drape gracefully to hide the bald spot left by the daffodils, and the foliage of the peonies can be gently pulled out to provide a similar disguise.

Other suggestions for the border included Columbine, the polyantha roses, chrysanthemums, hardy phlox, iris and hellebores. Hollyhocks and other such tall plants should be placed next to the background.

Mrs. Crown emphasized the background as an important part of the border, absolutely necessary to the symmetry of the whole effect. This should be formed of shrubs or a net wire fence over which attractive vines can trail.

Gardenlike Platform. Mrs. Crown spoke from a platform arranged as a simple but effective garden—"like anybody's back yard," as the lecturer described it. Fall shrubs bordered the sides and comfortable furniture, brought from Mrs. Crown's own garden, was placed advantageously. In one corner of the garden was placed a garden "kitchen." Not just an outdoor fireplace was this but a modern device, but an honest-to-goodness kitchen where real meals could be cooked. Resembling an attractive shed for garden tools, the kitchen had doors opened wide to disclose a real sink with running water, shelves for gay garden china, kitchen utensils and covered containers for sugar and such items. It also had plugs for attaching electrical cooking utensils. Mrs. Crown has one of these convenient affairs in her own garden and it provides endless pleasure for her family.

Fashion Show. A fashion show entitled "How to Make the Most of the Clothes Budget," was presented by Sears. The attractive models showed the audience how one basic dress and one basic suit could be so disguised by gay accessories as to become several different costumes, winning much applause.

The daily prize of $15, awarded the Garden Club having the largest percentage of members present, was presented by the Oakland City Garden Club, of which Mrs. A. C. Cawthon is president. The grand prize of $25 will be presented at today's session to the club totaling the most members present for the whole series.

NIRA END PRAISED IN TALMADGE TALK

Former Governor Speaks to Student Club at Chapel Hill.

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., March 24.—(AP)—Former Governor Talmadge, of Georgia, said in an address here tonight that permanent recovery of American business began only after the liquidation of the NIRA, and termed President Roosevelt's court reorganization plan a step toward dictatorship.

Talmadge asserted the plan was "nothing short of a direct effort to have the court subservient to the will of an executive who wishes laws held unconstitutional that would change the present democratic form of our government."

The former Georgia Governor devoted part of his address to a discussion of what he termed the faults of NIRA, and said government recovery expenditures in those days, while bolstering local business, could not be considered a part of any solid business foundation.

FATHER, SON CLEARED OF STINK BOMB CHARGE

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., March 24.—(AP)—Maynard K. Baird, business agent for the Motion Picture Operators, of Knoxville, and orchestra leader, and his son, Maynard E. Baird Jr., musician, were exonerated today by Magistrate Doyle King, of charges in connection with the finding of a "stink-bomb" in front of the Palace theater in Fountain City early Sunday.

"The defendants have shown they weren't there, and under these facts I cannot bind them to the grand jury," said Magistrate King at the conclusion of a preliminary hearing.

RICHLAND MAN NAMED TO WELFARE BOARD

Hallman Bell Appointed to State Office; One Selection To Be Made.

Governor Rivers yesterday appointed Hallman Bell, prominent Richland businessman, to be a member of the State Board of Public Welfare. Bell was given his oath of office by the Governor.

The appointment is the sixth to be made on the seven-member board by the Governor. Lamar Mordough, the director of public welfare, is ex-officio chairman of the board.

The Governor also announced that he has determined on the appointment of John W. Bennett Sr., prominent Waycross lawyer, to be a member of the board of regents of the University System. Judge Bennett will succeed Judge M. D. Dickerson, of Douglas, whose term of office expires July 1.

Governor Rivers said he expected to send the appointment of Judge Bennett, together with other appointees to the board of regents previously announced, to the senate today for confirmation. These include Abit Nix, of Athens, who will succeed Paul Burson, of Monroe, on July 1, and John O. Kennedy, of Savannah, who succeeds Ormonde Hunter, of that city, as soon as the Kennedy confirmation is voted.

Discussing the board of regents, the chief executive also announced that he will reappoint Major Clark Howell, of Atlanta, to the fifth district membership on the board.

An administration-sponsored bill to increase the membership on the board of regents is expected to be passed by the senate today. Governor Rivers, however, is not expected to name these new members immediately although it is reliably reported that one of the posts will go to L. W. (Chip) Robert, of Atlanta, the secretary of the Democratic national committee.

UNSAFE BUILDING SURVEY IS SOUGHT

Federation of Trades Requests Special Committee To Condemn Fire Traps.

Condemnation of Atlanta buildings which are fire traps was sought last night by the Atlanta Federation of Trades.

After formal installation of 1937 officers, the organization unanimously adopted a resolution asking Mayor Hartsfield to appoint a committee of qualified citizens to investigate dangerous buildings and to report fire hazards to the city building inspector and to general council.

The resolution, drawn by Leon Wolford and others representing the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Local No. 225, cited the disaster of the Cable Piano Company building fire in which three lives were lost, and sought prevention of future tragedies through condemnation of hazardous buildings.

BOSTON, March 24.—(AP)—Directors of the United States Smelting and Refining Co. today declared a dividend of $2 per share on the common stock as the company, in its annual statement, reported a profit of $5,455,276 for the year 1936.

YOUTH IS SENTENCED IN ABDUCTION CASE

ROME, Ga., March 24.—Paul Calvin, Chattanooga county youth, has been sentenced to serve five years in the federal penitentiary in connection with the kidnapping of Horace W. Majors, Chattanooga taxi driver, last April 24.

Judge E. Marvin Underwood, who sentenced Calvin, withheld further action in the case of William Tallent and Kenneth Tabor, two 17-year-old youths, who had previously pleaded guilty. It was indicated the guilty pleas would be withdrawn and the two boys placed on trial.

BURKE AND JACKSON DEBATE COURT ISSUE

Labor Meeting Hears Plan Defended by Senators Black, La Follette.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP)—In two public forums here tonight the President's proposals to alter the personnel of the United States supreme court were alternately attacked and defended.

The Economic Club of New York celebrated its 30th anniversary listening to Senator Robert E. Burke, Democrat, Nebraska, and Robert H. Jackson, assistant United States attorney general, debate the issue.

At Carnegie Hall the American Labor Party mustered its trade-union followers to a meeting addressed by Jackson and two senators, Robert La Follette, of Wisconsin, and Hugo M. Black, of Alabama—all favorable to the changes.

Attempt to Take Rights.

Senator Burke assailed the proposal as "the most flagrant example in American history of an attempt to strip the people of the right to say what powers they want to vest in their congress and in their President."

Jackson, defending the proposals, told the Economic Club: "The courts have lately been closing the ways to political compromise of basic problems arising out of the depression and out of troubled industrial relations. The President is seeking, in his policy and in his court proposal, to open the highway to economic and social peace. The closed road may mean a rough detour."

"Industry Sits Down."

To the trade unionists of the American Labor party, who flocked to the President's banner in its first test of political strength last November, Senator La Follette asserted that industry was carrying on a "huge sit-down strike against American labor and the rights guaranteed to workers by the federal government."

Senator Black said at an interview, in response to a reporter's question, that "the sit-down strike is a matter of local law; there is no federal statute on it."

"The way to allay present industrial unrest," he continued, "is to serve the Wagner Labor relations act. Nonobservance leads only to lawlessness."

HONORED AT EIGHTY.

JENKINSBURG, Ga., March 24.—Sons, daughters, grandchildren and great-grandchildren and close friends gathered Sunday at the home of Mrs. Lottie Martin, on the Jackson-Covington road, for a surprise party dinner in honor of William Francis Stodghill, who recently passed his eightieth birthday. The event was kept secret until Mr. Stodghill's return from church.

The average automobile on the highway is four years and eight months old.

Scarlett Creator Confers Monday With Film Crew

Margaret Mitchell will play hostess Monday to George Cukor, famous motion picture director who will direct the film version of her "best seller," "Gone With the Wind."

Miss Mitchell, or Mrs. John Marsh, will confer with Cukor on the background of the story, which is laid in Atlanta and the red clay hills of Clayton county, and on other general points, but she is to have no active part in either the preparation of the screen version or in its filming.

With Cukor will be Miss Katharine Brown, of Selznick International's New York office, who some months ago staged tryouts in Atlanta seeking to find local talent to play the role of Scarlett O'Hara, and Rhett Butler. As a result of this trip, Misses Susan Farrant and Luciusa Robert were given screen tests in New York last week under the direction of Cukor.

Others in the New York party will be Harriet Flag, John Darrow, technicians, and an art director, the New York office announced yesterday. Cukor termed his visit to Miss Mitchell as purely social and not concerned with technical points of the picture's production.

Miss Mitchell will entertain the motion picture party but she said emphatically she will have no active part in filming the story. Her job was finished, she contends, when she made the final revisions before the book was published. It was then she bid Scarlett O'Hara and Rhett Butler good-bye with the intention of renewing her acquaintance only when they move across the screen in an Atlanta theater.

The film men will make tours around Atlanta to acquaint themselves with the southern background and to see the exact locations of scenes described in the book.

2 YOUTHS SUCCUMB TO CRASH INJURIES

Collisions Near Perry and Chatsworth Fatal to Young Victims.

MACON, Ga., March 24.—(P)—Hubert Collier, 17, of Macon, died in a Macon hospital today of injuries received in an automobile accident on the national highway near Perry Monday night.

Collier and a companion, W. J. Cooper, were en route to Miami when their car collided with one occupied by Sheriff C. C. Pierce, of Houston county, and Mrs. Frank Maritote, of Riverside, Ill. The Maritotes, uninjured, abandoned their car and returned to their home.

Collier is survived by his father, H. J. Collier, and his stepmother; three brothers, Harold and H. J. Collier Jr., of Macon, and Harry Collier, of Winter Haven, Fla., and a sister, Mrs. H. J. Selman, of Winter Haven.

BOY, 13, SUCCUMBS TO CRASH INJURIES

CHATSWORTH, Ga., March 24.—Jimmie Holliday, 13, injured in a truck-auto collision Saturday night, died in a Dalton hospital Tuesday.

Funeral services will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at New Hope, the Rev. Fred Brown, of Dalton, officiating.

The boy is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Holliday; one brother, Dennis Holliday; a half brother, Roy Hester, and three sisters, Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Murrell Chapman and Mrs. Bradford Gray, all of Murray county.

AUTO INJURIES FATAL

FREDERICK, Md., March 24.—(P)—Andrew William Walter, six, died today in a Frederick hospital of a fractured skull and brain abscess, resulting from a traffic accident on March 6.

BARRETT EXONERATED AFTER HARRIS APPEAL

Charges of 'Bill Tampering' Against Two Dropped by House.

The house of representatives yesterday exonerated Representative Billy Barrett, of Richmond county, of any wrong doing in connection with the alleged tampering of a bill. Former Representative T. V. Williams, of Coffee county, also mentioned in the investigation into the alleged tampering, also was exonerated.

The action was taken after Speaker Roy V. Harris, a member of the Richmond delegation, informed the house he did not believe Barrett participated in the matter.

The house had adopted recently a resolution calling for the trial of Barrett and Williams after two committees investigated the substitution of a Coffee county local bill.

"I don't believe Mr. Barrett had anything to do with the substitution of the bill," Harris told the house.

Gross, of Stephens, made the motion to drop the charges after Harris finished speaking.

The vote was by voice, with only a few voting in the negative. Harris was presiding.

After the vote had been taken Barrett told the house:

"By the Almighty God that made me I don't know any more about who changed this bill than you do."

Harris told the house:

"The host that can be said of Mr. Barrett is that he has been in bad company in that some of his friends have taken advantage of him."

"As for the charges against Mr. Williams, I ask also that these be dropped since there is not enough evidence for the house to deal with him."

"He states he withdrew his charges against me and the floor leader that this was a frame-up against him."

"He said he made these charges on the floor when he was mad and excited."

FRANKLIN FARMER TRIED IN SLAYING

Solicitor Reports 'Grudge' Existed Between Kinsmen Before Slaying.

CARNESVILLE, Ga., March 24.—(P)—Harris Stone, 40, Franklin county farmer, entered a plea of innocent today when placed on trial for the slaying of Joe Jones, 42, in August, 1933.

Sheriff T. W. Andrews said Stone was arrested by Ogden, Utah, police about ten days ago on a tip from me.

Solicitor General A. S. Skelton said he would complete the state's case against Stone tomorrow and would rely chiefly on the testimony of J. B. Thomas, who he said was with Jones prior to the shooting.

Skelton said Thomas testified he was riding with Jones when the car gave out of gas near a creek several miles from Avalon near here. He said Thomas told the jury he saw Stone with a shotgun and several other men coming up the road and "knew there was going to be some shooting, so he ran up the creek."

Thomas declared he heard "a shot, but didn't look back to see who shot or who was hit."

Skelton said a reported "grudge" between Jones and Stone "was supposed" to have grown out of "some trouble four or five years before" between relatives of the two men.

House Member Cleared of Bill Tampering

Representative Billy Barrett, of Richmond county, is shown above as he appeared before the house yesterday following his exoneration on charges of tampering with a bill. The charges were dismissed after Speaker Roy Harris informed the house he did not believe Barrett, a widely known bridge player, was involved.

JUDGES' RETIREMENT VOTED BY ASSEMBLY

Pension Measure, Approved by House, Goes Back to Senate for Amendments.

Retirement for justices of the Georgia supreme court and appeals courts was voted by the general assembly yesterday, but without connection with the much-debated question of reorganizing the federal supreme court.

"This bill doesn't come as any effort to stack the supreme court," Speaker Roy V. Harris told the house in urging passage of the measure already approved by the senate.

"It was introduced before the national issue came up, and it comes with the approval of those whom it would affect."

Several minor house amendments sent the bill back to the senate for concurrence.

Under the act, judges of either the supreme court or court of appeals might retire voluntarily at the age of 70 if they have served for 10 years on either or both of the courts, and they will receive two-thirds pay—$4,666.66 annually.

They would be given the status of justices emeriti, and the retired justices would form a council for assisting the supreme court in making rules.

Coveted '88 Rum Just Isn't There

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 24.—(P)—Two months of speculation regarding a quart of whiskey—supposedly hidden away since 1888—ended in disappointment here today.

A wrecking company took apart the cornerstones of the old Jefferson county courthouse and found Bibles, old coins, $147 in Confederate currency, a copy of the 1887 city directory and a copy of an old newspaper—but no whiskey.

Plans for acquiring the liquor, with the proceeds to go to the crippled Children's Clinic, were abandoned.

In the trial of cases in which regular justices were disqualified, and in advising the attorney general or members of either house of the general assembly, Retirement would not be mandatory and Harris said he understood not more than two of the justices eligible for retirement expected to take advantage of it immediately.

PURCHASING MEASURE IS SENT TO GOVERNOR

The house late last night passed a Rivers-sponsored bill to abolish the present office of state supervisor of purchases and to create a new state purchasing department which will handle all purchases for the state or more of state agencies.

The measure already has the approval of the senate and now goes to Governor Rivers for his signature.

Senator Millican, of Atlanta, who steered the bill, declared last night that the state will save $1,000,000 annually by co-ordinating the purchases which at present are bought by the various agencies themselves with the supervisor acting in an advisory capacity only.

GOVERNOR PEERY SIFTS LABOR 'SPY' CHARGES

RICHMOND, Va., March 24.—(P)—Governor Peery said today he would move to "insure adequate protection for all citizens" after receiving a protest from W. D. Anderson, legislative chairman of the Virginia Federation of Labor, that "special police" were "spying" on Dickenson county miners and labor organizers.

Anderson wrote the Governor that "hell is going to pop loose one of these days" unless "something" was done about the situation.

Company police, Governor Peery said, customarily are named by the courts, but declared they "must" observe the law. The executive said he would attempt immediately to ascertain the "facts" in the southwest Virginia coal fields.

DANGER OF SINO WAR IS HELD STILL ACUTE

China Considers Tokyo Peace Overtures Mere 'Eye Wash.'

(Copyright, 1937, by United Press.)
SHANGHAI, March 24.—The danger of war between China and Japan still is acute.

Efforts of Japanese civilian groups, such as the economic mission from Tokyo headed by Jenji Kodama, former president of the Yokohama Specie Bank, to effect a program of Chinese-Japanese co-operation, are meeting with little success.

China still is preparing to fight and there is no cessation in the vigorous demands of such Chinese patriotic groups as the "National Salvation Association" that the central government in Nanking unite all Chinese elements, including the Communists, and attempt to expel the Japanese from North China by force.

There are many separate quarrels which might cause armed conflict at any time.

Chinese considered the declarations of the new Japanese foreign minister, Naotake Sato, that Japan has no territorial designs on this country, as so much "eye-wash." They were not surprised when pressure from the Japanese army—which always has been the spearhead of Japanese penetration in this country—forced the foreign minister to repudiate his remarks this month.

The Chinese believe that Japan's friendly gestures "will end as they always have in the past; in new military aggression."

As long as the Japanese army retains independent control of Japan's relations with China there can be no hope of friendship between us," a Chinese official said.

LIQUOR REPEAL READY FOR RIVERS' SIGNATURE

W. K. (Billy) Barrett, of Richmond, and Ex-Representative T. V. (Red) Williams, of Coffee county, growing out of alteration of a Coffee county local bill.

Urged by Harris.

The action was taken on recommendation of Speaker Harris, who said he was convinced Barrett was innocent of any wrongdoing. As for Williams, who also protested he was innocent, Harris said "There is not enough evidence for the house to deal with him."

The proposed constitutional amendment to exempt homesteads from taxation up to the value of $2,000 was sent to the Governor for his expected signature. The two houses had agreed to a conference report Tuesday, but the senate reconsidered yesterday in order to make a minor change in wording. The proposal will be voted on in the June 8 general election.

The Burgin home rule bill, offered in every legislative session since 1924, was killed in the house after having been passed by the senate. Its veteran sponsor, Senator Joe Burgin, of Macon, said he would not press the bill in the legislature, but said he took the defeat of the bill "like a sport." He predicted it eventually would become the law of Georgia. The bill would take away from the legislature the right to pass legislation of a strictly local nature.

Atkinson and Pope, of Cairo, led the senate fight for approval of the conference report on the repeal bill.

Taxes Pared Down.

Besides striking the advertising feature, the report also pared down senate gallanage taxes on liquor and alcohol.

"This is not exactly what I want," Atkinson said, but everything was done by a compromise. That was the way the constitution of the United States was written.

"The liquor folks have failed to keep faith with the drys," charged Senator Walter Harrison, of Millen. Harrison objected chiefly to the striking of the ban on advertising and of a provision to fingerprint all licensees.

Referring to action of the committee in striking the entire advertising feature he had sponsored, Harrison said "One newspaper of this state had kept its staff correspondent busy lobbying against this provision ever since we added it." He did not name the newspaper.

Pope, arguing against the anti-advertising provision, said "newspaper advertising is the least harmful you would have in connection with it."

Feature of Report.

One of the chief features of the conference report was the adoption of the house scale of gallanage taxes and the rejection of an almost double scale proposed by the senate.

On imported liquor the conference committee reported 80 cents a "wine gallon" while the senate had fixed the rate at $1.50. On Georgia distilled liquor made from Georgia products the conference rate was 40 cents while the senate had proposed 75 cents.

On imported alcohol the conference rate was $1.60 and the senate rate $3. On Georgia alcohol, the conference rate was 80 cents and the senate rate $1.50.

Roll Call Vote.

The senate roll call vote on adoption of the conference report was:

Ayes—Atkinson, Atwood, Brock, Burgin, Burrell, Chason, Ennis, Flynn, Fowler, Griner Hampton, Horne, Jackson, Johnson, Knabb, Lindsay, McCutchen, Patten, Peebles, Phillips, Pope, Purdom, Sammon, Shedd, Sikes, Sutton Walker—27.

Noes—Allen, Aultman, Clements, Forester, Greer, Hardman, Harrell, Harrison, Holmes, Jones, McKenzie, Millican, Moye, Neely, Peterson, Pruett, Channon, Terrell, Thrasher, Whitehead—20.

Not voting—Almand, Kimbrough, Williams, Snively—4.

Bill Taken From Table.

Sentile measures acted on by the house yesterday afternoon included the following:

Revision of the laws governing optometrists; tabled, but later taken from the table and made eligible for a new place on the calendar.

Adopted an amendment to the banking laws permitting banks to handle F. H. A.-insured real estate loans without the loans coming under effect of the law limiting real estate transactions to 50 per cent of the capital and surplus of the bank.

Deferred a bill raising the minimum salary exemption from the garnishment law to $3 a week.

Passed a measure granting mutual fire insurance companies permission to issue policies on plate glass. Passed without amendment.

Adopted a bill granting authority to counties of over 3,000 population to regulate, license and tax dance halls or sports arenas operating without the limits of an incorporated town. The bill was adopted with amendments extending the taxing power.

Lee Visits Bradley In U. S. Prison Here

Robert E. S. Lee, the appealing Earl of Pelham, yesterday went out to the federal penitentiary to visit his erstwhile business associate, B. R. Bradley, president of the defunct American Bond & Share Corporation, and presumably looked things over while he was out there.

Lee, it was said, was not particularly impressed by the cleanliness of the penitentiary, remarking he was much more interested in his freedom. He is under sentence of three years for mail fraud in connection with the activities of the American Bond & Share Corporation. He is now at large pending decision on his appeal.

S. C. SENATE SPEEDS APPROPRIATION BILL

Measure for $10,828,170 Reported, Passed on Second Reading.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 24.—(P)—The senate in a 10-minute session tonight adopted its finance committee's $10,828,170 report on the general appropriations bill and gave the bill a second reading with notice of general amendments on third.

Senator Stukes made the motion to adopt the committee report and the senate quickly passed the big bill without debate or discussion.

As approved the bill was above the house-approved measure of $9,588,320, but was below the estimated revenue of $10,543,000 as announced by Chairman Neville Bennett, of the ways and means committee.

The house set the $2,000,000 senate relief bill for consideration at noon tomorrow. Pending was an amendment by the social legislation committee to substitute the original bill.

NORTH CAROLINA PLANS FOR BOND ISSUE

RALPH, N. C., March 24.—(P)—Governor Hogg and his council of state conferred today on the possibility of issuing as soon as possible $4,510,000 in bonds, authorized by the general assembly as part of the state's $147,000,000 apportionment program in the 1937-39 biennium.

The legislature closed yesterday, and in its wake were 1,270 new laws, enacted in 77 legislative days.

COTTONSEED BODY MEETS IN MACON

Association Adopts Program Sponsored by Extension Service.

MACON, Ga., March 24.—(P)—The members of the Georgia cottonseed crushers today discussed the program issued by the agricultural extension service on how to grow more cotton per acre.

The association adopted the plan, which advocates planting seed of the yielding and good stand, fertilizing the cotton liberally, leaving a good stand and cultivating shallow.

"Georgia does not produce as much cotton per acre as do North and South Carolina," declared W. M. Hutchinson, Atlanta, secretary. "If, on the present acreage planted to cotton in Georgia, the same amount of seed per acre as in the Carolinas, we would have produced one-third more bales of cotton."

The annual meeting of the group will be held at Savannah Beach May 31 and June 1, it was announced by P. M. Berry, Atlanta, president.

D. A. R. HITS COURT CHANGE

COLUMBUS, Ohio, March 24.—(P)—Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution unanimously adopted today a resolution opposing any change in the judiciary except by constitutional amendment.

Calotabs Help Nature To Throw Off a Cold

Millions have found in Calotabs a most valuable aid in the treatment of colds. They take one or two tablets the first night and repeat the third or fourth night if needed. Both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

How do Calotabs help Nature throw off a cold? First, Calotabs are one of the most thorough and dependable of all intestinal eliminators, thus cleansing the intestinal track of the germ-laden mucus and toxins.

Second, Calotabs are diuretic to the kidneys, promoting the elimination of cold poisons from the blood. Thus Calotabs serve the double purpose of a purgative and diuretic, both of which are needed in the treatment of colds.

Calotabs are quite economical; only twenty-five cents for the family package, and only ten cents for the trial package. (Adv.)

Bettie May Born Will Wear Paris Model at Her Christening Ceremony

By Sally Forth.

WHEN Bettie May Born grows to young ladyhood and has closets full of pretty dresses and other feminine accessories, she will recall with pride the fact that she wore her first Paris "model" when she was 14 weeks old. In other words, when this adorable infant daughter of Westerfield and Maude Cough Born is christened on Easter Sunday she will wear a dress which was made in France 100 years ago.

The christening ceremony takes place at the home of Bettie May's parents on Winslow drive Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock and Dr. Lester Rumble, pastor of St. Mark Methodist church, will officiate in the presence of members of the immediate families. Acting as godmothers will be the baby's aunt, Mrs. Carl Greene, and Miss Lynette Wilkins, a lifelong friend of Maude Born.

But back to the dress. There is a touching bit of sentiment enfolded in the batiste and exquisite lace which fashions the model. The baby will be the fourth generation to wear the dress, the first to wear having been her paternal great-grandmother, the late Mrs. John Westerfield, of New Orleans. When her daughter, Mrs. Westerfield, was christened it was perfectly natural for her to wear the lovely dress. May grew up and married Jacob Born, and when her son was born, she adhered to the twice-established custom, and took the French dress out of tissue paper for him to wear on the auspicious occasion.

So on Sunday, when Westerfield's young daughter is the principal in the baptismal service, he will follow the family custom, and little Bettie May will wear the dress. It is fashioned princess style, is very long, and is made with rows of puffed batiste and lace. The neckline is formed with the off-the-shoulder effect, which will be particularly becoming to Mrs. Nixon will be recalled as the former Marian Couch. Mr. and Mrs. Maxie Gregg Couch, of Atlanta, are the baby's maternal grandparents.

PRINCETON claimed two of our most attractive young belles last week end when the junior prom took place at this exclusive eastern college. You know, the junior prom is the biggest event of the whole year up there, and, according to Julia Colquitt, it was really one grand affair. The pretty debbie saw Anne Atkins, who goes to Marymount, and is home now for Easter holidays, across the dance floor Friday evening. The two southern girls attracted lots of attention when they yelled "Hey!" to each other.

Up until 6 o'clock that morning the dance was in full swing, and Julia and Anne were awfully popular belles. Julia relates that when she finally got into bed it was nearly 7 o'clock and she was awakened at 11 by the ringing of the telephone and an invitation to "come on over to our milk punch party." It was her date, and Julia hurriedly dressed and went to the party. Although she didn't have any of the "milk punch," she says it seemed to do a lot to restore pep to a sleepy bunch.

There was another dance Saturday evening, and then the girls left for home. Julia visited in Washington before leaving for New Jersey, and now she plans to be off again soon. This time to the University of Virginia to attend the dances the first of April.

IF ANYONE saw a certain prominent young Atlanta matron taking off her shoes at a very formal dinner during the past week end in the west, Sally hopes that she didn't think she was the personification of Secretary Perkins' "southerners don't wear shoes." On the contrary, the young matron had a very definite reason for taking off her shoes. It seems that she, even as you and I, can't remember a snappy story when she wants to tell it.

As the young matron had quite a fund of Georgia humor with which to entertain her western friends, she hit upon the bright idea of taking notes on a small piece of paper and putting it into her shoe. At the psychological moment, she slipped off her shoes and rescued the notes, to which she gave a surreptitious glance before launching into her stories. And Sally is sure she "wowed" the crowd if she told the stories with the same aplomb with which she was rehearsing them before she left home!

HOMOSASSA for fishing was the destination of Charlie and Catherine Nunnally and Bootsie and Dave Black recently, but the darned old fish just wouldn't bite, and the party went to Passe Grille to try their luck. They chartered a motorboat and went out on the gulf—and now prepare yourself for a tall fish story. They caught a 20-pound amberjack apiece in the first 30 minutes, and Bootsie pulled in a 25-pound one.

In fact, their luck was so good—they landed gobbs of red snappers and groupers—that they actually got tired of fishing. From this fisher's paradise they brought back 200 pounds of fish, which was just a third of their entire catch.

And if you don't believe all this, you can see all the events of the trip for yourself. The Atlantans took colored movies during their Florida sojourn, and isn't it grand to tell a "whopper"—and prove it?

Miss Bridges Weds Mr. Lawson At Ceremony in Hollywood, Cal.

MR. AND MRS. J. H. LAWSON, OF LOS ANGELES, CAL.

The marriage of Miss Gladys Adair Bridges, of Atlanta, and Joseph Howard Lawson, of Los Angeles, formerly of Atlanta, was solemnized on February 16 at an afternoon ceremony at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Carl Thompson in Hollywood, Cal. Dr. Stewart Maclean, of the First Presbyterian church in Hollywood, officiated.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing room before an improvised altar banked with calla lilies, palms, ferns and southern smilax interspersed with gold candelabra holding lighted tapers and floor baskets filled with Easter lilies, delphinium and snapdragons tied with large bows of white satin.

Miss Lina Donehue, of Altadena, Cal., the maid of honor and only attendant, wore a blue suit with a white chiffon blouse and navy accessories. Her flowers were gardenias. The bride was given in marriage by T. Carl Thompson, of Hollywood, and was attired in a suit of butterscotch tan, the finger-tip length coat being trimmed with lynx fur. She wore brown accessories and completed her costume with a corsage of white orchids. The bride and Mr.

Thompson were met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Carter Martin, of Los Angeles.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roscoe Bridges Sr., and the groom is the son of Joseph Thomas Lawson and the late Mrs. Telitha Drake Lawson, of Atlanta.

Preceding and during the ceremony, Mrs. T. Carl Thompson, vocalist, accompanied by Mrs. Victor H. Rossetti, at the piano, presented a musical program. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. T. Carl Thompson entertained the bride and groom at a wedding reception and buffet supper. Assisting in entertaining were Mrs. Percy G. White and Mrs. Frank H. Powell.

After the reception the entire wedding party motored to Rancho Comanchita in Hidden Valley, the ranch of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Powell, where they were entertained at a bridal supper. Mr. and Mrs. Lawson spent several days at Rancho Comanchita and afterward departed on a motor trip to Santa Barbara and points along the coast. Mr. and Mrs. Lawson are residing at 697 South Kingsley drive in Los Angeles, California.

John C. Staton Weds Miss Botterell At Canada Ceremony

Of widespread interest throughout Georgia where the groom has many friends is the announcement received of the marriage of John Curtis Staton, of Montreal, Canada, formerly of Atlanta and son of Mrs. John C. Staton, of Montreal, to Miss Jocelyn Mary Botterell, daughter of Mrs. John E. Botterell and the late Mr. Botterell, of Winnipeg, Canada.

The ceremony took place December 30 in St. Luke's church in Winnipeg with Rev. Canon Bertal Heene officiating. The chancel steps were banked with ferns and palms, interspersed with standards of madonna lilies, the same flowers being used to adorn the altar. The church was lighted only by ivory cathedral tapers in brass and wrought iron candleholders, the section of pews reserved for guests being marked by candelabra.

William Crosswell, of Buffalo, N. Y., acted as best man for Mr. Staton and the ushers were David Shephard, George Melvor and Hugh A. Botterell. Miss Frances Gilman was the maid of honor and Mrs. John Alexander was the matron of honor.

The two attendants were gowned alike in dresses of satin backed crepe, designed on long, straight lines. The high rounded necklines were relieved by two lily points at either side and the dresses were slashed to the waistline at the back. The tiny puffed sleeves were finished with broad bands of the material. Detachable flared peplums were girdled with similar wide bands, tying in soft bows at the front.

Mrs. Alexander's was in red earth and Miss Gilman was in jade green. Their matching brimmed hats of felt featured shallow crowns encircled by gold cords. They carried sheaths of Buckingham daisies in biscuit tones and maiden hair fern.

Entering with her brother, John Botterell, by whom she was given in marriage, the bride was met at the altar by the groom and the best man. She was a charming figure in her gown of faconne gold lame made on medieval lines. The bodice, cut with fairly high fitted waistline, featured a square neck and was split at the neck to the waistline. The long sleeves, buttoning tightly at the wrists, were puffed at the shoulders. The full skirt fell in stiff folds over its matching taffeta foundation and formed the slightest hint of a train at the back. Her three-quarter-length veil, of deep ivory silk net, featured a tiny nook to the waistline. Her long crown knot of orange blossoms, slightly gilded. Her colonial type bouquet was of lilies of the valley, Tulips, roses, Bouvardia and maiden hair fern.

A reception followed at the home of the bride's mother, when the bride and groom received with Mrs. Botterell and Mrs. Staton. Mrs. Staton of Buckingham daisies in beige and pinky tones and bows of Johanna Hill roses were used to decorate the room.

Mr. and Mrs. Staton left by train for Minneapolis, from where they will continue by motor to their home in Montreal. For traveling the bride chose a trim, belted dress of soft Kelly green wool, cut on princess lines, its only ornamentation being a row of gold-toned buttons forming of gummetal hooks and eyes. The simple v-neckline was relieved with a scarf of heavy ribbed silk in tones of black and lovely green. She wore a matching felt hat. Her coat was of dark brown English woolen, with a tailored collar and tuxedo buttons and a row of gold-toned buttons. She wore a corsage of hybrid orchids.

Mrs. Botterell wore a gown of coronation blue velvet on long, sweeping lines, trimmed with matching felt. Her hat was of black velvet and featured a cluster of velvet violets and a pink rosette on the front of the shallow crown. Her corsage was of Hollywood roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Staton, mother of the bridegroom, wore a smart dress with a floor-length skirt of black satin and a jacket of silver and white lame. Her black velvet turban was relieved with touches of the lame. She wore a corsage of Labiate orchids.

Today's Garden School Host

Dr. T. H. McHaffon, professor of horticulture and head of his department at the University of Georgia, will be host today at the last session of "The Constitution's" free garden school. He will introduce Mrs. Fletcher Pearson Crown, director of the school and nationally known authority on horticulture. Dr. McHaffon will present the masculine point of view as to gardening. His remarks on horticultural lines, for he has been president of several national and state societies dealing with this subject, will prove interesting and instructive.

Marionette Show To Be Given April 1

The Auxiliary of Emory University hospital, with Mrs. E. H. Rice as president, announces the reorganization of its library committee with Mrs. George N. Lester Jr. as chairman. Among the new members are Mesdames Ray Nixon, Robert Hays, Harris Parks, J. E. Hedges, E. H. Rice and Miss Mildred Jordan, librarian.

Since its beginning in 1923 with Miss Martha Boykin (now Mrs. Richard Bennett, of Chattanooga) as chairman, this committee has furnished a library of over 700 volumes and magazines free to patients. A book truck carries a selection of books to every room each week. This work is considered invaluable by nurses and doctors, as it provides recreation and relaxation for convalescent patients, many of whom are non-readers, away from relatives and friends.

A marionette show is being sponsored by this group at the Druid Hills school on North Decatur road April 1 at 3 o'clock. Ben Hall Jr. and his assistants, Blaine Waha and Tim Hixton, will present an attractive program, including "Jack and the Beanstalk," "Popeye and Olive Oil" and many other favorite characters.

For Miss Jane Lee And Miss Leider.

Mr. and Mrs. Harrison Clarke were hosts last evening at a bridge party at their home on Dellwood drive, honoring Misses Jane Lee and Peggy Leider, of Evanston, Ill., who are the guests of Mrs. McDonald Brittain, at her home on Glenwood drive.

Invited to meet the honorees were Mesdames Frances Spratlin, Helen Clarke, Ranny Geissler, Charlotte Rice, Kathryn Farwell and Frances Meadors, Joel Reeves, Phil Beckwith, Dean Spratlin, "Ick" Mullino, Dick Tomlinson and Corson Hilton.

Planters' Garden Club Elects Mrs. Marshall As Its President

Election of officers featured the meeting of the Planters' Garden Club held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Edward F. Daniel on Ponce de Leon avenue. Mrs. Rembert Marshall was elected president and the officers who will serve with her include Mesdames Alex King Jr., first vice president; B. M. Grant, second vice president; William Sibley, recording secretary; M. Hines Romets, corresponding secretary; Hal Davison, treasurer.

Mrs. Thomas K. Glenn was elected honorary president for life. Mrs. Neil Conrad, retiring president, presided.

Mrs. Glenn offered, through the Planters, five acres at Glenridge, the Glenn estate on Sandy Springs road, for a community center for garden clubs and other organizations.

Also, it was decided that the club sponsor a Fulton county flower and vegetable show, the exhibits to be limited to those grown by residents of this county.

A committee was appointed, Mrs. Alex King Jr., chairman, to perfect plans for the wild flower exhibit to be held in April, this being an annual affair, inaugurated by this club.

Mrs. Edward B. Daniel Jr. was made chairman of the committee to cooperate with the Peachtree Garden Club in the beautification project of Peachtree road. Others on this committee are Mesdames Charles Conklin, Thomas Daniel, Robert F. Shedd, Paul Miller and H. Clay Moore.

Donald Hastings spoke on ground coverage.

Following the meeting Mrs. Daniel entertained at tea. She was assisted by Mrs. William T. Perkerson and Mrs. H. F. West.

Mrs. Simpson Plans Party for Mrs. Rivers

Mrs. W. R. Simpson will entertain at a bridge-luncheon at her home on Monday, honoring Mrs. E. D. Rivers, charming first lady of Georgia. Mrs. Simpson will be assisted by her sister, Mrs. L. L. Anderson, and her niece, Miss Marjorie Rodgers.

Invited to meet Mrs. Rivers are Mesdames Frank Gues, Kathleen Hogan, Albert Woodruff Jr., C. A. Mathews, D. P. Phillips, John Courtney, W. T. Hardage, H. T. Andrews, J. L. Bond, George O'Beir Jr., J. ## Hollywood Today

By SHEILA GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, March 24.—Who shall play whom in "Gone With the Wind" continues to be the favorite pastime, not only with fans, but with the busy inhabitants of Hollywood.

Every day a new rumor, followed by a new denial, keeps the conversation smoke pots burning. Now comes news that David Selznick will be able to borrow Clark Gable from his M-G-M masters if—and it's a very big if—

Selznick International will release the famous story through M-G-M, instead of its usual United Artists channel.

This arrangement would undoubtedly entail a fat profit for the wily Leo.

But it remains to be seen whether United Artists will be willing to forego their claim on what promises to be the most important, financially, of the Selznick output.

An additional brain teaser, the name of Norma Shearer has been cast into the arena of those who want to play Scarlett O'Hara. Executives in the Selznick office are darkly mysterious when questioned on this point—refusing to say "yes," but also refusing to say "no." M-G-M, to which Miss

Shearer is under contract, professes complete ignorance of the matter. We shall see.

How would you like to see Constance Bennett and Joan Bennett in the same picture? Pending an unfavorable reply to this question, Walter Wanger is considering casting the sisters as star and stand-in, respectively, in the Clarence Boddington, Kelland magazine story, "Stand-In." It is quite a while now since Constance was rated in the top bracket of stars.

But Wanger is hoping that the popular Joanne, the younger sister, is high enough to bring her back to her old place in the film sun. Leslie

Howard is wanted for the part of the banker who comes to New York to

New York to visit the star and falls in love with her stand-in, thinking she is the star.

The singing voice of John Boles is heard two times in the picture. But if R-K-O-Radio has its way, he will sing with Irene Dunne in the Jerome

Kern-Dorothy Fields musical, "The Joy of Living." The pair last appeared together in "The Age of Innocence."

An exceedingly strong cast will support Marion Davies in her next picture, "Warner Brothers' "Ever

Since Eve." In addition to Robert

Montgomery, funsters Allan Jenkins,

Hugh Herbert and Louise Fazenda. Canavari in the film, dealing with a lifelike stenographer (Miss Davies) who loses job after job because her employers persist in falling in love with her—particularly boss Bob Montgomery, who appears as a short-sighted

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

She likes to push him to the wall.

Some girls have a habit of pushing their boy friends into corners. And sometimes you can't help feeling sorry for the poor fellows. They look so helplessly caught.

It's a neat little trick. The girl poises herself right under a lad's chin, and then as the lad backs away the girl inches up on him. When he reaches the wall he's stuck, and she has him right where she wants him.

Oh, it's extremely neat. But it does not do a girl a bit of good.

It's true that her motives may be of the highest. She may simply be trying to tell a rattling good story with effectiveness. But it's going to be hard to make the man believe that.

He can't shake off the idea that he is being cornered for life. And the whole bunk is likely to give the fellow a case of claustrophobia that he'll hop the next freight boat for Somoa.

If you don't believe it, try it on a man sometime—but not if you want him to stay by you. JEAN.

Mrs. T. L. O'Connor Honored at Dinner

Mrs. T. L. O'Connor, of Providence, R. I., who is spending some time with her son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Philip L'Engle, at their home on Peachtree circle, was the central figure last evening at the dinner party at which Mr. and Mrs. L'Engle entertained at their home.

The table in the dining room was overlaid with an imported lace cloth and was centered with an antique silver bowl filled with tallies, roses, bronze snappers and gervais, which formed a beautiful decorative motif.

The affair was in celebration of the honor guest's birthday anniversary and assembled 15 guests. Mrs. O'Connor wore a handsome model of black net over black satin and Mrs. L'Engle was beautifully gowned in a black satin dinner dress.

This evening Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Biers entertained at a dinner party at their home on Ponce de Leon avenue, for Mrs. O'Connor.

SUSPENSION PROVISION CHANGED BY ASSEMBLY

Governor Ordered To Call Session If He Removes Treasurer, Comptroller.

The house yesterday passed, 115 to 0, a senate bill providing for the Governor to call a special session of the general assembly in event he should remove either the state treasurer or comptroller general.

Introduction of the bill in the senate was a direct outgrowth of the suspension by former Governor Talmadge last year of Treasurer George R. Hamilton and Comptroller William B. Harrison.

Under the old law the Governor was required to report his action at the next regular session of the general assembly for approval or disapproval.

Power of the state entomologist in regulating the growth, handling, shipping and quarantining of plants was increased in a senate bill passed 126-7. An amendment by the house to fix the term of the entomologist of four instead of two years will require further senate consideration.

The house passed without amendment a bill allowing the board of regents to retain in its treasury all funds obtained from units in the University System rather than report the funds to the state treasurer before spending them.

SENATE CUTS RATES ON HOUSE TAX BILL

Exemptions on Income Levy Remain Same; Corporate Provision Changed.

The state senate yesterday reduced house-approved rates on state income taxes and sent the bill back to the house for approval of the changes.

The senate-proposed rates are generally higher than those now in effect. The bill would reduce exemptions from $1,500 to $1,000 for single persons and from $3,500 to $2,500 for married persons.

The senate proposed these rates on net income:

One per cent on the first $1,000, 2 per cent on the next $2,000, 3 per cent on the next $2,000, 4 per cent on the next $2,000, 5 per cent on the next $3,000, and 6 per cent on all over $10,000.

Under the house scale the rate would be five and one-half per cent for $10,000 to $12,500, 6 per cent for $12,500 to $15,000, and a gradual rise to 10 per cent on $40,000 to $50,000 and 15 per cent on all over $50,000.

Sponsors of the senate scale estimated it would produce $6,000,000, which is $400,000 less than the estimated revenue from the house measure.

The senate fixed the corporation income tax on a flat 5 per cent basis. The rate is now 4 per cent and the house had voted to place it at 6 per cent.

KOREAN SENTENCED IN POISONING CASE

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 24.—(AP)—A maximum sentence of five to ten years in jail and fines of $2,000 were meted out today to Chang Poole, Korean houseboy found guilty of second-degree assault in the poisoning of two relatives of his employer.

A jury returned the assault verdict after trial of five weeks on indictments charging the servant with attempting first-degree murder. The state sought to prove that Chang, houseboy for wealthy Mrs. Ida J. Churchill, poisoned the food and dentures of Mrs. George Moore, of Mooresville, Ind., who had come east to live with Mrs. Churchill.

Contract Bridge

By ELY CULBERTSON, World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, "The Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily installments.

REBIDS—INTERMEDIATE ZONE.

Situation: The symptoms of this zone are of two kinds:

(a) The opener has a weak hand, but the response was a suit take-out (forcing for one round) which may show either a weak or a strong hand.

(b) The opener has a strong hand, but the response was a no-trump or a single raise, which may have been highly shaded.

(a) With a weak hand, the opener should try to show partner the distribution of his hand, by bidding no-trump if he can do so at the level of his own opening bid, or a single raise if he has adequate trump support, by showing a new lower-ranking suit, or by rebidding a rebidder's suit.

(b) If the opener is strong but responder may be weak, opener should make a rebid which shows strength but which responder need not carry to game unless he has rebid values of his own. A jump raise in partner's suit, a jump rebid of opener's suit, a bid or raise to two no-trump, or a no-trump bid of a new suit at the level of three, which is forcing for one round, but which need not be carried to game. Also included in this category are "reverse bids."

TODAY'S HAND. "Dear Mr. Culbertson," I submit for your pleasure, a remarkable example of how to pull the tough ones out of the fire (with a little help from one's opponents).

North-South vulnerable. NORTH: ♠ A 7 3 2, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ K 10 9 8 7, ♣ K 10 9 8 7. SOUTH: ♠ K 10 9 8 7, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ A 10 9 8 7, ♣ A 10 9 8 7.

"The bidding: North (that's I) bid a heart. South (my wife) bid two clubs. North bid two spades. South bid five clubs. East and West passed throughout.

"West opened spades through my secondary bid. South carelessly played the low spade from the dummy and took the trick with the king in her own hand (a most unusual play, usually used on opening bids before 'counting' 10). She then glanced toward the ceiling and counted softly to herself (I knew she wasn't counting).

"South now led a small club toward the nine in the dummy. She said afterward she hoped to drop the ace singleton (whatever that means). East won with the queen and returned (you'll never guess)—a spade! South discarded the jack of diamonds and the following two spade leads from the dummy, trumped a diamond, and spread her hand in a conciliatory way, making five clubs!

"Later East asked West why she hadn't led her ace of diamonds. West asked East why he led back a spade. Did I ask my wife why she didn't play the ace of spades on the opening lead? Did I ask her why she didn't play the hand at four hearts? No! I had left her to her own devices.

"Your truly, W. B. S." My correspondent implied, although he does not so state, that declarer could have made the contract legitimately by putting up dummy's spade ace on the first lead. This, of course, is not so. Declarer could discard only two losers on the queen and jack of spades, and West had had to follow to the third round. There still would be a loser in one of the red suits, and two club losers.

Of course the bidding was not so good. Four hearts was the correct spot.

TODAY'S QUESTION. Question: Partner opened the bidding with one club. In my proper response one no-trump or one diamond with the following:

Answer: One diamond. NORTH: ♠ A 10 9 8 7, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ K 10 9 8 7, ♣ K 10 9 8 7. SOUTH: ♠ K 10 9 8 7, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ A 10 9 8 7, ♣ A 10 9 8 7.

TOMORROW'S HAND. North, dealer. Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH: ♠ A 10 9 8 7, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ K 10 9 8 7, ♣ K 10 9 8 7. SOUTH: ♠ K 10 9 8 7, ♥ A 10 9 8 7, ♦ A 10 9 8 7, ♣ A 10 9 8 7.

A dinner in his honor will be held at 6:30 o'clock Saturday night at the Ansley hotel. Invitations have been extended to Governor Rivers, Mayor Hartsfield, Major General George V. Horn Moseley, and other prominent officials.

He will be accompanied on his visit by Mrs. Leavitt.

CONFESSED KIDNAPER HANGS SELF IN JAIL

BUENOS AIRES, March 24.—(AP) Jose Gancedo, arrested by police to have confessed kidnapping and slaying of the two-year-old son of a wealthy Argentine landowner, committed suicide today by hanging himself to the bars of his jail cell.

Gancedo, an itinerant man, was being held at Delorain, near Mar Del Plata, after he had repudiated his confession and refused to re-enact the kidnapping of Eugenio Perera Irazola, son of Simon Perera Irazola.

NEW POISON MAY SAVE LONG STAPLE COTTON

WPA May Demonstrate Method Expected To Restore Sea Island Crop.

Protected by a new boll weevil poison, Sea Island cotton will attempt to regain the supremacy it held before being hit by the weevil in 1918.

Georgia WPA officials have accepted a Lowndes county project to demonstrate boll weevil poisoning in that county and the project has been submitted to federal WPA authorities for final approval and appropriation of the money for the undertaking.

When the boll weevil hit Sea Island cotton in 1918, production was gradually reduced from 50,000 bales to a mere nine bales in 1929.

The new poisoning solution consists of a mixture of calcium arsenate with syrup and water applied directly to the bolls by means of a small pump. Since the boll weevil has a sweet tooth this method has proved successful in laboratory tests.

Manning S. Youmans, state entomologist, will co-operate with the Lowndes county project.

Production of 26 bushels of Sea Island seed at the Pee Dee Experiment station, near Charleston, S. C., gradually reduced "The Sea Island crop from destruction. A group of north Florida farmers took over the supply of the Pee Dee Experiment station and planted it in 1935. Fifteen bales of cotton resulted. In 1935, 175 bales were grown and 1,068 bales were grown in 1936. Seventy-one of the 108 bales were sent in south of Georgia.

Five thousand bales of the Sea Island crop are predicted for 1937 and the price is now 37 to 40 cents per pound expected.

A Rhode Island firm took over Georgia's crop last year and exported it to Europe, where it was used in the manufacture of fine lace, thread, airplane fabrics and typewriter ribbons.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES PLANNED BY CHURCHES

Easter Cantatas To Be Sung by St. Luke's and Other Choirs.

Special Good Friday services will be conducted in Atlanta churches tomorrow as part of the Holy Week observances now being observed in the city.

St. Luke's Episcopal church, the Rev. George P. Taylor, of Tryon, N. C., will preach on "The Seven Last Words." Services will begin Friday at 8 o'clock.

St. Philip's Episcopal church, the Rev. Charles Moore will be the theme of the musical program by St. Luke's choir with Hugh Hodgson, director, at the organ and Miss Irene Lettich at the piano.

"The Seven Last Words of Christ in the Light of the Unseen" will be the subject of the meditations by Dean Raymond de Oliveira in Good Friday services at the Pro-Cathedral of St. Phillips. The prayers and intercessions will be conducted by Canon Charles F. Schilling.

St. Paul's Episcopal church will direct the services at the East Point Avenue Methodist church, speaking on "The Last Words of Jesus on the Cross" at 7:15 o'clock.

The Epworth League will conduct the Easter night services.

The Atlanta School of Oratory and Expression will present students from the adult classes Saturday morning at 11 o'clock in an Easter recital at 204 Wesley Memorial building.

Appearing on the program will be Christine Rahn, Mary Ann Schultz, Dorothy N. Williams, Sam Williams, Gene Walker, Beverly Magbee, Gene Withers, Evelyn Long and Carrie Donald.

Special Good Friday services have been arranged at the Druid Hills Presbyterian church. The Rev. W. M. Elliott Jr. will be in charge of the services, which will begin at 8 o'clock. Special music will be furnished by the choir directed by Haskell Boyter.

Although we are becoming increasingly posture-minded, Caroline Brown, authority on posture and physical sculpture, finds the average figure in need of alignment to correct housewifery, prominent shoulder blades, protruding abdomen—or even knock knees! Any one of these defects will make you look older than you actually are.

Standing against the wall, to align your figure in correct posture, is fine as long as you stand there. The alignment, according to Miss Brown, should be from the inside. Try to imagine a line running from the center of your head down through your body and intersecting with another line running horizontally through the shoulders at the sides, knees flexed and feet flat on the floor. Try to touch the small of the back to the floor. Now raise the buttocks off the floor until the body is in a straight line from head to the ankle at the knees. Very slowly, as if you were moving one vertebra at a time, begin to lower to the floor. The longer you take, the better the exercise.

Sit up with legs straight out in front of feet together. Have the back straight so that a right angle is formed at the hips. Without disturbing this angle, lie back on the floor with feet up in the air, knees straight. Increase the muscular work of the legs by curling the toes down toward the body. Can you do it? Then, without pushing yourself with the hands, return to sitting position and try it over again.

Now for an exercise in standing position: Up on the toes, the body in line, feet flat on the floor. The back is straight, hips and thighs in line. Hold the arms straight out at the sides. Without lowering the heels to the floor, slowly go into a half knee bend. Do not move your feet. Repeat the half knee bend several times, continuing to hold the arms straight out at the sides. That will give you a sense of balance!

Take all these exercises slowly. They should leave you feeling relaxed and rested.

Simple Patches Form Flower Quilt

The "red, red rose," so oft extolled in poetry and song, can be all colors of the rainbow when a quiltmaker takes it in hand. A little time, a little material, and just see what loveliness fingers and needle can create with this simple applique pattern. The rose and the leaf require but one patch each, and then you have put to outline the petals with floss of darker hue. This quilt takes gaily to the use of scraps; the block measures 8 inches. In pattern 5825 you will find the Block Chart, an illustration for cutting, sewing and finishing, together with yardage chart, diagram of quilt to help arrange the blocks for single and double bed size, and a diagram of block which serves as a guide for placing the patches and suggests contrasting materials.

the beginning. Washing is not supposed to dim the bright colors obtainable in these paints.

Of course, these items may not sound as entrancing or interesting as silver patterns and new chins, but they are good sound sense.

And then the floors. See that they have a good, stout wear-resistant finish—one that will take wear perfectly and one that has no rough spots. Of course you can always fix them up later, but it is much easier to use, inexpensive varnishes on the market, quick-drying, too—but you'll want your home perfection itself, to start with.

Here's something you just must attend to—if your landlord won't do it, do it yourself. Fix those gleaming, fresh enamel shelves and crisp electric chairs in the inside of the dish cupboards are painted a color that makes a nice background for your china. And have your shoe shelves built in just where you want them, where she found them.

These are just a few important points for the bride or for the householder of long standing. They are of great importance in every home, and can be obtained and cared for in little time and at less cost.

'YOUR FIGURE, MADAME!'

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

POSTURE DEFECTS AGE FIGURE. Age has nothing to do with posture. . . . posture has everything to do with the age you look. To all appearances, posture can add or subtract years from the date on your birth certificate.

Although we are becoming increasingly posture-minded, Caroline Brown, authority on posture and physical sculpture, finds the average figure in need of alignment to correct housewifery, prominent shoulder blades, protruding abdomen—or even knock knees! ## FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: If I have done wrong I want you to tell me that I have. I am a widow with an only daughter. Her husband has never made a living for his family and so she has to work. I stay at home, keep the children and do the housework for which she pays me a small sum. I have tried my level best to attend to my own business, never to meddle with my daughter's marriage. Recently my son-in-law has been bringing a friend here to the house while his wife was at work. He didn't like the looks of things and one day I told this young lady that I thought it would be much better if she didn't come back. She reported it to my son-in-law and he to his wife. I imagine my surprise when my own child told me I should have her mind to take it. Can you imagine such a state of affairs? PERPLEXED MOTHER.

Surely it would take super-human self-control for a woman to witness what you have witnessed and remain silent; yet this, my friend, is the price of living in another's house. Feelings run over but almost any other mother would have done what you did. So don't blame yourself but resolve that hereafter you will leave all such matters to your daughter and let her dispose of them.

And you mustn't feel hurt with your daughter. She found it easier to hear her cross when she thought nobody knew of it. She was pretending that all was well, though she knew it wasn't. It's strange but true that we can endure humiliation more easily when we believe that nobody is on to us. Your interference forced your daughter into the open, made trouble between her and her husband and as is always the case when an outsider comes between a married couple, they both jump on the outsider. This relationship between a man and his wife is delicate, too delicate for the touch of any hand but theirs, as you have found out to your sorrow. Yet by friendly gestures to the son-in-law and by sympathetic understanding of the daughter's position, you can, no doubt, heal the wound.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Several days ago I read in your column an account of a college girl justifying herself for her relations with a married man. Her excuse was that she had a right to take advantage of a man who was in love with her. DEAR MISS CHATFIELD: Several days ago I read in your column an account of a college girl justifying herself for her relations with a married man. Her excuse was that she had a right to take advantage of a man who was in love with her. This relationship between a man and his wife is delicate, too delicate for the touch of any hand but theirs, as you have found out to your sorrow. Yet by friendly gestures to the son-in-law and by sympathetic understanding of the daughter's position, you can, no doubt, heal the wound.

TORRANCE GROUP GIVEN CLEAN BILL BY N. Y. COMMISH

Brodie Indicates He Will Ask License for Self, Torrance.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(UP)—The New York Boxing Commission concluded its investigation of the Louisiana "tanager" scandal today and exonerated virtually every one concerned, while Max Schmeling sailed for Germany on the Queen Mary after failing to enter Champion Jim Braddock into a Berlin ring.

The commission gave every one except Jack Phillips a clean bill. Phillips is the New York heavyweight who claimed he was instructed to take a "div" for big Jack Torrance, former champion shot-putter, at Baton Rouge, La., on February 10. The commission has been unable to locate Phillips.

Chairman John J. Phelan said the commission had no evidence that Mike Jacobs, 20th Century Club promoter; Mushy Jackson, a Jacobs employee, and Ed Frayne, a New York sports editor, had any connection with the scheduled "tank" act. Phelan said he was convinced that Torrance was entirely innocent in the case.

It was revealed that "tanager" Phillips entrained from New York for Baton Rouge without having his manager, Sam Vogel, sign his contract. Hence, rather than have a temporary manager appointed to sign in Louisiana, Torrance's manager, Herb Brodie, signed Mushy Jackson's name to Phillips contract. By so doing he saved the temporary manager's fee, Brodie testified today. Brodie testified that Jackson had nothing to do with Phillips and didn't know his name had been used until the scandal broke.

BORR JACOBS' NAME.
Promoter Jacobs swore under oath that he had not sent telegrams to a New Orleans promoter, although such telegrams were exhibited today. These telegrams, giving names of "set-up" opponents for Torrance, bore Jacobs' name.

Promoter Jacobs came to the investigation from the Queen Mary where he and Schmeling's manager, Joe Jacobs, said good-bye to the former champion and his trainer, Max Machon. Schmeling said he would return to New York early in May to begin training for his contracted bout with Braddock at Madison Square Garden on June 3. He said this was his third trip to the United States for a title meeting with Braddock—for which four contracts already have been signed. These trips cost him more than $15,000, he said.

Rain Halts Rookies In Baron Practice

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 24.—(P)—Rain halted training activities for the 40 rookies in the Baron camp today, but regular reports for practice later in the day, and were given a brisk workout.

The Baron play Bemis Bag Company tomorrow in their second exhibition contest. Cy Moore and Kinner Graf were listed as probable hurlers.

BREAK O'DAY!
By Ralph Wolke

The telephone rang in the golf shop at Capital City. "Wullie" Livingstone picked up the receiver and said "Hello." He listened a moment.

"She said to tell Grandpa she won," said "Wullie." Whereupon Grandpa Howard Beckett put down his cane and began to do the Highland Fling. He broke a glass in his showcase and stepped on the tail of the cat which lives in the shop.

A member came in. "What is it?" he asked another grandchild. "Dorothy Kirby just won her second match at Augusta," explained "Wullie" Livingstone.

Whereupon the member joined in the dance. Miss Dorothy Kirby yesterday defeated Miss Grace Amory, who is listed as residing at Palm Beach and New York. The score was 5 and 4.

It became rather significant because of the fact this same Miss Amory had on the day before defeated Helen Hicks, former national woman's champion and now one of the leading women professional golfers.

Just a few minutes before the word came through, Grandpa Beckett had been suffering over the telephone. His blood pressure was up nine points and his suffering was acute.

"Dorothy is playing very well," he said. "If she can get a little steadier around the greens I think she may beat this Miss Amory today."

Evidently Miss Kirby was rather steady about the greens. The margin was rather wide.

Today Miss Kirby meets Miss Marion Miley, the Lexington, Ky., girl who has been a consistent winner in the last two seasons of play. Dorothy Kirby has the game. Her experience is less. But she may defeat Miss Miley.

THE OLD AVIATOR.
Grandpa Beckett flew back from Augusta. He left Augusta at 5:30 p. m. and arrived in Atlanta at 5:28 p. m. That happens to be minus two minutes. The difference in time permits it.

It was Grandpa's first flight. These old people of today carry on something terrible, flying about the country a mile or so in the air.

"Who all did you see down there?" "Well, I saw Bobby Jones."

"How was he hitting that golf ball?" "Very well. But he seemed to think he lacked a little concentration. That was his trouble, as you wrote, last year. And the one before."

"But he was hitting the ball well?" "Yes. And he looked to be in great shape. The best, I think, he's been in since he quit competitive golf."

"Who'll win the Masters' tournament?" "Well, I'm not telling you. Call me tomorrow."

Grandpa Beckett is thinking about flying back to Augusta. He is a sucker for air travel just now and the airplane salesman might well pay him a visit. He might sign up for an air trip to South America. Or to China. Like as not he will be making model airplanes before another day is done.

HERE SUNDAY.
On Sunday four of the ladies will be here to give a golf exhibition.

Miss Kirby is one of them. Another is the grinning, hard-hitting Mildred Didrikson, the great little gal from Texas who has fought her own fight and who is going to do all right in this little world of ours. She deserves it.

And still another is Helen Hicks, one of the best women golfers of her day and now a leading professional.

And last but not least is Patty Berg, the little mid-western girl with freckles and charm, who is perhaps the best amateur golf player in feminine competition today.

They will play at East Lake Sunday afternoon. The golf nuts may view the match for one-half a dollar. The sum was set at that price so that all the golf nuts might be on hand.

It is quite a foursome. And one which merits a lot of attention. And one which, no doubt, will receive a lot.

It may not be more than another year or so before our own Dorothy Kirby is the best woman golf player in the world. She needs experience. And she is getting it slowly. And not in good, big doses. She is getting larger and stronger. And if, one of these days, her game falls into its proper groove, she will start going places.

They'll all be on view Sunday afternoon. All the golf bugs are invited to be on hand. This ought to be worth running after.

The Babe alone is worth the trip. To see that Texas gal wallop a golf ball is fun.

FISHING WEATHER.
Once upon a time, I thought a ring master at a six-ringed circus was the busiest man in the world. Busier, even, than a one-armed paper hanger with an itching ear.

But yesterday I saw Roy Harris, master of the art of parliamentary tactics, managing the chair of the house of representatives.

The ring master of a circus really has an off-day in comparison.

Roy Harris, one of the ablest of all legislative leaders, found time to look out the window now and then. And to sniff the spring air that came into the turbulent hall.

"Know what I'm going to do when all this is done?" he asked.

"What?" "I'm going fishing."

Another Commercial League Formed Here

A Commercial league baseball league was formed Wednesday night at Beck & Greig sporting goods department which will operate independently from the regular Commercial league which has been organized for the past three years. The league has an opening for one more team. Play will start about April 17. Teams desiring information call Jimmie Harbison at Walnut 2010.

MISS KIRBY EXPECTS STERN BATTLE TODAY
By Dorothy Kirby.

FOREST HILLS HOTEL, AUGUSTA, Ga., March 24.—What a day! The bottom really fell out when we came to the fifth hole. You could hardly see the green. I won my match with Grace Amory by 5 and 4. At the turn I was just one up, but glad to be that.

Starting out, we halved the first hole and I won the second with a par 5 and the third with a three, which was a birdie. I lost the fourth to a par 3 and also lost the fifth to a par 5. This fifth hole was something else. I sliced my drive into the rough and landed right up against a clump of trees. The ball was so well surrounded by other small bushes that I couldn't even address the ball with the club, so naturally I missed the hole up and lost it.

It was a tight match all the way, especially on the front side, but on the tenth I seemed to get the touch of putting and chipping and as a result won 3 holes in a row and went four up. And that was about all there was to it.

Babe Didrikson and Miss Beard had a good match and the Babe won on the 19th green, so the semifinals will be between Marion Miley and me, with the Babe playing Jane Cothran, who beat Virginia Guilfoyle.

I have never played Miley in a tournament, but I expect to really have a battle with her. The sun is shining now after everybody has finished playing, so it may be that it will be clear for tomorrow.

NELSON LEADING NORTH AND SOUTH WITH 139 TOTAL

Horton Smith Second at Pinehurst; Ed Dudley Shoots a 67.

By Dillon Graham.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 24.—(P)—They stretched Pinehurst's crack course to full length today and only Byron Nelson, of early pace setters, could handle the extra length, along with a whirling wind and cold rain, in the second round of the North and South Open golf tournament.

The young Reading, Pa., professional, who turned to golf when a railroad clerking job folded up under him a few years ago, lapped a neat 71, one under par, on his 68 of yesterday's opening round, for a 36-hole total of 139.

Most of the salary stars who wallowed par unsuccessfully under perfect weather conditions yesterday—Denny Shute, Horton Smith, Paul Runyan and Willie Macfarlane—found the old gentleman a tough customer today, although lanky Ed Dudley, a little nettled by his shaky 77 start, banged out a great 67 that tied the course record set Tuesday by Smith and Shute.

CLOSE TO PAR.
Smith, the Chicago ace, hugged close to regulation figures for a 73 that gave him 140, only a shot behind Nelson at a halfway mark of the 72-hole $4,000 tournament.

Bobby Cruikshank, Richmond, Va.; Runyan, White Plains, N. Y.; Craig Wood, New York, and Harry Cooper, Chicago, the last pair among the five to break par today in contrast with Tuesday's 17, were bracketed at 142.

Cruikshank had 72 to go with his opening 70 and Runyan carded a creditable 73 to add to a previous 69. Wood carried out a 70 to tag on to his first 72, while the consistent Cooper scored another 71.

Sam Snead, the rookie star from White Sulphur Springs, Va., who fired a 68 yesterday, was the victim of an unfortunate circumstance today as he was disqualified for erroneously reporting his score. Snead had his round totaled correctly but carelessly listed a four on the 18th where he took a five. He had 74 for a 142 total that would have placed him close up.

DUDLEY WELL UP.
Dudley's fine demonstration of shot-making brought him within close distance of the front runners with 144 and ahead of Shute, the P. G. A. champion from West Newton, Mass., who made the acquaintance of most of the bunkers in compiling an 80 that left him at 147. Macfarlane, Purchase, N. Y., veteran, put a 77 with his first round 69.

Scoring a 75, the generally dangerous Gene Sarazen found himself back at 152, 18 shots behind the leader and almost out of the running.

Topping the Simon Pures was George Dunlap Jr., the former amateur champion, with 73-74-147. Jess Switzer, New York, who had 71 yesterday, and Morton McCarthy, Norfolk, Va., with an opening 72, skyrocketed in the rain and finished at 153.

The 60 players having 155 or better will play the final 36 holes tomorrow.

JACKET NETMEN PLAY DAVIDSON

Georgia Tech's tennis team, undefeated in 29 starts over a period of three years, will open its 1937 schedule at 2 o'clock this afternoon on the Jacket courts with Davidson College as opponents.

And incidentally it is Davidson who gave the Jackets their last defeat on the courts.

Burt Bouliware, Moore, Silva and Swift are holdovers from last year, with Lindsey and Hill, two graduates from the freshman class, making up the varsity list.

In addition to the singles matches, Bouliware and Silva, undefeated in a span of four or five years in doubles, will play the No. 1 doubles. The other doubles arrangements have not been completed.

Following today's opener the Jackets will journey to Columbus, Ga., for a match with Fort Benning's officers Saturday afternoon.

Clemson and Mississippi State are on the program for next week.

Boys' High Golfers Beat Newnan, 15-2

NEWNAN, Ga., March 24.—Boys' High opened its golf season with a 15-2 to 2-1-2 victory over Newnan High yesterday afternoon on the Newnan Country Club course.

Dan Gottesman, with a 78, won individual scoring honor and won all three points from Hollis Helms won three points from Jim Wedington and the Atlantans won three points on the foursome.

Billy Caye and Dan Yates followed Gottesman in order in individual scores, but found tougher opposition and did not fare so well in the foursome play.

Yates beat Davis and Caye split three points with William Beavers and Newnan's players won a point on the foursome.

The Furies will play Athens High Friday afternoon on the Druid Hills course in Atlanta.

Kirby Meets Miley in Semi-Finals Today

Perry Routs Bill Tilden In Garden

NEW YORK, March 24.—(UP)—Frederick John Perry, of England, ruler of the world's amateur courts for the last four years, tonight proved himself the master of "Big Bill" Tilden when he scored a sound victory over the 44-year-old Philadelphian in their first meeting before more than 15,000 in Madison Square Garden.

Perry won 6-1, 6-3, 4-6, 6-0. Tilden, never defeated on the Garden floor since he quit the amateur ranks in 1931, was hardly a match for the dapper, black-haired Englishman who, before joining the moneyed players three months ago, had taken three Wimbledon and three American championships in a four-year span.

Only once—in the final four games of the only set he won—did Big Bill, the choice of almost every soul in the gallery, flash the form which made him the greatest player in the world during the golden decade of sport that produced Jones, Dempsey and Ruth.

With Perry only two games away from winning the match, the lanky American turned on the heat and swept the final four games of that set to win 6-4.

After a 10-minute rest, Tilden came out on the green canvas court determined to whip the 28-year-old Briton for whom he never has had any love. But Fred, his strokes clicking perhaps better than at any other time in his life, virtually blasted Tilden from the floor as he won the final set without loss of a single game.

Thus Perry, who trails only 19-17 in his transcontinental tour with the professional champion, Ellsworth Vines, got off to a flying start in the first of five matches which he will play with Tilden during the next two weeks. The other matches will be played in Chicago, Detroit, Pittsburgh and Boston. At the rate he played tonight, Perry showed enough form to become undisputed professional ruler within at least a year.

DOROTHY BEATS DARK HORSE, 5-4; TO MEET MILEY

All Favorites Advance on Rain-Soaked Course at Augusta.

AUGUSTA, Ga., March 24.—(P)—The four favorites of the annual Augusta invitational golf tournament plowed mud today to advance to the semifinals.

The victors were Dorothy Kirby, of Atlanta; Marion Miley, of Lexington, Ky.; Jane Cothran, of Greenville, S. C., and Mildred Babe Didrikson, of Beaumont, Texas.

Playing over the Forest Hills course, soaked by a heavy downpour, Miss Kirby, current Georgia state titleholder, shut out the tournament dark horse, Grace Amory, of Long Island, N. Y., 5 and 4, after making the turn 1 up.

The Atlanta miss was out in a 2 over 43 and went on to win four of the succeeding five holes of the back nine to end the match.

Tomorrow Miss Kirby will be pitted against Miss Miley.

Miss Miley easily disposed of Mrs. Deborah Verry, of Pittsburgh, 7 and 6, to arrive at the semi-final bracket. She won six of the first nine holes as she went out in two under 39.

Miss Didrikson, a professional, came ahead at the 19th after finishing the regular 18 holes all square with Mrs. Warren Beard, of Boston.

Miss Cothran was victor today over Virginia Guilfoyle, of Syracuse, N. Y., 5 and 4, and will engage Miss Didrikson tomorrow.

Too Much Expected Of Home Boys, Evans

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., March 24.—(P)—Billy Evans, shepherding a flock of Boston Red Sox rookies training with the Little Rock Travelers here, said today local boys should join the opposition to make good in baseball.

Warning against trying to make the home professional club, the veteran said: "Too much is expected from the local boy and for that reason he is the target for criticism that otherwise would not be meted out."

Speer Completes Wrestling Lineup

Everything is set for Promoter Frank Speer's weekly heavy-weight mat card at the Atlanta theater, Friday night, following the arranging yesterday of a one-fall opener featuring Roy Graham, Philadelphia, and Tom O'Toole, crack young Irish mat-man.

Cowboy Luttrell, the Texas powerhouse, who can lick the customers and officials with little effort, will meet George Hagen, former champion of the United States marines, in the headline.

Bill Lee, great University of Alabama product, takes on Whitney Hewitt, of Memphis, in the semi-final.

Entry List for Constitution Doubles Tourney Hits 100 Mark

SMALL, CONYERS, 1933 CHAMPIONS, BOWL SATURDAY

Tubby Returning From New Jersey To Team With Old Partner.

The winners of the first Atlanta Constitution doubles duckpin tournament in 1933, John Conyers and George (Tubby) Small, will make another try for first honors again this year, according to a wire received Wednesday from Small, who is now connected with a firm that has offices in Harrison, N. J. The tourney is scheduled to be bowled on the downtown alleys this coming Saturday.

The telegram read, "Get John Conyers. I am arriving Atlanta Thursday. Tubby is here. Believing it would be impossible for Small to bowl this year, inasmuch as he had been transferred to the new Jersey, Conyers and Small, who had been bowled with him each of the four previous years in the event.

The genial, robust Small will travel one thousand miles, each way, in order to be here for the tournament. And the magnet that draws him back to Atlanta to participate in the meet is reflected in a plain manner by the number of local players who are already ready to bowl in the contest.

22 MORE ENTRIES.

Twenty-two additional entries were filed Wednesday evening, bringing the total number of bowlers already entered to 100 couples or a total of 200 individuals that will compete for the gold medals, trophies and opening-day baseball tickets that will be awarded the winners.

Gulf Refining Company, with a 12-team league, filed the largest single entry from an inter-company loop, with 15 couples or 30 bowlers signed.

Entries from the Gulf Refining league, who will bowl in the 10 o'clock shift Saturday afternoon, include L. C. R. Deck-L. W. Rents, J. M. Shropshire-M. G. Farris, E. L. Keener-W. T. Fowler, W. H. Garner-D. B. Hinds, C. E. Dunn-W. H. Brown, M. L. Waller-A. T. Neal, R. F. Tinsley-C. P. Fincher, T. M. Moss-C. H. (Red) Marlow, W. C. Hargrove-W. H. Barnes, N. J. Harmon-Hugh Griffith, D. A. Ratliff-M. E. Taylor, J. T. Nichols-Julian Bass, Sara Astin-Evelyn Jordan, Nannie Coleman-Lila Thornton and Ella Worthen-Mildred De Loach.

OTHER NEW ONES.

Other entries received Wednesday include Frazier Kidson-Howard Belle Isle, Walter Withers-Reed Hammond, Burt Parsons-Ralph Sluss, Henry Philter-H. L. Philter, Sarah Garner-Mrs. Henry Taylor, Laura Eaves-Leila James and T. Huggins-Bob Chandler. In order to take care of all bowlers that will roll, and to make the hours more convenient, another shift has been added at 12 o'clock (noon) Saturday. The other hours will be 2 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon and 7-30 o'clock in the evening. No entry fee other than game cost will be charged, with separate divisions for men and women.

'Babe' Davis Leaves For Toronto Camp

ODUM, Ga., March 24.—Woodrow Wilson "Babe" Davis, stocky young right-hander, said goodbye to his job of pitching ideas at local school kids, and left for Haines City, Fla., where he will go in training with the Toronto club, to pitch his curves at the sluggers.

Babe has been teaching history in Odum High school during the winter, besides serving on the Odum city council, and taking part in various other civic affairs. Last year he played with Macon, and later with Cordele, where he pitched the last place Rode into first place. His contract with Toronto, incidentally, calls for a substantial increase in salary.

FELLER HOLDS INDIANS' HOPES FOR 1937 FLAG

By Eddie Brietz.

NEW ORLEANS, La., March 24.—(P)—All the Cleveland Indians ask of the baseball gods this season is a moratorium on hard luck and a good season for the farm boy pitching season, young Bob Feller.

Manager Steve O'Neill isn't predicting any pennants, but he promises that if his Redskins get their share of the breaks they'll make a whole lot more noise in the American league race they did in 1936.

Riddled by injuries and illness and hindered by hard luck the Indians, picked to finish on or near the top of the heap, hit the tobbogan in the closing weeks and wound up a dismal and disappointing fifth.

In fact, all that kept the season from being a colossal flop was the appearance, like a Moses of young Feller who came in from his dad's Iowa farm just before the curtain to give Cleveland rotters a new lease on life with some of the dizziest exhibitions of pitching ever recorded in American league annals.

WHIFFED 17 MACKMEN.

The achievement of this husky 17-year-old right-hander in whiffing 17 Philadelphia Athletics for a new league strike-out record, just two weeks after he had fanned 15 St. Louis Browns in another game, has made Feller the most publicized youngster in baseball as well as earned him a regular starting berth with the Indians at a yearly salary of $10,000.

"The kid has lots of stuff and is bound to win," said O'Neill today. "If he is as good as we think he is, he may mean the difference between fifth place and a hot fight for the pennant. You can't tell."

"We can't possibly get all the bad breaks we had last year," he went on. "We've added hustle, our pitching should be much better and I believe we can count on just as much punch as we've had in the past."

During the winter the Indians figured in two deals both of which strengthened the club in important departments. "Knout" record, just two weeks after he had fanned 15 St. Louis Browns in another game, has made Feller the most publicized youngster in baseball as well as earned him a regular starting berth with the Indians at a yearly salary of $10,000.

THREE NEW MEN.

Outfielder Joe Vossik, who had an off year both field and at the bat, was traded down the river to the St. Louis Browns along with Oral Hildebrand, pitcher, and Bill Knickerbocker, infielder, for Outfielder Julius Solters, Lyn Lary, shortstop, and Ivy Andrews, right-handed pitcher.

Earl Whitehill, smart but aging southpaw, came to the club from Washington in a three-cornered swap which sent Thornton Lee, another left-hander to Chicago, and landed Jack Salveson, a White Sox farm hand at Los Angeles, for the Senators.

Whitehill is counted on to be a regular starting hurler along with Feller, Mel Harder, Dennis Galehouse, one of the best "ape" pitchers in the league, and Johnny Allen, who won 20 games for the Tribe last year after shifting from the Yankees.

Harder, first American league pitcher to win 14 games in 1936, developed an infected tooth and did not win a game during the entire last half of the campaign. He is fit and ready again.

GROVE HILL FIVE TRIPS MARS HILL IN TITLE BATTLE

Red Devils Win in Junior Division of Gold Medal Tourney.

In a hard-fought game the Grove Park basketball team won the championship in the Sunday school division of the Gold Medal tourney last night, defeating Mars Hill, 40-37. The game was closed all the way with Grove Park holding a slight edge.

The playing of Miller and Lucky was outstanding for the winners, while Parris was the best all-around player for Mars Hill.

The three team trophies were presented to Grove Park, Mars Hill and Epworth Methodist, these teams finishing in 1-2-3 order. Individual awards were made as follows: High point (single game), George, Epworth Methodist; high point (entire tournament), George, Epworth Methodist; second high point award (entire tournament), Knight, Epworth Methodist.

The coveted sportsmanship award was also presented to George, of the Epworth Methodist team. The three best all-around players awards went to Lucky, of Grove Park; George, of Epworth Methodist, and Medlock, of Mars Hill.

The following players made the all-tournament team in the Sunday school division: George (Epworth Methodist) and Garner (Mars Hill), forwards; Lucky (Grove Park), center; Medlock (Mars Hill), and Wilder (Grove Park), guards.

In the junior division, the Red Devils won the championship by defeating the Strausses, 34-33, and trophies were presented to teams finishing 1-2-3, which were the Red Devils, Strausses and the Grant Park Giants. Individual awards were presented to the following: Sportsmanship, Alteman, of the Strausses; best all-around players, Besser (Strausses), McKinney (Red Devils) and London (Grant Park Giants); high point (single game), London (Grant Park Giants); high point (entire tournament), Besser (Strausses); second high point (entire tournament), Gershon (Red Devils).

The following made the All-Tournament team (junior division): London (Grant Park Giants), and Besser (Strausses), forwards; McKinney (Red Devils), center; Alteman (Strausses), and Chafin (Red Devils), guards.

First Baptist Girls Win Tourney Title.

The girls' division of the Gold Medal basketball tournament sponsored by the WPA Recreation Department and the Atlanta Parks Department ended last night at the Y. W. C. A. court with the First Baptist team winning first place by defeating the Tomboys, 36 to 20. The Brooks-Shatterly team defeated Ogleshorpe in the consolation game, 63 to 17.

After the games the trophies and awards were presented to the teams and individual players by George I. Simons, manager of the parks department. There were trophies awarded to the first, second and third place teams; also individual awards were made to Pearl Ozmert, of the Tomboys, for sportsmanship.

The three best all-around players awards went to Miss Plaxico, of the Tomboys; Miss Newdum, of the First Baptist team, and Miss Pope, of the Alpha. The high-point award went to Miss Fields, of the Brooks-Shatterly, for most points in single game. Miss Fields also was awarded high point award for the tournament. Second high-point award for the tournament went to Miss Braswell, of the First Baptist team.

There were also 10 awards given players on teams who were defeated in their first round of play as well as awards to the individual players on the teams finishing 1, 2, 3, 4.

The six players selected for the first all-tournament team are as follows:

First Team—Miss Plaxico, of the Tomboys; Miss Newdum, of the First Baptist; Miss Pope, of the Alpha; Miss Fields, of the Brooks-Shatterly; Miss Braswell, of the First Baptist; Miss Ozmert, of the Tomboys.

Second Team—Miss Plaxico, of the Tomboys; Miss Newdum, of the First Baptist; Miss Pope, of the Alpha; Miss Fields, of the Brooks-Shatterly; Miss Braswell, of the First Baptist; Miss Ozmert, of the Tomboys.

Whitehill is counted on to be a regular starting hurler along with Feller, Mel Harder, Dennis Galehouse, one of the best "ape" pitchers in the league, and Johnny Allen, who won 20 games for the Tribe last year after shifting from the Yankees.

Harder, first American league pitcher to win 14 games in 1936, developed an infected tooth and did not win a game during the entire last half of the campaign. He is fit and ready again.

PRINCE ALBERT ALSO PUTS NEW JOY IN PIPE SMOKING!

It packs right, and because of the special "no-bite" process it's mellower—never harsh on your tongue.

Coach Frank Anderson plans to shoot the two right-handed brothers, H. and Ed Clements, and Lefty Lee Archer at Buford this afternoon. Each will work three innings.

The game is set for 3 o'clock.

Ogleshorpe's baseball team, rained out in an attempt to play Goodyear Mills at Cartersville yesterday, will play its first game of the season today at Buford, opposing the crack Shoemaker division at the national convention of Phi Kappa Phi, junior college forensics society, here. She spoke on "Dizzy Dean."

Dean is subject.

LONG BEACH, Cal., March 24.—(P)—Louise Webb, of Virginia Intermount College, Bristol, Va., had second honors today in the national speaking division at the national convention of Phi Kappa Phi, junior college forensics society, here. She spoke on "Dizzy Dean."

Dean is subject.

Two Old Friends Together

It is one of many models he has used in his more than 40 years of riding bicycles. He began with the old models with the one large wheel which stood about six or seven feet high.

Fans Rode Flat Cars To Watch 'Cycle Race

For More Than 40 Years Professor D. L. Earnest Has Been Riding Bicycles.

By Ralph McGill.

Years ago he rode his first bicycle. It was one of those one sees now and then in a museum—a giant wheel with the saddle atop it. The rider sat fully seven feet above earth.

For more than 40 years Professor D. L. Earnest has been riding bicycles. He has been a member of the faculty at the University of Georgia for a number of years.

He left the racing to others. Bike races used to be a great sport all over the south. Bobby Walthour let it become a champion. John Chapman looked at the game, got off his bike and went into the promotion end. He made a million dollars or more and still is the bike star of the world.

He kept riding them for the same reason, and for others. Bicycles supply the finest exercise he knows. And they do not get out of control or develop engine trouble.

He has worn out many machines. But he keeps buying newer ones. Personally, he thinks the stream-lined effect is just a fad. Bike riders don't go fast enough to demand streamlining.

Professor Earnest started riding them as a matter of convenience. They afforded transportation. And bikes do not eat oats.

PELS ARE WEAK BUT CLEVELAND WILL GIVE HELP

Only Butzmann Returns To Badly Needed Hurling Staff.

(This is one of a series of stories on prospects of Southern association baseball teams, prepared for The Associated Press by sports editors and baseball writers in league cities.)

NEW ORLEANS, March 24.—(P)—Recognized as the greatest stretch runner in the Southern association, Larry Gilbert, manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, will probably be up to his old tricks again this season. He'll be content to let some other team set the pace until he is thoroughly convinced the rookies he has on hand won't, then bring in reinforcements to make his club a factor in the race.

On paper right now, it doesn't look as if Larry has a team that would finish in the first division, but you never can judge a New Orleans team by the starting lineup at the opening of the season.

The Pelican boss doesn't make changes just because one player or the other might not be hitting well. His old saying is, "I'm waiting to see if I can get somebody better than what I have. I don't like to shake up my club just to be making changes. I want to be convinced the men I bring in will give us the required strength."

PITCHERS NEEDED.

The Pelicans need seasoned pitchers and need them badly. The only holdover from last year's staff is Jones Butzmann, who was picked up when Memphis let him go. He finished the season in good style but is a Class A man and still has to prove to Manager Gilbert that he belongs in the Pelican line.

There is a fine crop of young pitchers in camp, including John Hivados, southpaw who finished the season with a 1.00 ERA, and a veteran, "Lefty" Walle and "Tiny" Osborne, who pitched good ball for Opelousas in the Evangeline league. However, the Pelicans are looking for a veteran, a big right-hander from North Carolina.

"I am trying to get two good pitchers," said Manager Gilbert, "and I hope to get them by the end of the week. I have looked so far in spring training, but I'm afraid he might stay up."

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP)—Further evidences of recovery were displayed by the bond market today as United States government and domestic corporate loans moved higher on brisk buying.

Most gains in the federal list were here to below a point or less, although several issues moved up more than that. Treasury 3 1/8s of 1952 gained 1-2 of a point to 104.22 and 3 1/2s of 1944 moved up 1/2 of a point to 105.24. About $7,270,000, face value, of federal bonds changed hands compared with $9,570,000 Tuesday.

In the corporate division virtually all groups registered headway, although industrials were somewhat lagging. Support overtook rally shortly after the opening and steered them gradually higher most of the session. The Associated Press averages for 20 such issues gained 5 of a point to 94.8. Impressive runups were scored by Delaware & Hudson 4s, up 1 1/2 at 91.58; Boston & Maine 5s, up 1 1/2 at 88. Nicksen Plate 4 1/2s, up 1 1/2 at 92.8. Southern Railway 4s, up 1 5/8 to 81.34, and Frisco 4 1/2s, up 1 at 91.12.

Other corporate bonds gainings included Walworth 4s, up 3 to 84; International Hydro-Electric 6s, up 2 to 80.12; and Pacific Coast Company 5s, up 1 to 82. Convertible issues of these 1934 stock purchase features made their customary wide swings.

Small-scale buying of South American bonds turned fluctuations in the foreign list toward higher ground. Other issues in this quarter lowered a little.

Volume for all bonds totaled $17,445,000, face value, against $20,077,000 Tuesday.

The improved sentiment of the bond market accompanied the flotation of New York state $15,000,000 financing. The Empire State's offering of serial bonds had attracted close attention from investment circles in view of the recent faltering of such prices. Despite some hesitancy on the part of buyers during previous marketings more than 75 per cent of the offering of the $15,000,000 to ultimate holders late in the afternoon. Three bids were submitted by banking interests with the bank of the state's participation. The most successful group.

Market Outlook

By MAX BUCKINGHAM.
(Copyright 1937, by United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 24.—(AP)—Stocks today rose one to more than three points on Wall Street rumors of favorable negotiations to settle the Chrysler strike.

Trading volume was lightest of the year with only approximately 1,430,000 shares exchanged, but when the rumors were thickest volume was sufficient to force tickers behind. The late advance came after the market suggested a "bull" trading. It was led by steel and motor shares.

Most operators felt that the strike situation was the only one impeding another forward move in prices. They said the recent shakeout was purely technical. The industrial average already has more than stepped up the sharp loss Monday.

Meanwhile the monetary situation, with its inflationary and crash aspects, received greater attention in an article in "Fortune" magazine, not beerman Mariner S. Eccles, of the Federal Reserve System. It is recalled his was the first of the official warnings that created the new nervousness over money and taxes.

In this, his background to the statement he issued, he pointed out there "are forces within our economic system which, unless checked and counterchecked by positive action, foster booms and slumps." There is necessity of relying on the coordinated use of a variety of instruments to secure the proper controls, such as:

- 1—Monetary policy.
- 2—Fiscal policy.
- 3—Foreign exchange policy.
- 4—Labor development.
- 5—The movement of prices.

He suggested that the monetary policy in itself is not sufficient as there has never been a prolonged inflationary period, he said, not accompanied by an expansion of the means of payment." He said he advocated heavy government expenditures during the depression but now advocates debt retirement, since recovery is definitely under way.

In connection with a foreign exchange policy he said the nation must not be "tied to a rigidly automatic gold standard, and that discretionary powers should be retained to affect the value of the dollar relative to other currencies.

White House Conference To Consider Plans To End Sit-Downs.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—(P)—Congressional leaders hinted tonight that a new mediation system to end the wave of sit-down strikes may be discussed at a major conference President Roosevelt will hold Saturday. Senate Majority Leader Robinson said the automotive strike was approaching a "crisis," and that if it did not clear up by the end of the week it would be desirable for legislative authorities to seek a possible remedy. An announcement from the temporary White House at Warm Springs, Ga., said President Roosevelt would return to Washington Saturday. Robinson said the conference would be held at 5 p. m. and would be attended by himself, Speaker Bankhead, House Floor Leader Rayburn and "perhaps" Vice President Garner. He suggested that "something like the railway mediation board" might be discussed, though he added that "right now I don't see much that we can do because the court (supreme) has held that neither the federal government nor the states can deal with labor problems."

Wally-Duke Romance Slated To Be Aired in Simpson Slander Suit.

LONDON, March 24.—(UP)—Details of Mrs. Wallis Simpson's romance with the Duke of Windsor probably will be revealed in Ernest Simpson's slander suit against Mrs. John Sutherland, society agreed to tonight. Brought by Simpson for Mrs. Sutherland's asserted remark that he was "well paid" for not contesting Mrs. Simpson's divorce, the case will be heard between April 6 and May 14, unless it is dismissed. Mrs. Sutherland retained Sir Patrick Hastings as counsel. He is known as one of England's foremost barristers, brilliant in cross-examination. Court circles feared that in cross-examination he might bring out details of the famous royal romance of Edward.

It was rumored Simpson might withdraw his suit to avoid possible repercussions which testimony might bring about.

Bandit, Knife-Wielder and Narcotic Addict Sent to Woman's Reformatory.

NEW YORK, March 24.—(UP)—Norma Parker, Broadway's lone gun girl who "started life with two strikers against her" and in a half dozen years has run up a record of restaurant holdups, knife fights and narcotics charges, tonight was on her way to spend five years at Bedford Hills. Judge Owen W. Bohan, who sentenced the 20-year-old brunette after she pleaded guilty to a robbery charge, told her she "never had a chance" and sent her to the women's reformatory instead of the state prison.

The dark-eyed girl, who ran away from home and finally turned to robbery because she thought "every man's hand was against her," was described by the court probation officer as "of unusual intelligence with good reasoning power and definitely a drug addict."

She was born Nellie Gutowski in Boston, and her mother deserted her family when she was a baby. She lived with her father, the only girl in a group of eight men, including five uncles and a grandfather.

MERCHANT ASKS $25,000, CHARGES FALSE ARREST

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 24.—(P)—J. D. Caldwell, of Marion, Ark., filed suit today in federal court against three Tipton county officers charging he was arrested falsely, assaulted and forced to pay city taxes while a resident of Mason, Tenn.

The Arkansas asked damages of $25,000 from the defendants he listed as Sheriff J. W. Vaughan, Chester Doyle, Mason City marshal, and Aubrey Faulk, special officer.

Caldwell said the officers entered his combination merchandise store and filling station last December 16, handcuffed him and took him before the mayor at the point of a pistol, where money was taken from his wallet.

SOIL CONSERVATION
BILL PASSES SENATE

Measure Titled Essential for $20,000,000 Clark's Hill Dam Project.

Establishment of a soil conservation committee and conservation districts in Georgia will be authorized under a house bill adopted last night by the senate in its original form by a vote of 29 to 0.

The project is contemplated to take in the watershed area of the Savannah river on the Georgia and South Carolina side involving flood control, power development and prevention of soil erosion as its chief objectives. Senator Glenn Phillips, of Harlem, who sponsored the measure, said the bill would cost $20,000,000 of federal money for the Clark's Hill dam project.

The bill now goes to the Governor for his signature.

It was introduced by Representative Elliott, of Muscogee county; L. B. Harris, of Richmond county, and Sutton, of Wilkes.

It provided for the establishment of a state committee composed of the director of the extension division, the director of the two experiment stations, and the Governor. They may employ administrative and technical experts to assist them.

A soil conservation district could only be established upon a majority vote of the landowners in any given district.

Jane Wyatt says:
"Luckies are a light smoke my throat approves and my taste prefers"

"I first chose Luckies about five years ago because I had noticed that other actors and actresses seemed to prefer them. I enjoyed Luckies so much I've smoked them ever since. In the new picture, 'Lost Horizon', in which I was Ronald Colman's leading lady, the film ran 36,000 feet—almost 7 miles—before it was cut down. That gives you some idea how much work it was and what a strain it put on my throat. Luckies, I feel, are the obvious cigarette for an actress. They are a light smoke that my throat approves and my taste prefers."

Jane Wyatt

"LOST HORIZON"

"THE CREAM OF THE CROP"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

Miss Wyatt verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.
